ALBERTA

EARLY HISTORY OF ALBERTA

The navigators of the Sixteenth Century, following Columbus, who set the way near the close of the century before, brought the knowledge and the interest of the New World into the experience of the people of the Old World. These were the Cabots, Cartier, Frobisher, Davis, and Gilbert. Following this the new goal of the navigators was the finding of a North-west passage to India and China. The first of these men was Hudson, who entered the great inland sea, which bears his name, in 1610.

The rewards of commerce were always associated with seafaring enterprises, and the new stirring of the imagination of the sea-dogs with vague and new geography called up dreams of new wealth beyond the Western seas. The navigators were cribbed up in Hudson's Bay, and the North-west Passage had to wait for the coming of Amundsen three hundred years later, who worked through in 1906. It is with the nearer task of claiming the land of Upper America that we are concerned, and with the way in which Alberta came into the family of the great sisterhood of provinces making up the Dominion of Canada. This in a historical sense was by the Hudson's Bay route.

The Hudson's Bay Company

Charles II gave lively encouragement to the romantic commerce of his time, and his cousin Prince Rupert, with lighter responsibilities, entered personally into the framing of exploration and trading enterprises. For fifty years following Hudson's time there was small activity in Hudson's Bay, and little in the vast country to the West by which the old land and the new were being knit. Finally the court was stirred by the arrival home in 1665 of Sir George Carteret, the Royal Commissioner, from America, accompanied by Radisson and Grosseilliers with a wonderful story of American fur wealth. Prince Rupert was forward in organizing his friends for new doings. The association was called "The Gentlemen Adventurers of England Trading Into Hudson's Bay." After a successful voyage the association secured in 1670 a Royal Charter naming it "The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England Trading Into Hudson's Bay." This is the origin of the company now known more briefly as the Hudson's Bay Company. Prince Rupert was the first governor; Radisson was the spirit of the first enterprise. He was the first following Hudson to sail down the bay. While the new company was trading and building forts around the Hudson's Bay, the French were extending westward and northward into the prairie. After 1763, when Canada passed definitely into the hands of the English, another company of Anglo-Canadians, or really Scotchmen, undertook to trade into the Great Central Plain. This became the North-west Company. It united with the Hudson's Bay Company in 1821.

Selkirk

The next epoch in the life of the Great West was the inauguration of successful agricultural settlement. The first attempt at serious settlement in the new land was made by Lord Selkirk. He was a member of the Hudson's Bay Company. He had started one colonization scheme in Prince Edward Island and decided to change his activities to the interior of North America, where he finally purchased land from the company. He reached the Red River with his colonists in 1812. Here he purchased 116,000 square miles. The progress of the colony was rather slow. Its administration continued to be controlled by the company for the next fifty years. The charter of the company was renewed from time to time, but long before 1867 it was felt by the British Government that the progress of agricultural settlement and the need of agricultural settlement were together calling for an end of the type of rule represented in the administration of the fur companies.

The British North America Act

In the year 1867 the British North America Act was passed. The clause of the Act of greatest interest to the development of the West was the one providing that it should be lawful to admit Rupert's Land and the North-west Territories into the Union. In preparation for the erection of the Province of Manitoba Hon. William McDougall moved during the first session of Parliament of the new Dominion of Canada, to have a request sent to the British Government to hand over Rupert's Land and the North-west Territory to the Dominion. In negotiation with the Hudson's Bay Company the British Government secured the surrender of control of the land, the company retaining one-twentieth of the land south of the North Saskatchewan River. This explains the allotment to the company of about one and three-quarters sections of land in each township. The company got three hundred thousand pounds in cash; retained its trading privileges and trading posts and also retained 45,000 acres around each post. The Riel Rebellion occurred between the settlement of terms and the passing of the Manitoba Act. The whole territory of Rupert's Land and the North-west Territory became part of the Dominion in June and the Manitoba Act became operative on July 15th of 1870.

The political organization of the West proceeded rather rapidly from this time. British Columbia became a province of the Dominion in 1871 and the country between Manitoba and British Columbia, now making up the Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, won step by step the privileges of self-regulation and at the same time assumed the duties and obligations pertaining to the work of administration according to the forms and spirit of free British states. At first the open territory west of Manitoba was administered by a council presided over by the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba. The empowering legislation for this government was passed in 1871. In 1875 the Constitutional Act of the North-west Territories was passed and legislative power given to these territories under the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba and provision made for elected representatives to the North-west Council. The first session was held at Swan River in 1887. (In 1883 Regina became the capital of the North-west Territories. In 1887 the territories were divided for federal purposes into four electoral districts — East and West Assiniboia, Saskatchewan and Alberta. In 1888 an Act of the Dominion Parliament was passed abolishing the old council and providing in its stead a Legislative Assembly of twenty-five members from the four federal districts already created. The chief interest connected with the work of this government was the struggle for increased powers.

The Alberta Act

In September, 1905, Acts were passed creating the territory already organized into two provinces, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The Dominion Government retained control of all public lands, timber, fish, water powers, mines and minerals, but otherwise the duties and powers corresponded with those set out in the British North America Act as pertaining to the other provinces. It is under one of these Acts that we are now governing and being governed.

AREA AND SURFACE

Surface

A map of Western Canada makes Alberta simply look like one of the three provinces into which the prairie country of Canada has been divided by conventional lines; but there are differences in character between this most westerly of the Prairie Provinces and the other two. These differences relate to elevation, surface character, climate, resources, and industries. Manitoba begins with an elevation of about 800 feet, Saskatchewan reaches an average of 1,600 feet, while the average in Alberta is still higher, and the province reaches to the crest of the Rockies in the southern half of the western side. The surface is more diversified than the surface of the lower prairie levels and the climate is somewhat different from proximity to the neighboring Coast Province of British Columbia. The resources are likewise diversified and consequently the industries are varied and interesting.

Area

Alberta is a large province. Its length from north to south is seven hundred and fifty miles and its width varies from two hundred to four hundred and fifty miles. Its total area is 255,585 square miles. It is larger than Germany, France or Austria-Hungary and is within a few hundred square miles of being as large as the combined areas of Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota and is over twice the area of Great Britain and Ireland together. Expressed in acres its area is 158,878,600. Of this 1,510,400 is the area covered by lakes and rivers, leaving 157,368,260 acres of land. Putting the rough land of the eastern slope of the Rockies and other waste areas, and including also land that will require draining or other reclamation to bring it into use, at 76,068,260 acres, leaves 81,300,000 acres of land that can be easily converted to profitable agriculture. An area of what would come under agricultural land approximating 42,000,000 acres, or about half the ploughed land of the province, has been alienated as homesteads, pre-emptions, railway, Hudson's Bay, irrigation and school endowment lands. Of the other half about 15,000,000, including soldier settlement lands, is at present available for entry, chiefly in the central and northern parts of the province.

A glance at the map will show by transportation lines and the establishment of towns and cities that the province is already developing actively northward and it is in a north and south direction that the country can be studied as to differences in industrial areas and adaptabilities. It is customary to speak of the main areas of the province as Southern, Central and Northern Alberta, and though any division must be more or less arbitrary there are characteristic differences which make this division a convenience in discussing such matters as climate, resources and industries.

Three Provinces in One

Southern Alberta is generally understood to be the country extending from the International Boundary as far north as the Red Deer River, which is one hundred miles north of Calgary. This country—the old ranchers' paradise—is to a large extent open prairie except for the part leaning on the great Rocky Mountain ridge for a distance of sixty miles into the Province on the west side, where the country is of mountainous or foothill character. The characteristic vegetation is the short prairie grass which has been such an important resource to the stockman. The general aspect of the country, especially in the eastern half, is that of the open level prairie, but there is a good deal of timber in the foothills, and the river bottom lands are lightly treed with cotton-wood. Rivers run at a depth of two or three hundred feet below the level of the bench land and running from the rivers are numerous coulees. There are a few lakes in the south country but generally they are small, shallow basins, except in the mountains, and the volume of water depends directly on local precipitation.

Central Alberta extends from the Red Deer to the height of land between the Athabasca and Peace Rivers. Edmonton may be considered the centre of this division. The striking surface difference between this part of the province in its natural state and the southern part is its higher and heavier vegetation. The grass is longer and coarser, scrub is common and there are alternating open and treed areas through the whole of the western half of this district. The scrub consists of small willows, briars, etc., and the larger growth of grey willow, poplar bluffs and areas of spruce in the river valleys, of size and frequency to be valuable for local building and to some extent for commerce. The small vegetation consists of a rich variety of prairie and heavier grasses and leguminous plants. The land in this district is of black quality from the decomposition of liberal surface growth. The precipitation is slightly heavier than it is in the southern division.

The upper third of the province is not yet generally developed but the Peace River which runs through it has already a number of prosperous settlements tributary to it. Railways are penetrating the country north, north-east and north-west from Edmonton and settlers are making homes along these lines. This district has more timber than either of the others on their prairie levels, and generally resembles Central more than it does Southern Alberta. There are areas of valuable timber in Northern Alberta, particularly along the river valleys. Parts of it, however, resemble Central Alberta in having the park-like appearance due to alternating open and treed stretches. In both Central and Northern Alberta the snows lie more steadily in winter than they do in the southern part of the province. The northern section is rather more diversified by hills than the rest of the prairie area of the province is.

Besides the rather obvious and important differences in the topography, climate and natural vegetation of the province, in a survey from north to south there is necessarily a good deal of difference between the eastern and western sides. The southern half of the western side of the province is mountain and foothill country while in the upper half of the province the boundary line and the line of the crest of the mountains diverge. This area is marked with brush and bluffs alternating with attractive open stretches. The close settled middle parts of the province and most of the north are of this character and the soil is darker from heavy vegetable decomposition. Towards the east, on the other hand, in the whole of the lower half of the province, the country is more open, varying in vegetation between land that carries a heavy grass with patches of light scrub to open level prairie with the bunch grass of low habit as its characteristic vegetation. The eastern side becomes more and more like the prairie stretches of the Great Central Plain.

Drainage

There are three large continental drainage systems represented in Alberta. The Peace and the Athabasca Rivers, which belong to the great Mackenzie system, drain the northern half of the province. A number of important lakes, such as the Lesser Slave and Athabasca, form a part of this system. The northern part of the province generally is quite well watered. Both the Peace and Athabasca Rivers have numerous tributary streams and there are a good many lakes scattered over the whole of this area. Both the Athabasca and Peace Rivers are navigable, the Peace for the whole distance between Fort St. John in British Columbia and past Fort Vermilion, a distance of 600 miles, and the Athabasca from Jasper with a portage near Fort McMurray right to Lake Athabasca.

The Saskatchewan River system, made up of the north and south branches and such important tributaries as the Battle, Red Deer, the Bow and Belly Rivers, drains all the rest of the province except a small portion in the south. The general slope of the Saskatchewan system is easterly or north-easterly. The Saskatchewan is part of the Nelson River system which flows into Hudson's Bay from Lake Winnipeg. Both branches of the Saskatchewan are navigable, but the current is rather rapid, and navigation on these rivers is not developed to a great extent. All the important rivers of Alberta flow at a considerable depth below the prairie, particularly on the western side of the province. They offer great possibilities for the development of water power, but this has not yet been made use of.

In the southern part of the province the Milk River, which is connected with the Mississippi system, enters the province and flows through Canadian territory for a distance of about sixty miles not far from the International Boundary.

CLIMATE AND WEATHER

Climate

The climate of Alberta is of very attractive quality and this quality has a very important bearing on the possibilities of development northward and on industrial and more particularly agricultural activities. The climate of the interior provinces of Canada is described as extreme. The winters are subject to low dips of temperature and the summers are quite hot. Alberta, however, by reason of contiguity to the coast province, has a rather moderate climate. The winters are relieved by periodical relaxation of cold, and the summers, while rather dry and warm in the harvest season, are always cool at nights. This results in crisp vegetation and a period of satisfactory rest and repair for people. The precipitation of the province is between fifteen and twenty inches. It is rather heavier in Central Alberta than it is in either Northern or Southern Alberta, though the difference in precipitation in these different sections is not very great.

An outstanding feature of the climate is the Chinook wind, which reaches its strongest development in Southern Alberta. This is a dry, warm wind from the west or south-west. It is dry because its moisture is condensed in its ascent to mountain heights on the west side of the Rockies, and it is warm, partly because of the latent heat gained during the condensation of moisture on the west side of the mountains, but chiefly on account of pressure and friction from the upper body of air as the western current descends to the prairies on the inner or eastern slope of the Rockies.

The effects of the Chinook are rather startling, particularly in winter time. The country may be covered with rather heavy snow and the temperature be standing steadily at zero for days when a Chinook comes and raises the temperature almost to spring warmth and causes the snow to disappear in a few hours and leave the prairie dry. This may occur half a dozen times in the winter season. The occurrence of these spells of relaxation of cold is what made the southern country attractive to ranchers back in the seventies and still makes the winter easy to get through. In summer time a dry wind may reduce the vigour of growing crops by hastening transpiration, but, on the other hand, the sharp, dry weather of the harvest develops the gluten instead of starch in the wheat and makes a crop of hard instead of soft grain. While the winds contribute to both personal and animal comfort they prevent some of the moisture represented in snow and rain from becoming effective by carrying it away. The Chinook is responsible for the introduction of the practice of irrigation in the south and of the special system of cultivation known as dry farming where irrigation water is not available.

While the Chinook is strongest in the south the same influence or the same kind of influence from warm westerly winds gives a climatic quality to the whole of the province, particularly on the western side, and it is these moderating relaxations which have opened up for Alberta such possibilities for northern development.

Precipitation

An idea of the precipitation for the province may be obtained from a survey of the Dominion Meteorological Service records. The service has grouped together points of observation that lie within the drainage area of important and characteristic rivers by which such divisions are natural rather than arbitrary. There is a separate group for mountain points such as the parks. The figures given in each year for a district are obtained by taking the average over the whole number of records taken at points in such district in the year. In all of the districts gaps occur, and in districts like Peace River, observation stations have not been long established and gaps are more common. Winter records are rather frequently lacking. The figures must be understood to mean that the district would normally have received not less than what is recorded, or rather that they all received more, especially the Peace River District. It should be understood that figures are not to be taken to give the precipitation at individual points, as there are wide variations between points within the districts themselves.

In all parts of the temperate zone the season which is commonly found most trying on account of the care that is necessary for personal comfort is the winter season. Alberta has not the steady equable qualities of an insular climate in winter. The winter temperatures are sometimes low. Dips below forty occur but the steady wearing cold of the interior stretches of the continent in its upper latitudes is not a feature of Alberta climate. The winters are usually agreeable. In the south the Chinooks, which have already been spoken of, occur frequently and people have several times through the winter a satisfying relaxation and reaction such as comes every place with the arrival of spring. The weatherman frequently throws a section of summer into the dead of winter. Occasionally the snow lies for a period of some weeks but not generally. Traffic is on wheels throughout the year and outdoor occupations and sports keep going into or through winter in Southern Alberta. The visits of the Chinook bring strong winds which at times are uncomfortable but not destructive. Hurricanes and cyclones are not known.

In Central and Northern Alberta the snows lie rather steadily and of sufficient depth for good sleighing. The snow is usually light and rather dry, but blizzards do not occur. The lowest temperatures of course are in the extreme north of the pro-

The Seasons

The aspect of climate which is interesting to the settler or resident is the day-to-day climate, or what we call weather. The seasons of Alberta are rather distinctive and new for those coming from the South, from Eastern or Central Canada or from the Pacific Coast.

vince, but even with the rather low dips of temperature that may occur in any part of the province the discomforts arising from a moist, heavy climate are not felt. The air is clear, and sunny days are about as characteristic of winter as they are of summer. The snow of winter usually disappears earlier in Alberta than in the central provinces of Canada, but the period of seeding does not immediately arrive. This does not apply to the south in which seeding operations are generally quite early and farmers are frequently working in the fields in March in order to secure quick seeding and early germination of crops from the supply of winter moisture. In Central and Northern Alberta most of the seeding is done in the month of May, though the preparation begins earlier than this. The growing season is not long. When native vegetation starts it comes into full leaf very rapidly and the same is true with crops. The warmth and rains together conspire to produce a very heavy growth in a very short time. People breaking new land usually break in the month of June on account of the favorable condition for plowing by reason of rains, and it is likewise desirable to break land before the grass or other vegetation has used up too large a part of the supply of moisture in the soil. Usually right after regular seeding is done the farmers will be found breaking their new land.

People sometimes think that high latitudes are necessarily unfavorable to the maturing of crops, but this is not the case. The compensating length of daylight and sunshine in the upper latitudes makes for the quick maturing of all kinds of farm and garden crops. In the longest summer days it is still twilight at ten o'clock and dawn breaks at three in the morning. The air during the growing period is wholesome and agreeable on account of the warmth and freshness belonging to the season of rapid growth. The prairie is dressed with a carpet of minute flowers. The brush country is scented with the wild rose and blossom of the Saskatoon and wild cherry. The bluffs of poplar standing in circular groups on the elevations are fringed and protected with rings of gray willow and mixed shrubbery. The grasses and wild herbs on the heavier lands spring to a height sometimes of two or three feet. The pea-vine and vetch in countless varieties run their rapid cycle in both meadows and wood lot.

The summer season is rather brief. Following the period of plenteous moisture of spring we have a rather dry, sharp, ripening period for crops of the field. It is this quality of climate which is conducive to the production of a good class of cereals, especially wheat. The summer dryness is more characteristic of the south where wheat is the main crop, and the character of the days is favorable to the production of a hard glutinous rather than soft wheat. Farther north where the lands are slightly blacker and the precipitation a little heavier the oat crop holds sway and the harvest season belongs to August rather than July, as it does in the south. Harvest is a longer season in the centre and north. Much oat seeding is for fodder and when the grain harvest is over the binders continue to work on the green feed, as it is called. Crops generally keep green longer on new land than on tamed land. During even the hottest part of the summer season the nights are always pleasant and there is no condition of oppression or discomfort arising from midsummer heat during the hours of rest. This is due to the rapid radiation of heat from the ground as the sun lowers. The warmth is not cloaked or held by overhanging vapour. This condition is important in relation to grain-growing as it prevents the development of rust.

The fall season is regarded by many as the most pleasant season of the year. The September and October days are usually bright, the air is crisp and cool, and conditions are favorable to enjoyable outdoor life either in industry or recreation. The roads are always good in autumn and free from mud. Sometimes the autumns are rather too dry and are not always favorable to active cultivation and preparation of land for the succeeding season. The autumn is the season for the sportsman and athlete on account of the opportunities for hunting and on account of the favorable weather conditions for play. All the operations of harvesting are completed in the open. Both the gathering of the grain and the threshing are usually carried on together and only the grain is housed while the straw is blown into huge loose conical stacks which afford good supplies of rough supplementary fodder for horses and cattle.

AGRICULTURAL RESOURCES

Evolution of Land Enterprises

The diversified surface, the variation from both winter and summer extremes in climate, the mixed resources and opportunities for different occupations in Alberta dispel the idea that prairie existence is to any degree flat or monotonous. The land resources are a revelation to the newcomer especially in relation to the great number of different kinds of work that may be undertaken throughout the whole scale of farm land enterprises, such as open pastoral work, small proprietary ranching, broad grain farming, mixed farming, special dairy farming, special pure-bred stock-raising and irrigation farming. The agricultural development of the province started so recently and is still going on so actively, even in its most pioneer aspects, that an account of its present attainment may appropriately include brief reference to its beginnings.

Pastoral Farming

The development of the country has generally been from south to north. While the Hudson's Bay Company had outposts in the north for fur trading purposes as far back as 1778 and 1795 at such places as Fort Chipewyan and Fort Edmonton, the active beginnings in the use of land which connect themselves with our present conditions were in Southern Alberta. Early in the seventies a number of stockmen from the other side of the line were attracted to the district of Southern Alberta by its nutritive grasses and fine climate. This was the beginning of the ranch industry which ran an undisturbed course for thirty years, that is, until 1900, and extended into the southwestern portion of the present province of Saskatchewan and north to the Red Deer River. While the first ranchers were Americans, most of the stockmen at a later time were Old Country men and Canadians. These were men of some experience and were accustomed to good stock. Good herds of cattle and horses were established in the Lethbridge, Macleod, Pincher Creek, High River, Calgary, Bow River and Red Deer districts. Early in the eighties sheep were also introduced though the sheep interests did not grow into great volume rapidly.

The system followed with live stock in Southern Alberta was one of outdoor feeding throughout the year. This was possible by reason of the nature of the grasses and character of the climate. The low vegetation of the prairies consisted principally of buffalo grass, bunch grass and blue joint, which reached maturity early in the summer. The quality of climate which now gives us the good wheat, in the old days gave the cattleman his winter feed cured on the stem by the harvest Chinook. This forage practically remains oily and valuable until cut or eaten.

The Chinook likewise made it possible for cattle, horses and sheep to graze outside throughout the year. At that time the grasses were abundant and the tax on pasture slight. The coulees and brushy river bottoms furnished natural shelter and long feed when the bench lands were deeply covered with snow. The system of all-the-year-round grazing was necessarily attended with some losses, but as the rancher had no capital investment in land on which dividends had to be paid and had very little equipment, he could stand some reduction of his productive stock by losses. This system became gradually modified by competition for range, and stockmen had to put up hay to carry their stock over short periods of hard weather and so reduce their tifully finished long threes and of fours for the British market, and by this time there were established a goodly number of prosperous ranchers and rancher companies in desirable locations throughout the Southern Alberta country. In the year 1902 the Alberta Railway & Irrigation Company with headquarters at Lethbridge received its charter and made its purchase of land from the Dominion Government and instituted its enterprise for the watering of lands along its course between Spring Coulee and Chin Coulee in the districts of Magrath, Raymond, Stirling, Lethbridge, Coaldale and Chin, but chiefly east of Lethbridge. At the same time the dry farm invasion started and homesteads on unwatered land were taken up throughout the whole

percentage of losses. Those who are unacquainted with this system of work find it hard to understand how good stock can be produced by this system. The natural grass of the province, however, seems to be a complete and nutritious ration which develops large frames in stock and likewise covers these frames well with flesh. Some of the most beautiful beef animals produced in the Dominion have been grown on the Southern Alberta range.

Irrigation

The pure pastoral stage of Alberta agriculture took its rise and ran its course in the thirty years between 1870 and the end of the century. About the year 1900 the stock yards at such places as Calgary, High River, Claresholm, Pincher Creek, Macleod, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Bassano and Langdon received their best drives of beauty of this southern district. Barbed wire fences were erected throughout Southern Alberta. In the year 1903 the Canadian Pacific Irrigation Company was inaugurated with the aim of watering lands along its main line east of Calgary from supplies drawn from the Bow River. About the year 1907 the Southern Alberta Land Company with headquarters at Medicine Hat was inaugurated for the purpose of watering land west of Medicine Hat.

The area of land owned by the irrigation companies of Southern Alberta makes up a total of nearly three million acres, of which thirty per cent. is actually irrigable land. There are four main tracts or sections included in the large enterprises. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's western section lies east of Calgary and north of the Bow River. It is about forty miles from north to south and runs sixty-five miles east.

In this area water is applied to 678,000 acres, of which there are actually irrigable 223,000 acres. Practically all of the irrigable land in this section has been sold. Lying south-east and adjoining this is the eastern section of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's Irrigation block. There are about 1,245,000 acres in this tract of which 400,000 acres are actually irrigable. There are still about 80,000 acres of this land unsold. In addition to this the Canadian Pacific Railway Company acquired in the year 1908 the interests of the Alberta Land & Irrigation Company originally known as the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company at Lethbridge. This tract included 499,000 acres of which about 120,000 acres are irrigable, and this irrigable land has practically all been sold. There is available for purchase in these areas still some dry land.

Another large area which has been converted to irrigation is the property in the Suffield district of the Canada Land & Irrigation Company, formerly called the Southern Alberta Land Company, with headquarters in Medicine Hat, and another area about thirty miles west of Medicine Hat in what is called the Bow Island district. The total area of this tract is approximately 530,000 acres of which 208,000 are irrigable. These lands have been made available for purchase only since the beginning of 1919 and only 29,000 acres have yet been sold.

There is promise of renewed development in irrigation services in Southern Alberta due to the occasional reduction of yields by irregularly distributed moisture in the great grain area of Southern Alberta. The Taber Irrigation Association, established in 1919, takes account of the watering of 17,000 acres near Taber on the storage waters of the Lethbridge irrigation scheme. A number of other schemes are under way to which the Dominion and Provincial Governments are giving joint encouragement.

The benefits of irrigation have been well demonstrated in Southern Alberta. Besides making it possible to grow heavier and better crops than are grown on unirrigated land the supply of moisture makes it possible to grow a greater variety of crops. On dry land grain is the characteristic crop. Under irrigation heavy crops of forage, especially alfalfa, and roots are grown which make profitable stock raising and stock feeding possible. The water insures heavy crops of all kinds and the feeding of live stock ensures large returns per acre from the land, conserves fertility and makes home building on western lands permanent.

A few big stockmen still remain in the south country, chiefly in the foothills, on proprietary ranches tributary to such places as Olds, Crossfield, High River, Nanton, Claresholm, Macleod, Cardston, Magrath, Raymond, Coutts and north and south of Medicine Hat, but generally speaking the introduction of the wire fence has made it impossible to run large stock on open range in Southern Alberta. Cattle stock on free range during a period of storm can generally drift to shelter, but if they are stopped by wire fences a good many of them perish. Sheep, on the other hand, have to be herded anyway, and there are at present about three hundred thousand sheep being run on open areas in various parts of Southern Alberta extending from the forest reserves to Medicine Hat and to a lesser extent at points along the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Sheep promise to become an important factor in Southern Alberta agriculture. Big stock cannot be kept to any advantage on the grain farms chiefly on account of the scarcity of summer pasture. Sheep on the other hand can get along on short summer pasture, they can clean the summer-fallows, pack them, and fertilize them, and grow fat on stubbles and springing weeds in the fall. They are very easily wintered and give quick returns. They seem about to furnish the much needed live stock element to grain-growing enterprises.

The nature of the change in the south briefly consists of the general elimination of the free ranger and the substitution of the alfalfa kings and dry farmers. The area actually subject to watering is not large compared with the whole of the area of Southern Alberta so that the characteristic change may be said to be the substitution of grain farming for pastoral farming in Southern Alberta. It is not generally possible to run much cattle stock inside of the fences of the dry farm and the farmer's large stock is limited chiefly to a small number of milk cows and of horse stock for power purposes and likewise with a tendency to reduce his horse stock by the substitution of power machinery for cultivation. While the stock business and dry farming systems do not take kindly to each other the irrigationist on the other hand produces large quantities of the best feed in the world, consisting of alfalfa and other mixed fodders and of heavy crops of feed grains such as oats and barley, a limited amount of wheat and large crops of roots. The introduction of alfalfa growing makes possible the establishing of dairy enterprises and of sheep, lamb and cattle feeding, though this has not yet reached its best possible development in Southern Alberta. Feeding enterprises supported on the heavy forage and roots of the irrigated farms stand for a new type of pastoralism following the closing up of the range.

While the irrigationists and dry farmers have put an end to the open range business it is the case that more stock is raised in Southern Alberta than was raised under range conditions. The cow stock of the ranch country in the old days was extremely sparse. Many times as much live value has been produced under cultivation as was produced above the old prairie sod when we consider the products of the dry farms and irrigation farms together. The opportunities offered for the settler in Southern Alberta consist of raw irrigable lands at about fifty dollars per acre which can be secured on long terms and with long term loans up to two thousand dollars for initial equipment, seed grain, stock, etc.; improved irrigated farms as well at from seventy-five to one hundred and twenty-five dollars per acre, and dry lands available at from fifteen to seventy-five dollars per acre according to location and degree of improvement.

Dry Farming

Dry farming is the name given to the practice of keeping land fallow every second or third year for the purpose of storing moisture and thus having an average of more than one year's moisture for one year's crop. The land is plowed deep so that it will receive moisture readily and hold a good supply of it. It is worked on the surface to prevent the steady evaporation of moisture by capillary ascent. The surface working is carried on by disc and drag harrows. The packer is used to correct loose texture. Sometimes soiling crops are used to prevent blowing of land after it has been worked for a number of years, and the crops selected have some relation to the practice of dry farming. Dry farming requires good judgment, foresightedness and an understanding of the principles and practices underlying moisture conservation.

There is an important belt of country lying between the foothills and the open prairie that is suited to mixed farming and is a highly productive area. It begins at Cardston and follows a line bending westerly for a short distance parallel to the mountains, through the Pincher Creek country and finally running north in the general direction of the Calgary and Macleod and of the Calgary and Edmonton Railway. Claresholm is on the eastern fringe of this area. This country supports such market towns as Nanton, High River, Okotoks, Crossfield, Didsbury, Olds and Innisfail. At the latter points the stock business is represented partly in special dairy enterprises, but also in pure-bred and commercial stock as well. A good many of the farmers in these districts are still using a heavy top of natural grass, and cultivation is concerned chiefly with the raising of feed grains, roots and fodders such as green feed, timothy and other tame grasses. These lands are heavy and enduring in quality.

Mixed Farming

The part of the province which has developed chiefly in mixed farming is Central Alberta. The putting through of the Transcontinental Railway which reached Calgary in 1885 necessarily had a good deal to do with increasing and distributing population both north and south of Calgary itself. From its establishment in 1875 and for a considerable number of years afterwards Calgary was the centre of Alberta land and commercial interests. Owing to the moderate character of the Alberta climate the tendency to develop northward has always been strong. Settlers who travelled north from Calgary found themselves on black lands with a heavier top of grass than grew on the prairies of the south and with an increasing growth of scrub and finally bluffs of poplar dressing the open stretches the farther north they went. The first side feeder to the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway was built northward from Calgary in 1891 to penetrate this stretch of land in the country between Calgary and Edmonton. The country tributary to the Calgary and Edmonton railway and to the two more recently built north and south lines of the Canadian National Railways is one of the best developed and heaviest producing areas of the province. The land in Central Alberta does not offer the same opportunities for broad farming in its virgin state that Southern Alberta does. It is more of a country of homesteaders who have to apply a little labor to land in order to tame it and who are generally satisfied with smaller holdings. The land appears to be too valuable for the simple type of farming represented in straight grain raising. The characteristic crops grown are feed grains such as oats and barley, which yield very heavily, together with green feed and other cultivated fodders and roots, but wheat is also a successful crop. The products of the farm are generally marketed as dairy products, beef, mutton, wool, pork and poultry. Central Alberta is essentially a mixed farming area and it necessarily attracts a class of settlers and home-makers of a permanent and industrious sort.

To people in Eastern Canada or in the United States, Edmonton, which is between latitudes 53 degrees and 54 degrees, seems away up north, but it is now a modern every-day city of sixty thousand people, it is fully integrated with the commercial and political life of the Dominion and has all kinds of modern services. It is the gateway to a new frontier which is two or three hundred miles north. Northern Alberta is synonymous with the Peace River Valley, which is the Mecca of the land man who wants to get out on the edge. The town of Peace River is two hundred and fifty miles north-west of Edmonton on a branch of the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia Railway. It is a town of a thousand people and has a tributary population along the north shore of the river of seven or eight thousand successful farmers including ranchers. Fifty miles on this side of Peace River the main line of what is expected to be a permanent transcontinental railway system goes west to the town of Spirit River. The approach to Spirit River opens out into an area of farm land which exactly reproduces the Edmonton district. It is strong, heavy, black land with just a little willow and other scrub and with an occasional poplar bluff dressing the landscape. The McLennan-Spirit River line is projected directly west into the Pouce Coupe country. South from Spirit River a stub line fifty miles long terminates at Grande Prairie which is the largest town of the Peace River country. Like Spirit River it has very active settlement both east and west. It, at the present time, appears to be the most active of any of the settlements in the Peace River country. The Peace River country this year is expected to yield between five and ten million bushels of grain.

On the fringe of these agricultural settlements are a small number of ranch settlements on the Wapiti and Smoky Rivers, south and east of Grande Prairie in occasional stretches, west of Grande Prairie and Spirit River, then as far west as Fort St. John, where there are a number of small cattle ranches. Immediately east of Peace River a few ranches are developing and a few others towards Fort Vermillion on the north side of the river.

Northern Alberta already holds fifty thousand souls—all two hundred miles or over north of Edmonton—and the greater part of civilian and soldier settlement is headed in the direction of Peace River. This country is making rapid advancement in institutional services likewise. There are good schools over the whole of the district, and municipal hospitals, which are certain of efficient support and direction, are being established in a number of the important centres of the Peace River district.

BRANCHES OF AGRICULTURE

Field Crops

Alberta is adapted in varying degrees to the growing of the whole list of small grains including wheat, oats, barley, rye, peas and flax. Certain cereals are pre-eminent in certain districts but all of the cereals can be grown profitably and successfully from Medicine Hat to Fort Vermilion.

The soil of the province consists of a finely divided basis of glacial drift topped by accumulations of vegetable mould varying in depth from a few inches to several feet. The black soil belongs characteristically to the centre and north. In the southern part of the province while the depth of humus is not great the nitrogen content is high, as the soil of the great grain area of the province in the south is not subject to leaching by excessive precipitation. The soils of Southern Alberta excel in looseness and fineness and in the easy availability for plant support of both humus and mineral elements in the soils. This area is given over largely to wheat growing, and while the tendency to rely on the single crop has not the same safety that mixed farming has, a great wealth of grain has been produced on the Southern Alberta soils. The wheat is of the best hard quality and very high yields have been secured. In 1915 the average yield per acre in spring wheat throughout the province was 35.93 bushels; winter wheat was 39.37; oats 57.66; barley 34.11; rye 24.14 and flax 18.57. The heaviest yields of wheat were in Southern Alberta. The general average for the province over a period of ten years including the latest available figures is as follows:

Spring Wheat	20.34
Winter Wheat	22.61
Oats	37.65
Barley	26.81
Rye	24.48
Flax	8.63

The best yield of wheat recorded over a large acreage is that of the Noble Foundation in the year 1914 in which 54,330 bushels were grown from a thousand acres of measured land giving an average of 54.3 bushels per acre. An example of the suitability of Southern Alberta land for wheat production is the fact that the Turkey Red wheat introduced from Kansas increased in weight four or five pounds per bushel after being grown in Alberta and a special grade was made for it on the Winnipeg market. While a greater part of the wheat of the province is grown in Southern Alberta it is a successful crop throughout Central and Northern Alberta. Large yields have been secured in the Peace River valley as far north as Fort Vermilion.

The superior quality of Central Alberta oats is recognized throughout Canada. At one of the provincial fairs in the province the ten best samples entered in one competition exceeded fifty pounds per bushel in weight. Yields on new lands have given as high as 186 bushels per acre and 80 bushels per acre is quite common. Both Alberta oats and wheat are making for themselves a good market for seed purposes in Eastern Canada, Eastern United States and especially in the upper tier of States on the other side of the International Boundary. The seed is plump and bright and by reason of its being grown well north is of hardy constitution. The oat is valued, however, principally for feed for cattle, horses, sheep and swine. While barley makes a better finishing feed for hogs than oats do, hogs may be finished successfully on Alberta oats. Pending the introduction of a variety secured from the use of ripening peas for hogging off. Flax is a successful and profitable crop at all times and is used in many cases on breaking on account of its suitability for putting the soil in good condition for the next year.

Frosts

In the taming of new land frosts commonly occur and reports of frosts are more or less common in countries where settlement is taking place. These frosts are due to the coolness or low temperature of closely packed, undisturbed virgin soil. It takes three or four years of cropping and culti-

of tame fodders the oat crop is made great use of as green feed on which all kinds of stock are wintered. It also makes fine silage. Barley is a successful crop and shows the same tendency for good weight per bushel as is shown by wheat and oats. Rye is not grown extensively or exclusively for grain but is becoming a very important crop in all parts of the province. Winter rye is used to furnish fall feed and early spring feed. At the end of June it may be left for hay or grain, or it may be summer-fallowed.

Peas are not yet extensively grown in the province but are sometimes used along with oats for winter fodder and for silage. They are a successful crop on irrigated lands in Southern Alberta either for seed or for pasture for hogs. Good results and profits are obtained by getting virgin soil properly worked down into a fine state of tilth. When it is worked down warm air penetrates it, but if it has not been broken, or if it has not been pulverized after it has been broken, the warm air does not get in. The lying of stagnant water is another cause of frost as is commonly seen in dead, low hollows. Frosts occur in conditions of this kind while warm high land is not subject to frost. When land is first plowed, however, the dead water level represented in the hard surface is let down six or seven inches and the land becomes drier and warmer. What frost means in summer is that the heat of the land radiates to a point that leaves the air at the surface of the ground too cold for the safety of plants. After the soil is open and the warmth gets well into the soil this supply of warmth is not as rapidly exhausted as it is when the depth to which the air penetrates is shallow.

Frosts in Alberta are not the result of unfavorable climate, but are incident to pioneer conditions. It is a matter of authentic history that Selkirk failed for years in succession to mature grain crops in the Red River Settlement, and at one time it was thought that the colony would have to move. This was in the country that is now the best grain-producing country in the world. The land had not been opened and warmed. There is probably something likewise in the wealth of fertility in virgin soil that prolongs the growing period. Besides getting rid of dead water and admitting air to the land the danger of frost is likewise reduced by the removal of bluffs or brush and timber which hold moisture late in the season and feed it into the crop. Early seeding and the use of early varieties likewise have their effect. The danger of damage from frosts may be met by the art of the cultivator except in cases of gross, unseasonable mistakes by the weatherman which are entirely outside of the control of the farmer.

Visitations of hail are in the same class. Hail occurs occasionally in small scattered patches in Alberta but not to the extent of injuring any appreciable proportion of the crop area. Losses from hail in Alberta are distributed by the operation of The Municipal Hail Insurance Act. Under this Act the ratepayers of a municipal district elect whether or not the district shall be brought under the operation of the Act. In case the voting is favorable all ratepayers are automatically insured and losses within the municipal districts are met by assessment of ratepayers. Individuals, however, may withdraw their lands from the operation of the Act by notice to the secretary-treasurer of the municipal district before June 16th.

Forage

A large proportion of the forage grown in the province consists of green oats but the tame grasses are being introduced in the best settled parts of the country. Alfalfa is a highly valuable and profitable crop in the irrigated areas. Over forty thousand tons were produced in the Lethbridge district last year and the yield was about three and a half tons per acre. In addition to being the leading crop on irrigated lands alfalfa is grown successfully on unwatered lands in other parts of the province. Corn is established as a successful silage crop in Southern Alberta. It succeeds in favorable years well into the centre of the province also but oats will produce about as great bulk and weight and is a satisfactory silage crop in Central and Northern Alberta. In Southern Alberta the growing of corn takes to some extent the place in rotation that summer-fallow does. Light seeding and good cultivation does not exhaust the moisture unduly and puts the soil in good condition. The crop prevents blowing and furnishes fibre to the soil. The variety of corn most used is North-western Dent. Recent experiments with sunflowers for silage promise good results. As high as fourteen or fifteen tons of green silage, which is about twice the amount of oats or corn, can be grown from the Mammoth Russian sunflowers.

In the best mixed farming parts of the province, consisting of the foothill country in Southern Alberta and the country between Calgary and Edmonton, timothy is a successful crop. It is also a highly profitable crop for seed. Other tame grasses are Kentucky blue grass, brome grass, rye grass, white, alsike, and sweet clover. Grain mixtures such as oats, barley and fall wheat are extensively used for hog pasture. Rape is a highly successful forage crop and is available earlier than in most places. On account of the coolness of Alberta nights it does not suffer bleaching or wilting in mid-summer.

Roots

The soil of Alberta is suited for heavy production of field roots. Turnips, carrots, mangolds and sugar beets are successful field crops.

Beef

The raising of beef cattle has always been important in Alberta. It is to be expected that specialization in the cow industry will take place in every country with the general progress of the country, and this has been the case in Alberta. As late as 1900 the whole of Southern Alberta was given over to pastoral work with cattle, horses and sheep; but chiefly, cattle. A good deal of the cattle business of Central and Northern Alberta was also of simple range type. With the progress of settlement, dairying has come into importance on account of the need of securing a steady kind of revenue and higher revenue from increasingly valuable lands. On the farms of Central and Northern Alberta dairy work is not special, however, and the type of cow is the dual purpose cow. It has been found good practice on small general farms to keep cows of the beef breeds that will raise easy-feeding, quick-maturing steers, but likewise to select the herd with some regard to their performance at the pail. As in countries like Great Britain where live stock is the crown of farming it is the case that over seventy-five per cent. of our dairy wealth comes from dual purpose cows. Special dairy enterprises are largely limited to the close neighborhood of cities and towns and are engaged in supplying whole milk for families. While dairy production has shown satisfactory progress, the cow business in Alberta is dominantly the raising of beef cattle. There are different aspects of the growing of beef cattle itself outside of the keeping of dual purpose cattle on the average farm. These may be said to be ranching, baby beef production, and the raising of purebreds.

A Royal Rancher

While ranching is popularly associated chiefly with the open prairie of Southern Alberta, this land has nearly all passed into use for farming. There is still, however, sufficient land devoted to ranching to make it necessary to take account of this work as part of the live stock interest of the province. There is some very attractive ranching land in the foothill country west of the Calgary and Edmonton railway. This consists of rolling land with good grasses on the knolls, excellent live springs and running water and plenty of natural shelter. The country is highly attractive from the standpoint of the stockman, home-maker, and sportsman. It is on the skirts of the timber country where big game runs. It has good trout-fishing in the streams and abundant bird life. The air of these elevated portions is agreeable and exhilarating. It is in the foothill country about twenty-five miles south-west of High River that the Prince of Wales recently purchased his ranch. The combined attractions of luxuriant feed, good water, and shelter and the variation of landscape between bench land and coulee, the freshness of the near mountain air, and the general favorable location of the property conspired to make an Alberta rancher of His Royal Highness. This property is being stocked with a good class of Shorthorn cattle, Shropshire sheep, and Dartmoor ponies from the Old Country.

The superiority of Alberta range beef is accounted for by the superiority of the range grasses, the climate and the using of good beef bulls. The grasses of the Alberta range cure on the stalk and the finishing season of the summer and fall is favorable to stock. There is no scalding from the sun, no sultry nights and no cold and wet combined. The range cattle-men have always bought the best bulls obtainable of the Shorthorn, Hereford, and Aberdeen-Angus breeds. The excellence of these cattle is shown in the frequency with which they have topped the Chicago market for grass cattle. Besides the beef raised on the foothill ranges there is some raised on proprietary ranches of the prairie country, on leased lands in the eastern and central part and also on the edges of the settled parts of the Peace River country.

On account of the demand for all classes of meat supplies during recent years meat production of all kinds has been stimulated. On many of the farms as well as on the ranches good outputs of beef cattle have been made. Under the encouragement of the exhibition associations and school fairs, likewise, baby beef production has been greatly stimulated and excellent fat calves are coming forward at the fairs. This kind of meat stock is becoming important in a commercial way.

The demand for purebred stock is very active and the establishment of purebred beef herds has been going on rapidly. The feeds available are of the best possible kind for producing high-class breeding stock. The mixed grasses give fine combined development of bone and right flesh covering, the supply of feed grain such as oats and barley is large and the cost of production low. Roots and winter forage such as green feed, tame and natural hay are equally plentiful. The cost of shelter is not high, as expensive barns are not considered necessary except for dairy stock. Winter feed should be provided for all classes of stock in Central and Northern Alberta. In limited cases in Southern Alberta young stock may find a living outside. The capitalization in land is moderate. Good herds are already well established and the demand for purebred stock is steady and active. Selling services are well established through exhibitions, breeders' associations, bull sales and congress sales by groups of breeders. Five-thousand-dollar youngsters in both males and females have been bought and sold by Alberta breeders. Young Alberta Shorthorns have taken high places at the International in the last exhibition (1919). Shorthorns are most common in Alberta, but Herefords are popular, especially in Southern Alberta, and good herds of Aberdeen-Angus are widely distributed in the province. The largest purebred herd of cattle in Canada is owned in Alberta—the Hereford herd of F. Collicutt at Crossfield.

Some idea of the growth of the cattle industry may be had from a survey of the census figures:

Dairying

Alberta has made rapid and substantial progress in dairying. There is still on nearly every farm a good deal of native pasture which is made up of a fine mixture of grasses, pea-vine and other succulent forage, and this mixed pasture is an important resource for the dairyman. Besides this, in Central and Northern Alberta especially, the heavy black lands produce great quantities of feed grain such as oats and barley, and also produce heavy crops of roots and of cultivated forage such as fall rye and grain mixtures of different kinds. The climatic conditions are likewise favorable. The winter is free from trying extremes and the summers are equally conducive to successful dairy work. The nights are cool, which makes the keeping of milk easy and is favorable to the health and comfort of dairy cattle. There are no troublesome flies or other insect pests. The industry has been carefully fostered since the province was inaugurated. The Department of Agriculture employs an experienced dairy commissioner with a competent staff to carry on the education of milk producers and manufacturers and keep in touch with the trade. The dairy commissioner likewise markets a good deal of the creamery butter output which is consigned from producers and on which advances are made pending sale.

In 1918 the exhibits of butter-makers from the Province of Alberta at the nine largest fairs of the Dominion resulted in the securing about half the awards for the Alberta product. In the 1920 All-Canada competition among creamery butter-makers at Winnipeg, Alberta secured first, second and third prizes. The market for Alberta butter extends to both the Eastern and Western States through distribution from Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver. The supply for the Yukon is practically all Alberta butter.

There are fifty-three co-operative creameries in the province, thirteen privately owned creameries, and a number of large centralizer creameries in the cities. The co-operative creamery is the original kind. These were once government-owned or partly government-owned and operated, but they are now community-owned and operated, and the Commissioner and his staff still carry on instruction and inspection. In these creameries patrons are paid on grade for their cream. They usually get an advance per pound of butter fat equal to the price of butter itself and have the two-tenths over-run to the good at the end of the year. The grade standards for cream and butter are set by The Dairymen's Act. In the privately owned and operated creameries the owner buys the cream outright. These get the same encouragement and assistance towards doing good work that the community creameries do.

The central dairies not only deal in whole milk, but purchase quantities of cream through collecting branches or cream-buying stations and they manufacture both butter and cheese. The Edmonton City Dairy is the largest creamery in the Dominion. It collects cream from distances of three hundred miles in all directions, it operates a number of subordinate creameries, small cheese factories and in addition to its milk distribution and ice cream business manufactured two million pounds of butter and half a million pounds of cheese in 1919. Sixty-six per cent. of the creameries of the province are north of Red Deer.

Cheese-making has not made great progress. Farmers like to raise their young stock and for this purpose prefer to sell cream rather than whole milk. Cream is more easily handled than milk on account of its smaller volume and is less subject to spoiling. There are eleven cheese factories in the province.

Horse-breeding

The raising of horses has always been of importance in the province. The horse constituted the working equipment of early cattle-land. He is a necessity for the cowman, and on account of this very obvious necessity and the feature of education and steady use and companionship the cowman became skilled and wise in the horse business and always took an interest and pride in a good animal.

There were horses in the country before there were cattle. These commonly came under the general name of bronco which is the term originally given to the half-wild pony of Western Canada and the United States. This species is known as the mustang in Mexico and as the Indian pony or cayuse in Western Canada. The ponies that were found among the Indians on the arrival of the white settlers in Western Canada no doubt originated in the south. These Indian ponies as a breed are becoming very rapidly eliminated but it is probably the case that no less than ninety per cent. of the horses of the province are grades of the improved breeds such as Clydesdales, Percherons, Shires, Belgians, Hackneys, thoroughbreds and standardbreds on cayuse mare foundation. The native pony is not commonly a very slightly animal, though some of the tribes of Indians have taken a good deal of pride in their horse stock and have developed attractive, symmetrical animals. They all have qualities, however, that may be assumed to have contributed something valuable to our present horse stock. On account of the way that broncos or cayuses are raised they usually have good wind, good digestion and general hardiness. They are also active and sure-footed. They have rather good feet, a good quality of bone and keen senses, particularly eyesight. On the other hand they lack the fullness of conformation that results from culture represented in shelter, careful feeding and education. They are generally sloping and light in the hindquarters, low in the shoulders and neck, and heavy in the barrel.

A number of ranchers in the early days introduced thoroughbred and other light-legged horses for the improvement of this stock and no doubt secured enduring saddle stock, but the combination of warm-blooded horses with the wild prairie horses did not result in any improvement of the horse stock of the country and most of the improvement has been brought about by the use in the first place of moderate sized or undersized Clydesdales and Percherons followed by the use of heavier horses on subsequent crosses. Cold-blooded stock is the best kind for the amelioration of the wild blood of the prairies. This method is accepted as the best by which to secure useful stock. Most of the horse stock of the country represents good grades of the improved draft breeds, but as a rule they are not very large as the natural conditions of feed and climate encourage simple care in winter-time. These moderate sized crossbreds and grades have proved themselves hardy and reliable for war use. In the South African war the Alberta range horses were popular on account of their being strong, sound and active. A number were purchased from Alberta for the late war also, but the use and demand for this purpose were limited. The very small stock is disappearing rapidly and generally the breeding and quality of horse stock in the country is rather good. Good stallions have been brought in in large numbers; the government restricts the use of unsound sires, and horse-breeding is progressing on satisfactory lines. Some fluctuation has been caused by the introduction of motor power. This has operated chiefly against the lighter horses. The light car is a great time saver for the farmer. Tractors to the number of about five or six thousand are likewise operating in the province and the introduction of these has had greater present effect than it should have on the industry. After the initial breaking has been done in both the open prairie and the heavier brush land the need and economy of horses for most kinds of work, except stationary work, around the farms will result in a steadiness in the horse-breeding industry.

The conditions that are favorable for horsebreeding in Alberta are well drained soil, due to a rolling surface and well defined slope; a fine quality of grasses, excellent water; a good climate and freedom from epidemic troubles; and the light nature of bronchial or pulmonary disorders. There are already well established enterprises in the raising of purebred stock. A good many of these are in Southern Alberta. Mr.

George Lane's Percheron ranch at High River is stocked with about a thousand purebred Percherons and is probably the largest purebred Percheron ranch in the world. A number of shipments of both mares and stallions have been made to Great Britain. Purebred Clydesdales are also well established. Breeders of this class of stock are widely distributed over the province. There are also Shires, Belgians, and a small number of breeders of light-legged stock.

The trend of horse-breeding is shown in statistics relating to the industry:

Mutton and Wool

The Province of Alberta is eminently suited for the production of mutton and wool. The country is slightly rolling and the climate is highly favorable for sheep-keeping. Foot troubles and epidemic skin troubles are practically unknown. The grasses are of the kinds relished by sheep and the cultivated crops required for winter feeding such as hay, green-feed, the feed grains and roots are easily and cheaply grown.

The changes in the values of farm products recently have been favorable to the increased keeping of sheep. Prices have been so high for feed grains that such stock as required concentrated rations for finishing has not been found to be as profitable as meat stock that can be produced and matured on grass and milk alone within a summer season and that can be carried over winter on low grade feeds. Sheep likewise are helping to keep the grain farms and summer-fallows clean. Wool is high and will continue so. Double returns, and quick returns, and cheaply secured returns are having a good effect on the status of sheep husbandry.

Alberta Range Sheep

Practically all the sheep of the province were formerly run on the prairie of Southern Alberta and nearly two-thirds of the total are still in Southern Alberta, where they run in large bands in the open areas between the enclosed lands. Sheep have proved highly profitable to sweep off the native grasses. With the contraction of the range country by settlement there has been a gradual transference of the business of sheep-keeping to the farms of Central Alberta and farm flocks are increasing rapidly. The sheep of the range were chiefly Merino from Montana, but English breeds of mutton rams are used to give greater size to the lambs raised on the range. Long-wooled rams are rather popular. The sheep of the mixed farming districts are chiefly the medium-wooled breeds of English sheep, such as Shropshire, Oxford, Hampshire, Suffolk, Southdown and Dorset. There is one flock of Karakul sheep in the province.

The market for wool and mutton and for purebred stock is good. About ninety per cent. of the wool clipped is sold directly in primal markets through the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Association, Limited. The collecting of this wool is done by half a dozen local wool growers' associations in the province. Lamb and fed wether have sold above the best beef during the past five years. Ram sales are conducted each year at a number of points and the demand is steady at good prices. Alberta supports more sheep than the other three western provinces together. The growth of the industry is indicated by the number of head given below:

Swine Husbandry

All the conditions for successful swine-husbandry are present throughout Central and Northern Alberta and in the irrigated districts of the south. Dwarf Essex rape, winter rye, white clover, Kentucky blue grass and alfalfa in places produce succulent pasturage from early spring until the late autumn in quantities surpassed by few districts in North America. The grains necessary to growing and fattening hogs, such as oats, barley, and rye yield well. The demand for pork will absorb many times the quantity now being produced.

At Edmonton there are three packing plants, the Swift Canadian Company, P. Burns & Company, and Gainers Limited, with a capacity ranging from one hundred to fifteen hundred hogs per day. In addition to the buying capacity represented in these firms there is at Edmonton open competitive marketing provided by the Edmonton Stock Yards Company. This open market was established in 1916 and has made phenomenal progress in the scope of its operations. In addition to local demand, buyers attend this market from all the large packing centres in the Dominion of Canada and likewise from the northern centres of the United States.

There are two abattoirs at Calgary, P. Burns & Company and the Western Packing Company. There is likewise at Calgary an open stock yard in which buyers from Toronto, Winnipeg, Moose Jaw and Vancouver operate, as well as dealers from Spokane, Seattle and St. Paul who buy periodically.

Climatic conditions in Alberta are highly favorable to swine growing. There are occasional periods of low temperature but the cold months are dry months and are free from sudden changes to extreme wet. Close and elaborate winter housings are rapidly being discarded for winter shelters, which are found to be much more economical and better suited to our conditions. These shelters consist of straw sheds or deep straw covering of simple board pens. For summer use the A-shaped or other small colony pen is rapidly growing in favor to give protection against rain during the early summer season.

The type of hog being produced in Alberta might be described as medium thick.

Root Harvesting on the Demonstration Farm

It ranks about midway between the extremely long, lean bacon type of Eastern Canada and the thick lard type which is produced in such large numbers in the American corn belt. Being grown largely on oats supplemented by pasturage, they develop strong bones and muscle and stand marketing well over long distances; and being fattened largely on barley or a mixture of barley and rye or wheat, they produce a sweet firm bacon that is accepted in the most fastidious markets. Settlers from Ontario and Great Britain usually bring with them pigs of Yorkshire, Tamworth, or bacon type Berkshire breeding, but they find that in a very few generations they lose their distinctive "bacon type" conformation and develop thicker backs and larger hams than the original stock possessed. Settlers from the United States usually bring with them their Poland Chinas, Duroc Jersey and lard type Berkshires, but in a few generations they find that their pigs have lost somewhat their thick backs and heavy hams and have acquired a longer and deeper side to compensate for this loss of thickness of back and ham.

To the man who understands the nature of swine and brings his methods into harmony with local conditions, Alberta offers excellent opportunities for acquiring wealth in the swine-growing business.

Poultry

Climatic and general conditions in Alberta are particularly well suited to poultry raising. There is always an ample supply of cereal grains and screenings available to farmers at production cost which may be profitably transformed into poultry products. There is an abundance of open range for poultry over clean, sanitary soil. The long days of spring and summer and the bright sunshine promote the health and vigor of young growing stock. The climate at no time is too severe for the economical production of eggs with practically all of the utility breeds. Poultrymen throughout the province find no difficulty in producing winter or annual laying records that compare favorably with records made in any other part of the continent.

Both turkeys and geese do well in Alberta and there is a keen demand on the coast markets for what supplies the province has to ship. There is each year a considerable supply of eggs and dressed poultry for marketing outside of the province. The largest part of this goes to supply the Pacific Coast markets while the remainder goes to Eastern Canadian markets and to Great Britain.

The poultry industry is given every encouragement by the government. Farmers are given assistance in the direction and management of their flocks by expert poultrymen who pass through the country. Foundation stock of high producing strains is made available to producers at nominal cost from the Provincial Poultry Breeding Station, and direct assistance is given by the Poultry Commissioner's branch in co-operation with the Poultry Branch of the Dominion Government in the organization of marketing associations and in the marketing of poultry products.

In addition to the Government Egg and Poultry Marketing Service there are twenty-one commercial houses in the larger market centres dealing more or less extensively hens in the province was 3,172,777; in 1919 this had increased to 4,426,878.

Horticulture

Alberta is eminently suited for minute culture and is a province of gardens. The soil in all parts is well fined and mixed and being new soil it responds very generously to good cultivation. The people of the towns and cities show keen appreciation of the value of the variety and quantity of fresh wholesome food which may be secured with slight labor from small plots of virgin soil.

Fruit-growing has not reached large pro-

in eggs and poultry, six of which operate large fattening plants for finishing poultry.

The keeping of poultry is universally popular. Of the 62,000 farms in the province over 50,000 of them report flocks of poultry. The value of the poultry output is not generally appreciated or known. The interest of farmers is chiefly in four-footed stock and this is to be expected. Poultry, however, not only makes heavy contribution to food supplies and resources but brings in large returns in money. Dominion census figures show that in 1916 the value of poultry products in Alberta was half as great as the value of beef cattle or swine and five times as great as the value of sheep. In the year 1916 the number of portions in the province. Experiments with apples of the hardy Russian sort have resulted in the production of good apples, but not yet in commercial quantities. Crab-apples are successful through Southern and Central Alberta. In Central and Northern Alberta there are a great many varieties of small tree fruits such as wild cherries, saskatoons and high-bush cranberries and there are great supplies of bush fruits such as raspberries, gooseberries, currants and blueberries. Strawberries are plentiful. Where these wild fruits are found the tame fruits of similar nature are successfully grown and are an important food resource on account of the scarcity of the larger fruits. On the irrigated lands of Southern Alberta heavy crops of currants, raspberries, strawberries, and gooseberries are grown and are highly profitable commercially.

The most successful and characteristic garden crop of Alberta is the vegetable crop. Excellent potatoes are grown from the most southern point in the province to the Peace River. They grow rapidly and are of fine quality. Beets, carrots, cabbage, parsnips, celery, turnips, chard, onions, lettuce, radish, peas, beans, squash, pumpkins, asparagus and rhubarb do well in every part of the province. Cucumbers and tomatoes are successfully grown in all parts of the province, but in the north they require suitable position with reflected heat and southern exposure to give the best results. Sweet corn is grown to some extent over the whole of the province but does better in the southern part than in the centre and north. Squaw corn succeeds very well in every part of the province and is an important addition to good living.

The province is conspicuous for its great natural flower wealth and still more for the wealth and brilliancy of its garden flowers. All kinds of common annuals and most perennials do well, and ornamental trees and shrubs likewise.

MINERALS

Next to its agricultural resources the greatest source of wealth in Alberta is its minerals and these are of the useful rather than luxury sort. The most important of these is coal. Alberta stands first among the provinces in the Dominion in its coal area. Until recently the chief value of this resource has been the satisfying of local fuel demand. At present considerable expansion is taking place in supplying the other prairie provinces. While there is no known supply of iron adjacent to these vast fuel supplies it is to be expected that the vast fuel wealth of the province will ultimately support an important city and town industrialism based on agricultural and other raw materials produced in the province to accompany a condition of higher development of commercial centres. It has been estimated that the total amount of coal available in the province is 1,059,975 million tons.

East of the foothill area of the province lies a great extent of coal-bearing rocks. The coal in this region is well suited to domestic use and as it is within the settlement belt there is an assured demand for it. These areas are occupied by what is called the Edmonton formation and the coals are commonly referred to as the Edmonton coals. They extend north from near the International Boundary almost to the Peace River, underlying an area of not less than 52,000 square miles, of which 24,000 are considered as available for mining.

Another coal formation known as the Belly River formation occupies the south-eastern part of the province with an area of 11,568 square miles. The principal mines of this area are near Lethbridge.

The domestic coal mined in the province finds ready sale in the cities and towns; the bituminous, such as that mined at Canmore, the Crow's Nest Pass and Mountain Park districts, is generally used for railway and other steam-raising purposes. It is expected that the suitability of the steam coals for wider use will mean a much larger demand than there is at present and the coal fields will take on the aspect of an Imperial rather than a purely local resource. At present there is an active development of mining which will largely increase the output.

The following table of tons will indicate the progress that has been made in coal production in the past ten years:

1910	3,036,757
1911	1,694,564
1912	3,446,349
1913	4,306,346
1914	3,821,739
1915	3,434,891
1916	4,648,604
1917	4,863,414
1918	5,148,620

The manufacture of coke has been receiving considerable attention during the past few years. In 1904 there was no coke produced in the province. In 1907 the amount was 73,782 tons and progress has been steady since that time. A briquetting plant which converts small coal and dust into a solid product is operating in the province.

The mines which have been in operation longest are those in the Crow's Nest Pass and in Lethbridge, Taber and Edmonton districts. Important mines which have been more recently opened up are those of the Brazeau, Yellowhead Pass and Mountain Park districts. These newer fields produce excellent steam and coking coals and their product is finding a ready market with the railway companies. Large deposits of high grade domestic coal have likewise been found in these districts and it is already adding to the surplus for trade outside of the province.

The coal industry is entering on a period of rapid expansion. Capitalists are being attracted by the extensive coal fields, particularly in view of the broadening of market demand both from outside and within the province where active immigration appears to be setting in.

The number of mines in 1905 was 61; it is now 269. Most of the mines on the transcontinental lines of railway are shipping as far east as Winnipeg, and as far west as the Pacific Coast, but many of the smaller mines are used for purely local supply. While manufacturing has not reached a great volume in the province the mining industry has developed and strengthened the commercial interests of the province. The mines give employment to a large number of men in the actual operations of mining and large numbers are also employed in obtaining supplies for these operations. A heavy business in supplies for the mining population is a feature of trading in all mining towns.

Petroleum

Considerable attention is being given to Alberta as a possible source for the supply of petroleum for future use. Practically the whole of the province shows oil seepage. Prospecting is active at present. About a million dollars was spent within the year 1919 in Alberta by large and small corporations, companies and individuals in the search of supplies of petroleum. In 1918 18,040 barrels of crude oil were produced.

Gas

Natural gas is well distributed through the cretaceous rocks which form the sub-structure of the province. In the southern part of the province there is an extensive field which in 1918 produced 6,818,389 thousand cubic feet from 74 wells. The chief development of the gas supply is in the Medicine Hat and tributary district. The large supplies of gas in the Medicine Hat district have developed an active industrial interest. The city of Medicine Hat has important manufactures. From the Bow Island field west of Medicine Hat gas is piped for domestic supply to both Calgary and Lethbridge. In Northern, Central and Southwestern Alberta the gas is "wet", whereas in the southeastern part of the province the gas is "dry." The research work in the recovery of the lighter oils from gas indicates that there will be extensive exploitation of this field.

Tar Sands

Bituminous sands containing 18.5 per cent. bitumen are exposed for 100 miles along the Athabasca River below Fort McMurray. The thickness of these beds varies from 25 to 200 feet. This material is already being used for paving and roofing purposes. The deposits have not been extensively explored but there are indications that crude petroleum may be found in certain parts of this district. The commercial possibilities of these deposits are large.

Clays

Clays and shales suitable for the manufacture of various kinds of ceramic products are widely distributed. In 1912 the clay products manufactured in Alberta had a value of nearly one and a half million dollars, but the industry has not been active during the war. A large field for clays, shales and silica sands is open. There are four cement mills in Alberta with a daily capacity of 7,500 barrels.

Salt

Salt is extensively distributed throughout the northern part of the province. Saline springs are common, some of which form a deposit of pure salt of commercial value.

Salt Springs at Fort Smith

Two beds of salt having a thickness of nearly 200 feet have been reported from previous drilling records in the Fort McMurray district 200 miles north of Edmonton. The government is carrying on drilling operations with the object of determining the quantity of salt available.

Building stone of fine quality is found in the front ranges of the Rocky Mountains. Other minerals occurring in larger or smaller supplies are gypsum, talc, potash, phosphate and manganese.

Placer gold in paying quantities but fine in texture occurs in the sands of almost all the large streams in Western Alberta. Platinum frequently occurs with the gold. Other metallic minerals have not yet been found to be commercially important.

Coal mining rights may be leased from the Federal Government for a period of twenty-one years renewable at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres shall be leased to one applicant. A royalty at the rate of five cents per ton shall be collected on the merchantable coal mined. A fee of $5 shall accompany each application for a lease.

The term of lease shall be twenty-one years, renewable for a further term of twenty-one years. Application for a lease shall be made by the applicant in person to the agent or sub-agent of the Dominion Lands for the district in which the rights applied for are situated. A fee of $5 and the rental for the first year shall accompany each application for a lease.

TIMBER

Areas

A considerable part of Alberta, probably amounting to one quarter of the total area, in the southern, southeastern and eastern sections of the province is without tree-growth of a size to make saw timber. This portion of the province has some light scrub, some willow and poplar bluffs on its more northerly edge and has cottonwoods in the river bottoms. A considerable additional area in the centre and east has scattered bluffs of poplar and strong willow that furnish pole timber for fencing or light buildings and fence posts. On some of the rivers of this part there is heavier timber of poplar and a little spruce and birch. This growth has considerable value and importance in a local way but does not occur in sufficient quantity to entitle the sections in which it occurs to be called timber areas. This leaves the mountain and foothill area of the south, the more or less broken head water country of all the Alberta streams, and the northern half of the province to furnish the greater part of the timber wealth of the country.

This is an important resource. Much valuable timber is not at present available, as it is too far from transportation services, and the chief sources of supply at present are along rivers in the mountains and foothills where drives may be carried into the reach of railway lines. The whole area covered by merchantable timber is estimated at 5,416,000 acres, and the amount of lumber in board feet 21,000,000,000. The chief commercial timbers of the province are spruce, poplar, jack pine, birch, tamarac and willow. The areas from which most of the timber supplies are taken at present are the Crow's Nest country, on the Old Man River and its tributaries, the Porcupine Hills, and the upper parts of High River, Sheep Creek, Bow River, Red Deer, Athabasca, Saskatchewan, Brazeau, Pembina and Macleod. Important sources of timber wealth will open up in the better watered parts of Northern Alberta as settlement progresses.

The timber business is an important adjunct to mining in Alberta. The cutting of mine timbers is furnishing considerable wealth and makes use of a good deal of small material that is not useful for lumber.

Reserves

The Forestry Branch of the Dominion Government has set apart large areas as timber reservations. The care of these involves protection against fire, the regulation of grazing and the planting and seeding of favorable areas. The chief divisions of the forest reserves are as follows: Crow's Nest, Bow River, Clearwater, Brazeau, Cooking Lake, Athabasca and Lesser Slave.

Timber Berths

Timber Berths shall be disposed of by public auction at the office of the Dominion Timber Agent for the district in which the berths are situated. Before any parcel of timber is offered for sale it shall be surveyed by a duly qualified Dominion Land Surveyor into berths of an area not exceeding twenty-five square miles. No berth shall be disposed of until notice of the sale has been given for a period of not less than sixty days in a newspaper published in the district in which the berth is located and also in a newspaper having a general circulation in the province. Purchases to the amount of one thousand dollars or under shall be paid in cash at the time of sale. Purchases over one thousand dollars shall be paid part cash and balance covered by notes bearing interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum. The license shall be entitled to a renewal of his license from year to year subject to the regulations in force at the time renewal is made, while there is on the berth a sufficient quantity of merchantable timber as described in the license. The licensee shall pay an annual ground rent of five dollars per square mile, except for lands west of Yale, British Columbia, in which case the rent shall be five cents per acre. The licensee shall also pay one-half the cost of fire-protecting his berth. Any occupant of a homestead quarter-section having no suitable timber of his own may obtain a free permit to cut a stated quantity of building timber, fencing timber or fuel as he may require for use on the land he owns and occupies. If he requires a further quantity for the purpose mentioned he must pay the dues specified in clause (a) of section 42 of the regulations.

FISHERIES

Lake Fishing

The fish supply of the province is important from the standpoint of local food resources, of commercial value and from the standpoint of game. There are two general kinds of fishing in the province, stream or river fishing and lake fishing. The chief fish wealth is found in the lakes of the upper part of Central Alberta and in Northern Alberta. The most important of these are whitefish, but pike, pickerel, tullibee and gold eyes are plentiful. Lake trout are found in only a few of the lakes in Central Alberta, particularly Cold Lake. The lakes furnishing the chief supplies for commercial purposes are Wabamun, St. Anne, Saddle Lake, Lac La Biche, Buffalo Lake, Lac La Crosse, Athabasca and Lesser Slave.

Licenses

There are four classes of licenses issued: 1. Domestic licenses costing two dollars are issued to bona fide homesteaders or resident British subjects to catch fish for home consumption. 2. A bona fide homesteader or resident British subject may secure for five dollars a license to fish with not more than three hundred yards of gill net. 3. A resident British subject may secure for ten dollars a license to take fish with not more than six hundred yards of gill net. This license applies to the larger lakes and is good only for one season, either winter or summer, but not both. 4. A sturgeon license costing five dollars for commercial fishing permits the use of five hundred yards of gill net or five hundred baited hooks. A sturgeon license for domestic fishing and costing five dollars permits the use of not more than one hundred yards of gill net or fifty baited hooks. Only three sturgeon per week may be taken.

FURS

Alberta abounds in fur-bearing animals. It was the fur business which first attracted people of the Old World to Western Canada, including such companies as the Hudson's Bay Company, the North-west Fur Company and latterly Revillon Freres. The original practice was to establish trading posts for the collection of furs and the distribution of goods in exchange for furs. Most of the actual trapping is done by half-breeds and Indians. Edmonton was an important centre for the fur business in the old days and is still the most important fur emporium in Western Canada. The value of the fur output fluctuates greatly from year to year and prices fluctuate greatly also; but the value of the output may be conservatively estimated between two and three million dollars.

There are in the province a number of fox ranches. These in the first place furnish a good deal of breeding stock for fox enterprises in other parts of the Dominion. Latterly they have been carried on for the production of pelts. The number at present is about twenty. The business is not expanding to any extent.

The most numerous of the fur-bearing animals are the muskrat, fox, marten, otter, beaver, fisher and lynx. These animals are found chiefly in the northern part of the province, but the following animals of rather wider distribution furnish an important part of fur wealth: timber-wolf, prairie wolf, wolverine, black, brown and grizzly bear, weasel, skunk, badger and lynx.

Non-resident trappers are required to pay a license of $25.

GAME

Practically all the varieties of big game animals native to Western Canada, except buffalo and antelope, are found in the mountain parts of Alberta between the International Boundary and the headwaters of the Smoky River, approximately township 60. Different kinds, however, predominate in different sections. Mountain sheep and mountain goat are found in the neighborhood of Pincher Creek, Banff and Jasper. Banff and Jasper being in the Dominion Parks, hunting around these points is prohibited, but hunting parties start from these places for hunting grounds beyond the park boundaries. Deer are plentiful along the foothills from the International Boundary to the headwaters of the Athabasca River. East of the foothill country they are found in the wooded country on both sides of the North Saskatchewan River well over towards the Calgary and Edmonton railway. Moose are found in the same section as deer but are more plentiful in the heavy wooded lands of the central and north-central parts of the province. The moose country spreads both north-east and north-west from Edmonton. Caribou are found in the mountain areas north of Jasper Park and generally north of the Athabasca River. Antelope are found in the district lying to the south of Brooks on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway about one hundred miles east of Calgary.

Birds

Game birds are plentiful throughout the province. Wild ducks are found in all waters but are most plentiful on the prairie lakes and sloughs in the southern and central parts of the province. Geese are likewise widely distributed but are found principally in the north. They are plentiful on such lakes as Lesser Slave and Athabasca. Prairie chicken, or sharp-tailed grouse, are found in all parts of the province but are more plentiful in the brush country than on the prairie. Partridge, or ruffed grouse, are found in all the wooded parts of the province. Blue grouse and ptarmigan are found in the mountains and foothills. Hungarian partridge are plentiful in parts of Southern Alberta. They are naturalized and not native game birds.

The game regulations of 1919 prohibit the hunting of buffalo, elk or antelope at any time. Deer, moose, and caribou, limited to one in a season, can be hunted between November 1st and December 14th; ducks and geese, September 1st to December 14th; prairie chickens and partridge, October 1st to November 14th; Hungarian partridge, October.

Big game licenses cost—resident, $2.50; non-resident, $25; bird game licenses, non-resident, $5; resident, $2.25. Licenses are required likewise for guides, camp helpers, game dealers and market hunters.

Fish

The streams and lakes of the foothills of Southern Alberta and a few of the streams farther north are well stocked with trout and in some cases grayling, which furnish excellent sport and some supply of delicate food.

PARKS AND LAKE RESORTS

Parks

The Dominion Government has park reservations in Alberta to the extent of 4,357,660 acres. They are known as the Jasper, Rocky Mountain, Waterton Lakes, Buffalo, Elk Island and Antelope. They vary in size from 2,816,000 acres, which is the size of the Jasper reservation, to 5,020 in Antelope Park. The parks serve a variety of uses. Their chief value is their recreative and recuperative value and with this is associated the preservation of natural scenic attraction and of the flora and fauna. A number of the parks are big game preserves only, but all have a strong attraction for both citizens and tourists. Canada has a very large tourist traffic from the United States, Europe and to some extent the Orient.

Jasper Park is on the main line of the Canadian National Railways, a distance of about 240 miles west of Edmonton. It embraces a rich variety of river, lake, forest and mountain scenery. As yet it has not developed to any degree in tourist services but it offers wonderful attraction for visitors in its natural condition. Plans have been completed for a large hotel to be built by the Canadian National Railway next year. The park offers fine opportunities for sight-seeing amid romantic scenery. It is already very popular with campers who visit it for the fishing and for the enjoyment of short mountain trips. It is a game and forest preserve. Its mountain scenery is superb.

Rocky Mountain Park, of which Banff is the most interesting point, is situated about 80 miles west of Calgary. It has a greater diversity of grouped attractions than any other natural park on the continent. The scenery is unsurpassed. The accommodation for tourists is complete. The hotels are large and well appointed. There are hot springs of high restorative virtue for invalids. The sports of the district are excellent and a good deal of work has been done in the laying down of excellent roads by which the beauties of the park may be visited by motor. All the kinds of game in the province are found in the park either free or enclosed.

Buffalo Park at Wainwright is a game preserve and is not equipped for the accommodation of tourists. The park, which contains over a hundred thousand acres, was set apart chiefly for the buffalo herd which was purchased by the Dominion Government some years ago. The animals have increased rapidly and thrive well in the park and there are now nearly four thousand buffalo besides a number of elk.

Waterton Park contains 270,720 acres and is a park of very great beauty in the southwestern portion of the province. It is not situated on any of the large highways but is an important recreation ground for the people of Southern Alberta, particularly from such points as Lethbridge, Macleod, Pincher Creek, Cardston and other towns. It has excellent fishing and boating.

Elk Island, which is over 10,000 acres in extent, is situated near Lamont. It is a preserve for big game such as elk, moose, caribou, deer and a few buffalo. Antelope Park is situated in southeastern Alberta. It holds a small band of antelope.

Lake Resorts

In addition to the recreation furnished by the parks, the lakes of the province furnish fine opportunities for pleasure-seekers and for men, women and children in need of wholesome rest and repair. A number of these are favorably situated for railway transportation and have already developed the atmosphere of real holiday places for the people of the province.

Gull Lake is one of the most popular of these. It is situated about seven miles from the flourishing town of Lacombe in the midst of beautiful, rolling, agricultural land. It is about twenty-five miles long and ten miles wide. It is reached from the line of the Calgary and Edmonton Railway by the Blind Man Valley Railroad which runs west from Lacombe. It has a fine beach and attractive tree growth. It is frequented each year by visitors from Calgary, Edmonton and other towns. Buffalo Lake is a smaller body of water east of Lacombe and a few miles from Stettler. It is becoming very popular. Sylvan Lake is a popular resort near Red Deer. It furnishes fine bathing and boating and is set in beautiful surroundings. Lake Wabamun is a popular resort about forty miles west of Edmonton. It has a good beach and is protected by fine sheltering forests of poplar and spruce on the north side and affords excellent bathing, fishing and boating. It may be reached by an excellent motor highway as well as by rail. It is well built up with summer cottages of attractive appearance. Alberta Beach is another lake resort of a similar kind to Wabamun. It is some distance west of Edmonton on Lac Ste. Anne. Cooking Lake is twenty-five miles east of Edmonton. It is a large body of water with a number of picturesque islands. It is a favorite week-end resort for the people of Edmonton and has a number of attractive cottages.

Lac La Biche is a very attractive lake in the north country on a branch of the Great Waterways Railway. It is one of the most beautiful sheets of water in the province. It has a good beach, numerous islands, and excellent fishing. It will develop in the future into a fine resort. Pigeon Lake is west of Wetaskiwin.

Many of the other lakes of the province only await the development of the country about them to answer the same recreative value as the ones already mentioned.

TRANSPORTATION AND COMMUNICATION

Railways

The Province of Alberta is well served with railways, roads and means of communication. The main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway crossed the province in 1885, going by way of Calgary and the Kicking Horse Pass. Since that time the Crow's Nest Pass section has been built. A north and south line connects Macleod and Edmonton through Calgary. A line from Moose Jaw joins this north and south line at Lacombe. Another line connects Winnipeg with Edmonton by way of Saskatoon. Canadian Pacific connection is likewise established with Great Falls, Montana, and a line connecting Lethbridge with Weyburn is about completed.

The Canadian National Railways, formerly the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific, cross the province through Edmonton. A section of the Canadian National also connects Saskatoon with Calgary and a branch of the Alberta and Great Waterways reaches to Fort McMurray on the Lower Athabasca from Edmonton. The two lines of the Canadian National Railways have north and south lines connecting Calgary and Edmonton, and all of the three great transcontinental lines, besides the divisions and sections already referred to, have a great number of branch and stub lines into agricultural and mineral areas in different parts of the province. The Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway now operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway, runs from Edmonton to Spirit River, serving the country on the south side of the Peace. This road is projected into British Columbia and will ultimately give coast connection to the Peace River country by linking up with British Columbia lines. At the town of McLennan a branch of the Central Canada Railway runs north to Peace River which it crosses by a modern railway and traffic bridge and opens out for settlement a vast agricultural area to the north and west.

The Government of the province has followed a vigorous policy in the increasing of railway services by guaranteeing the bonds of developmental lines within the province. This policy has made possible the opening of the Peace River country and has had a good deal to do with developing the mineral wealth in new fields, particularly in the centre and north of the province.

Roads

The province has always been active in the furnishing of means for the settler to market his products and get his children to school. Alberta is not well supplied with road-making material. Where beds of gravel occur the material has to be hauled by railway for long distances and in some cases dredged from the river bottoms, but dirt roads of as good a kind as can be made are built throughout all of the settlements. Some benefit is expected to be derived from the use of bitumen obtained from the tar sands of the Athabasca country in surfacing roads, but this will probably apply only to city roads which have a good concrete foundation.

Peace River Bridge—A Road to the New North

The rural survey provides for roads a mile apart running north and south and two miles apart running east and west, that is, the land unit regularly enclosed by roads is a mile wide from east to west and two miles long from north to south. In addition to providing local road services the Department of Public Works is developing main traffic highways which are part of a Dominion highways service. District and local feeders are developed from these. Four of these main lines cross the province from east to west; one entering at Medicine Hat follows the general route of the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway through Calgary and Banff to British Columbia; another follows the Crow's Nest Pass; the others reach the interior of the province at Lacombe, Wetaskiwin and Edmonton. A north and south line runs from Athabasca through Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge to Coumts on the international boundary. These roads will be specially developed in order to carry liberal traffic.

Telephones

The government owns the general telephone system of the province. Long distance lines extend from Coumts to Athabasca and from points on the eastern side of the province to Banff and Entwistle, giving a service to an area estimated at 75,000 square miles, and serving a population of about 500,000 people. The policy of the Government is to make this channel of ready intercourse one of the early services established in behalf of new settlers even though the cost of the service per capita must necessarily be rather high where population is sparse. The telephone is doing away with the isolation and inconvenience in case of sickness and trouble in new settlements. There are in operation to-day 20,000 miles of long distance lines. There are 449 toll offices and exchanges, giving service to nearly 1000 cities, towns and hamlets. There are in the province 35,420 telephones and service stations, 11,019 of which are in farmers' homes. The total pay roll staff of the telephone system of the province is about 800.

Telegraph

The telegraph service of the province has developed with the railways, and is in most cases owned by the railways. The Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways have telegraph lines, and the Dominion Government operates a line into the Peace River country.

GOVERNMENT

The people of the Province of Alberta have for their government three sets of institutions which may be described as federal, provincial, and municipal. The federal and provincial institutions are modelled in form and spirit after the government of Great Britain itself. Nominally Great Britain is ruled by the King, but the carrying on of government is by representatives elected by the people. In the Dominion Parliament the sovereign is represented by the Governor-General and in the Provincial Legislature by the Lieutenant-Governor. In the Dominion Parliament there are two Houses; the House of Commons and the Senate, corresponding to the House of Commons and the House of Lords in the Imperial Parliament. In the Provincial Legislature there is only one legislative body, which is called the Legislative Assembly. In all three systems the actual work of administration is carried on by a committee from the chief legislative body itself, which is called the Cabinet, the government of the day or the Executive Council.

Dominion and Provincial Governments

The constitution under which both federal and provincial governments are working is established by The British North America Act which was passed in 1867. While it is right to say that our systems are modelled after that of Great Britain, in the case of governments in Canada the functions of government are divided between the federal and provincial bodies. On account of the system under which the province is working, it is necessary to set out the division of authority between these two bodies. The division depends generally on whether subjects are of general character and incidence or are of local nature.

The following matters are assigned to the Dominion Government: public debt and property; trade and commerce; the raising of money by any mode or system of taxation; the borrowing of money on the public credit; postal service; census and statistics; militia; military and naval service and defence; salaries and allowances of civil and other officers of the government; beacons, buoys and lighthouses; navigation and shipping, quarantine and marine hospitals; fisheries; ferries between provinces and other countries; currency and coinage; banking, savings banks; weights and measures; bills of exchange and promissory notes; interest; legal tender; bankruptcy and insolvency; patents of discovery and invention; copyrights; Indians and Indian lands; public lands; minerals, timber, fisheries and water power; naturalization; marriage and divorce; criminal law; procedure; penitentiaries.

The provincial government has control of: amendments to the provincial constitution except in relation to the office of Lieutenant-Governor; direct taxation for provincial purposes; the borrowing of money on the credit of the province; the establishment of provincial offices and payment of officers; the establishment, management and support of provincial prisons, and reformatories; the establishment, management and support of hospitals, asylums and charitable institutions within the province; municipal institutions in the province; shop, saloon, tavern, auctioneer and other licenses; local works except such lines as steam or other ships, railways, canals; telegraphs and other works connecting with other provinces and countries; the incorporation of companies with provincial objects, the solemnizing of marriage in the province; education, property and civil rights in the province; the administration of justice in the province; provincial courts and procedure; the enforcing of law relating to any matter within the control of the province; other matters of a local nature.

The provinces and Dominion have concurrent jurisdiction in agriculture and to some extent in immigration. It has been recently established that the provincial courts have power to grant divorces. Formerly this office was deemed to belong exclusively to the Senate of the Dominion. Education, though a provincial subject, appears to be developing to some extent as a federal interest. This arises from the larger part that science plays in the industries and generally from the progressive realization of the increasing importance of principles and ideas underlying all kinds of productive and industrial processes. The development of the Dominion interest of trade and commerce, for example, cannot be promoted apart from the exercise of intelligent direction of the processes by which commodities or articles of commerce are produced. While the Federal Government does not control schools or establish schools in the provinces it gives aid to both agricultural and technical education and the fact that the Federal Government prescribes how money shall be applied results in some effective direction or at least encouragement of education.

At the time of the passing of The British North America Act only the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were included in the union. Other provinces are admitted by special Acts. In the case of Alberta and Saskatchewan, which became provinces in 1905, the provinces were not given control of public lands, school lands, mines, minerals, fish, timber and water power. The same is true of Manitoba.

The representation of the various provinces in the federal house is determined on the basis of population. By The British North America Act the number of representatives in the House of Commons is fixed at sixty-five for the Province of Quebec and for the other provinces the number is fixed on the basis of the relation of the population of each of these provinces to the population of the Province of Quebec, the number to be adjusted at the taking of each official census. The number of members in the House of Commons from Alberta is twelve and the number in the Senate five.

The Dominion Government has certain agents of its administration situated in the province; these include customs officers, agents for crown lands, timber and minerals. The government likewise has representatives from the fishery and forestry branches and from the agricultural department of the Dominion.

The Provincial System

The Lieutenant-Governor of the province is appointed by the Governor-General in Council, that is, the Dominion Cabinet. He holds office for five years and all Acts of the legislature to become law must receive his assent. He summons, prorogues and dissolves the Legislature and signs all orders in council, proclamations and appointments to office.

The Legislative Assembly of Alberta consists of fifty-eight members who secure office by election. The Assembly is elected for five years but may be dissolved before the completion of its term. Electors are male and female British subjects of one year's residence in the province and three months in the constituency.

The executive work of the Legislature is performed by the Executive Council, which is a committee consisting of the Premier and other members of the Assembly. The Premier is called by the Lieutenant-Governor and the other members of the council are selected by the Premier. The Premier is the recognized leader of the strongest party in the Assembly and the other members of the council are those best qualified to co-operate with him. The Executive Council is commonly described as the Government or Provincial Cabinet. The Executive Council retains office so long as it has the confidence of the Assembly. Its work is subdivided into departments, each of which is in charge of a member of the council called the minister for such department, though the Executive Council may include members who have not charge of departments, who are called ministers without portfolio. The chief minister or leader of a government is called the Prime Minister and President of the Council. The following departments are included in the organization of administrative work in the government of Alberta: The Department of the Attorney-General; the Department of the Provincial Secretary; the Department of the Provincial Treasurer; the Department of Agriculture; the Department of Education; the Department of Municipal Affairs; the Department of Health; the Department of Railways and Telephones, and the Department of Public Works.

The finances of the province are derived from subsidies from the Dominion Government, compensation for provincial lands, revenue from school lands, and from direct taxation and fees, taxes on corporations, increment, wild lands, educational and other taxes.

Judicature

The courts of the province are of two kinds, the Supreme Court of Alberta and the District Court of Alberta. The Supreme Court is the highest court in Alberta and its jurisdiction is not limited; the District Court is concerned with less important cases. There are nine judges of the Supreme Court, one of whom is called the Chief Justice. The judges are appointed and paid by the Dominion Government but the courts are supported by the province. The province is divided into judicial districts in each of which there is at least one district judge, a sheriff, a crown prosecutor and a clerk of the court. In addition to Supreme and District Courts there are courts presided over by magistrates and justices of the peace. The province is also divided into registration districts at the offices of which all chattel mortgages and lien notes are registered. All land is held under the Torrens system. The title to land is secured by registration in a Land Titles Office.

System of Survey

The land survey system of the province is simple and easily understood. The survey unit is the township which is six miles square. The building up of the survey is determined from the International Boundary for an east and west line and from the fourth meridian, which forms the eastern boundary of the province. From the fourth meridian the rows of townships running north and south are called ranges and are numbered from the meridian west, and the townships are numbered from the International Boundary north. The larger subdivisions of townships are sections, or square miles of land containing 640 acres. Each township thus contains 36 sections or 23,040 acres. The sections are numbered from the south-east corner westward in each township, the second tier being numbered from west to east and so on alternately throughout the six tiers. The sections are subdivided into quarters or 160-acre farms. These are described as the south-east, south-west, north-west and north-east corners. Roads are sixty-six feet wide and there are six roads running north and south in each township, but only three running east and west.

An apparent variation in the regular survey occurs to meet the converging of conventional meridian lines towards the north. To overcome the contraction in width due to north and south lines not being parallel, base lines are run west from the principal meridians every twenty-four miles. Township lines are run north and south for twelve miles at points six miles apart on the base lines. North-going lines necessarily converge and south-going lines diverge with the result that jogs occur in north and south roads along the lines midway between the base lines. The lines on which these adjustments appear are called correction lines. As they alternate with the base lines they are also twenty-four miles apart.

On account of the barriers offered by many of the rivers, or for the sake of convenience in the case of practically all the rivers of the province, the conventional square survey is varied by the arranging of river lots running in their longest dimension from the river fronts. These vary in size according to topography.

Municipal Government

There are four kinds of communities or bodies for which municipal government services are required. There are cities, towns, villages, municipal districts and improved districts. There are six cities in the province. The governing body of a city consists of a mayor, and aldermen, but the method of carrying on the administration of cities varies. Each city works under a charter of its own. The governing body of a town consists of a mayor and six councillors, and of a village a reeve and three councillors. Towns and villages are governed by The Towns Act and Village Act respectively.

Municipal districts are organized by the Department of Municipal Affairs on petition of resident electors of the proposed municipal district. The governing body of a municipal district consists of six elected councillors. The person selected as chairman is called the reeve. Municipal districts are commonly eighteen miles square. Unorganized units of the same size, and which will ultimately become municipal districts, are called improvement districts. The affairs of such districts are administered by the several departments of the government.

Population

The population of Alberta has always been dominantly English-speaking. Of the total population of 496,525 under the 1916 census the English-speaking classes included Canadian-born, born in the British Isles, born in the British possessions and made a total of 329,494. In addition to these there were 91,674 people from the United States, all of whom are English-speaking and most of whom are of British origin, many of them being repatriated Canadians. Including these with the other English-speaking inhabitants the total percentage of English-speaking inhabitants would read 84.84. The figures are given below:

At the last regular census the rural population was 307,776, nearly 62 per cent., and the urban population 188,749. The present population is estimated at 625,000.

EDUCATION

Alberta shares with the other western provinces the fraternal and philanthropic spirit which finds expression in liberal public services in such matters as schools, churches and hospitals. Educational institutions have been an important care of the province at all times. The common features of the general system of education represented in elementary, secondary and college institutions constitute the basis of educational work. Besides this there are normal schools, technical schools, a technical institute and agricultural schools, directed and liberally supported by the province, besides the usual private, commercial and boarding schools for boys and girls found in the cities.

The elementary schools are maintained in a satisfactory state of efficiency. Country schools are liberally supported and new schools receive special support. Schools may be established in settlements with four resident ratepayers and eight children between the ages of five and sixteen. Attendance up to the age of fifteen is strictly enforced. The minimum salary for country teachers is fixed by the Government at $840 per year. Provision is made for the erection of teachers' residences by public funds which gives permanency in the tenure of teachers. Consolidation is making rapid progress in the province. There are over fifty consolidations at present organized, and some of these already offer the best type of training for boys and girls represented in a couple of years of general high school work besides useful courses in agriculture, manual training and domestic science for those who are returning to the farms. These schools likewise furnish centres for activities of men's and women's organizations for social, patriotic, religious and literary gatherings. The interests of minorities are respected in the provision of separate schools, but they are subject to state inspection and to the carrying on of the same curriculum by teachers of the same qualifications and training as those employed in the public schools. Private schools are also inspected.

The cities and towns and many of the villages have high school services which are available without fees to country as well as town pupils. In the cities a good class of technical training is provided for by the city boards under the same direction by the central Department of Education as the general courses of the schools. The department encourages the practical and vocational sides of education by paying special grants for this class of work in both town and country. The high schools provide training for matriculation, for teaching, and in case of the larger cities, for commercial and mechanical occupations. There are three normal schools in the province, at Ed-

Edmonton, Calgary and Camrose, which provide an eight months' course in the professional training of teachers. This professional training is further supplemented by institutes, conventions and summer schools. The Department of Education is charged with the care of mentally defective children and a large institution with a farm of one thousand acres is being established for this purpose near Edmonton. Prominence is given to agricultural teaching in the elementary school. All high school students preparing for teaching are obliged to take agriculture in the high schools.

In the year 1918 of the total 5,652 teachers employed in the schools males numbered 1,090 or nearly twenty per cent. The average salary of male teachers was $1,066.50 and of females $876.44. The growth of the schools is shown in the progress of organization of new schools and the progress of school enrolment over a period of ten years:

The University of Alberta is situated in Edmonton South. It opened with 37 students in 1908 but at the close of 1919 had a registration of over a thousand. The work of the university is organized into the following faculties: arts and sciences; applied science; medicine, law and agriculture. In addition to these regularly organized faculties the university conducts a school of pharmacy, school of accountancy and gives the first two years' instruction in dentistry. A number of denominational colleges are affiliated with the university. The land at the university includes 600 acres, 400 of which is devoted to the work of the faculty of agriculture. The university is doing important work in the re-education of returned men.

The Department of Agriculture directs the teaching of agriculture in special schools for farm boys and girls. These schools are six in number and provide courses in crops and cultivation, live stock husbandry, dairying, farm mechanics, horticulture and poultry, besides science work related to agriculture, also English, mathematics, civics, farm management, rural economics, and rural organization for women. These schools are situated at Vermilion, Olds, Claresholm, Raymond, Gleichen and Youngstown and with each of the schools is an institutional farm which furnishes opportunity for the study of rotations, farm equipment and management, care of live stock and the judging of live stock. In addition to the farms associated with the schools there are a number of other provincial demonstration farms.

In addition to the courses and regular terms at the Schools of Agriculture short courses for farmers are frequently put on. Summer excursions are also arranged to the farms. Recently the schools have been serving an important use in the retraining of ex-service men. One of the schools is at present given over to this work. It has been arranged that summer courses, which will embrace instruction in the practice of Alberta agriculture, will be given for a period of five months to boys and young men from Great Britain who are preparing to go on the land. These courses will consist of half time in instruction and half time in farm occupations on the institutional farms connected with the schools.

The Dominion Government has experimental farms at Lacombe and Lethbridge and a number of sub-stations in the northern part of the province at such points as Beaver Lodge, Fort Vermilion, Grouard and Fort Smith.

Farm Land Prices

It is possible to secure Alberta farm lands at prices that are reasonable either for actual farming, for investment, or for profit in both ways. The heavy yielding virgin land of Alberta will give good profits in crops and live stock and at present is due for a steady increase in value.

Alberta land did not increase in price up to its earning capacity during the war. The country was short of labor before the war and help was still shorter during the war on account of heavy enlistment. There were no accessions of people or capital during the war. In the United States land advanced in price rapidly during the war in measure with the returns it

The average price of Alberta plough land is probably about a third of the price of United States lands.

In addition to a reasonable average price the prices for the best lands are still lower relatively. Iowa land for example is worth $169 per acre and Illinois $144 on the average, with some of it as high as $400 or $450 per acre. The same difference obtains be-gave under war prices because the profitable plough land is practically all occupied. In Alberta only fifty per cent. of the plough land has been alienated. The amount of land still unoccupied prevents a sensitive sharpening of prices to any great extent on the occupied lands. Land business in the United States is vitalized by the fact of the whole of the land having gone into use, and it has been increasing in value year by year. An idea of the advance in prices may be had from the following table of average prices:

1917.....	62.17
1918.....	68.88
1919.....	74.81

tween Alberta lands and Old Country lands. Good land can be owned in Alberta for the yearly price that good land can be leased in the United States and Great Britain. Unbroken land can be had at from $20 to $40 and occupied land at from $25 to $75 according to the degree of improvement. Raw irrigable lands are obtainable at from $50 to $75 and improved irrigable lands at from $75 to $125. It is generally possible to purchase land from private owners on terms of four or five years. Corporation lands can be secured on still easier terms—in some cases extending over a period of twenty years with loans furnished by the companies for the same period at low interest.

Grain

Alberta enjoys the best possible facilities for marketing grain. The grain trade is regulated by The Grain Act which provides against abuses in marketing. Grain is sold to grades established by law and which are set up by government inspectors. There are over five hundred elevators in the province, one hundred and forty-six of which are owned by the farmers, and the grain is handled through these and other elevators. All grain dealers work under license and are bonded, which insures the farmer against loss by either dishonesty or insolvency on the part of the dealer.

The farmer may deliver his wheat at the elevator for cash, or if he prefers to hold it for a time with the prospect of obtaining a better price he may store it in the elevator and secure a storage ticket denominating the quantity and the grade. Then he can sell when the market suits him. If he desires to ship his grain directly the law provides for a loading platform at every station in order that farmers may have facilities for loading direct from their wagons into the cars.

Live Stock

Conditions for marketing live stock are satisfactory. The conducting of stockyards is regulated by The Live Stock and Live Stock Products Act. The markets available to producers are the large central stockyards at Edmonton and Calgary, the yards of the packing plants in these places, and the market made by travelling drovers and dealers. In the past drovers have to a considerable extent controlled prices in outside districts, but this is not possible now. The producers are organized into live stock shipping associations that conduct their own business through a managing secretary. Stock is collected and shipped on set dates to commission firms at the central stockyards, where selling is made under competitive conditions. Shipping associations are frequently organizations of the Grain Growers or United Farmers' Associations.

The business of the central stockyards is subject to close regulation by the Dominion Government with respect to equipment, officers, scales, water, etc., with respect to the handling of stock, and also with respect to correctness of returns for stock sold by members of a commission firm or live stock exchange.

The Dominion Government is fostering the saving of female cattle stock by providing, in conjunction with the railway companies, for free transportation of females under two years bought at the stockyards by bona fide farmers. Railway transportation, and other expenses also, are paid to purchasers of such stock. The same arrangement applies to ewe stock under four years old. Shipments must consist of forty ewes or twenty cattle. Under this regulation some thousands of cattle have gone to the Peace River country from the Edmonton markets.

Produce

Butter-marketing receives government care. The Provincial Dairy Commissioner is equipped to make advances on consignments of butter to the cold storage warehouse of the Department of Agriculture at Calgary, and holds or releases the product to suit the conditions of the market. All butter is graded and the grades, which are fixed by The Dairymen's Act, are established with the trade at both outside and local centres. The Commissioner will give grading at both Calgary and Edmonton to all samples of butter submitted.

The Department of Agriculture also conducts an egg and poultry marketing service. This service may be taken advantage of by individual farmers, or other producers, or by groups of farmers or associations. Eggs are graded and sold, and returns made to shippers—advances being made at the time eggs are received.

Organization of Rural Credit

The Government of the Province of Alberta has organized the financial resources of the country and has a number of Acts for this purpose.

The Alberta Co-operative Credit Act provides for the organization of societies of thirty farmers into associations for the furnishing and guaranteeing of loans to members. The Treasury Department of the Government undertakes the guarantee equally with the municipality in which the loan association is formed. Each member of the association subscribes $100. Officers are elected and arrangements made with the banks to loan money to borrowers on notes endorsed by the society. The purposes for which the loan may be made are the purchase of live stock, of seed grain, feed, implements, or the payment of the cost of the season's operations. The loan runs for a period of one year. The rate of interest is subject to arrangement but is usually about 6%. The society holds a lien on live stock or other property purchased with the money borrowed. A number of these societies have already been organized and eight of them are in operation.

The Live Stock Encouragement Act, popularly called "The Cow Bill," is an Act passed to enable homesteaders and other settlers to secure cows, and the loans secured under this Act are limited to this purchase. Five or more farmers may form an association to secure loans. The loans may not exceed $500 to each member. The Act is administered by the Live Stock Commissioner who determines the amount of loan to each member and through his inspectors protects the interests of the government in the live stock. The loan runs for a period of five years at 6% interest, the interest being payable yearly. Each member of the association pays $1 to defray clerical expense. The Provincial Treasurer guarantees the loan. The live stock is marked with a government brand and can only be disposed of with the consent of the Live Stock Commissioner. A part of the loan may be used for the co-operative owning of a purebred bull. The sum of a million and a half dollars has already been guaranteed by the government for loans to settlers under The Live Stock Encouragement Act. Several hundred associations have been organized under this Act.

Services in Behalf of Health

A sense of the fundamental importance of the health of the public has found expression in a vigorous and constructive policy on the part of the government in relation to health. The importance of the interest has been recognized by having in the government a Minister of Health. A deputy minister of health directs the activities of the branches into which the work is organized, such as hospitals, child welfare, school inspection and sanitation. There is also a provincial officer of health.

The government gives aid to forty-eight hospitals already established in towns and cities and recently provision has been made to furnish hospital services to the whole rural people in the same general way as public school services are provided. Under The Municipal Hospitals Act the lands of rural communities are made the basis of support of local municipal hospitals through general taxation. Hospital accommodation is free to all residents of the municipality or municipalities voluntarily establishing hospital districts and establishing hospital services. A considerable number of these districts have already been organized and hospitals have been built in seven of them.

Specially trained school nurses have been set to work in rural districts to make general diagnosis of the condition of pupils who are poor in health or who are suffering from curable defects. Parents are advised by personal visit of nurses of the kind of care the child requires. This service is chiefly for country children. It is already established practice for school boards in towns and cities to provide such inspection under powers conferred by The School Act. Where this has not been done government nurses carry out inspection.

A Board of Health deals chiefly with questions of sanitation, sewer and water services and the control of epidemics in cities, towns and villages directly through its staff of inspectors or indirectly through local health boards.

An institution for the care of tubercular patients to a capacity of one hundred and seventy-five, to be increased to two hundred and fifty, is being provided jointly by the provincial and federal governments. Special district nurses tour the province in educational and follow-up work. There are two hospitals for the insane in the province.

Rural Organizations

vince by associations of farmers some years ago by guaranteeing most of the cost of erecting these elevators, and the organization of farmers has made rapid progress since that time. There are in Alberta a number of organizations of both farmers and farm women for different types of effort. The United Farmers of Alberta is the name of an organization of men who have formed themselves into associations principally for the purpose of buying and selling to advantage. Associations of United Farmers ship and sell their live stock in car lots, and they purchase in car lots also supplies of heavy commodities needed on the farm, such as posts, wire, lumber, flour, fruit, groceries, implements and binder twine. The United Farm Women are organized generally for the carrying on of benevolent and patriotic work. Both these associations are voluntary associations.

The Women's Institute branch is one of the administrative offices of the Department of Agriculture. It carries on active work among both farm and town women. The purposes of the institutes are the development of good home-making by the teaching of sewing, cooking, nursing and sanitation by courses of instruction and demonstration; the improvement of educational conditions and of the care of children; the carrying on of patriotic and charitable work and the promoting of social intercourse. In addition to the Women's Institutes the branch also organizes Girls' Clubs. These clubs receive direction and assistance in useful activities.

Agricultural Societies

Another important kind of organization is the agricultural society. There are ninety-three of these in the province holding annual fairs. In addition to holding fairs it is the work of the associations to hold seed fairs, ploughing matches, field grain competitions, improving meetings and other meetings for the carrying out of co-operative action. There are four exhibition associations which have charge of the fair work in the cities. These associations work in close relation to the interests of the country. They encourage the exhibition of good live stock, agricultural, horticultural, and industrial products. An important development of fair work at present is the school fair which is carried on by the Department of Agriculture with the co-operation of the Department of Education.

District agents are employed by the Department of Agriculture to give assistance to the people of the farms in the solving of their problems. They take an active part in organizing the school fairs. Live stock features are becoming an important interest in the school fair work.

Labor

There is a steady demand for reliable labor. The farms, homes, mines, and lumber camps are generally short of help. On the farms good wages can be had, especially for the summer half of the year. Seventy-five dollars per month and board is common. Winter employment on the farms is not so greatly needed as summer work. The lumber and tie camps furnish good winter work. Mining is developing rapidly. In 1918 Alberta led the provinces of the Dominion in coal production and markets are extending. Many homesteaders work in the mines in winter.

Domestic help is scarce in Alberta and monthly wages from $25 to $50 can be had for help ranging from plain servants to housekeepers.

Homestead Regulations

All surveyed agricultural Dominion lands, except school land and Hudson's Bay Company's land which are not disposed of and not reserved or occupied, are open to homestead entry. At present lands within fifteen miles of a railway are reserved for Soldier Settlement. School lands and Hudson's Bay Company's lands are regularly allotted in each township. School lands are sections 11 and 29 in each township, and Hudson's Bay Company's lands are sections 8 and the south half and the north-west quarter of section 26 in each township south of the North Saskatchewan River, but in every fifth township the Hudson's Bay Company has the whole of section 26. The entry for homestead does not include the mineral or water rights.

Subject to certain exceptions, every person who is the sole head of a family and every male who has attained the age of eighteen years and is a British subject, or declares his intention to become a British subject, is entitled to obtain entry for a homestead consisting of one quarter section of land, on payment of an entry fee of ten dollars. A widow having minor children of her own to support may make entry as the sole head of a family. A widow cannot make entry after re-marriage.

An order in council of December 14th, 1916, provides that no application for an entry for a homestead shall be granted unless the person making application was at the commencement of the late war, and has since continued to be, a British subject or a subject of a country which was an ally of His Majesty in the late war, or a subject of a neutral country, and unless he establishes the same to the satisfaction of the Minister of the Interior.

Entries are made for lands to the land agencies or sub-agencies in the district in which the lands are situated. The securing of a homestead in any part of the Dominion exhausts the right of the settler for homesteading. Application for entry must be made in person, except in the case of one member of a family applying for another.

A homesteader is required to perform certain duties in order to entitle him to finally receive his patent on land. He is required to live six months in each year on his land in a habitable house for three years. Residence duties cannot be performed by proxy. Homestead duties must be completed within three years from the date of entry. A homesteader may perform his duties if he lives not more than nine miles away on a farm of not less than eighty acres, owned solely by him, without being obliged to live on the homestead, or he may perform his homestead duties while living with relatives on owned land of not less than eighty acres in the vicinity of the homestead. A homesteader is required to bring under cultivation in the first three years not less than thirty acres of land, twenty of which must be cropped. When not residing on the land fifty acres must be broken, thirty of which must be cropped.

Where land is not suited to cultivation homestead duties may be satisfied by the running of stock on such land to the number of five head the first year, ten head the second year and sixteen head the third year. Ten sheep or ten hogs are the equivalent of one head of large stock. Buildings for the accommodation of stock must be erected and the whole of the land fenced. No patent shall be granted for a homestead until inspection has been made and a report filed with the Department of the Interior showing that the regulations have been complied with. The privilege of pre-emption of land and also of homestead purchase has been withdrawn.

Leases

Grazing leases on vacant Dominion lands unfit for agricultural purposes in Alberta may be secured by British subjects and running for a period of ten years. Tenure shall be free from interruption during the period of the lease. Grazing leases may be granted on vacant lands irrespective of the quality of the soil located over forty miles from the railway, but subject to withdrawal on a year's notice. The size of a lease is limited to 12,000 acres. Rent is four cents per acre payable half-yearly in advance. Grazing leases may be secured on school lands also in Alberta at four cents per acre. In all leases the lessee is obliged to make statutory declaration of owning the amount of stock required by the regulations. Leases on school lands run only for one year.

Customs Regulations

A settler may bring into Canada, free of duty, live stock for the farm on the following basis, if he has actually owned such live stock abroad for at least six months before his removal to Canada, and has brought them into Canada within one year after his arrival, viz.: If horses only are brought in, 16 allowed; if cattle are brought in, 16 allowed; if sheep are brought in, 160 allowed; if swine are brought in, 160 allowed. If horses, cattle, sheep and swine are brought in together, or part of each, the same proportions as above are to be observed.

Duty is to be paid on live stock in excess of the number for which provision is made as above. For customs entry purposes a mare with a colt under six months old is to be reckoned as one animal; a cow with a calf under six months old is also to be reckoned as one animal. Cattle and other live stock imported into Canada are subject to quarantine regulations.

The following articles have free entry:

Settlers' effects, frge, viz.: Wearing apparel, household furniture, books, implements and tools of trade, occupation or employment; guns, musical instruments, domestic sewing machines, typewriters, live stock, bicycles, vehicles, tractors valued at $1,400 or less until further notice admitted free of duty, and agricultural implements in use by the settler for at least six months before his removal to Canada, not to include machinery or articles imported for use in any manufacturing establishment or for sale; also books, pictures, family plate, furniture, personal effects and heirlooms left by bequest provided that any dutiable articles entered as settlers' effects may not be so entered unless brought with the settler on his first arrival, and shall not be sold or otherwise disposed of without payment of duty until after twelve months' actual use in Canada.

The settler will be required to take oath that all of the articles have been owned by himself or herself for at least six months before removal to Canada; that none have been imported as merchandise, for use in a manufacturing establishment or as a contractor's outfit, or for sale; that he or she intends becoming a permanent settler within the Dominion of Canada and that the live stock enumerated is intended for his or her own use on the farm which he or she is about to occupy (or cultivate), and not for sale or speculative purposes, nor for the use of any other person or persons.

Freight Regulations

Carload shipments of farm settlers' effects must consist of the following described property of an actual farm settler, when shipped by and consigned to the same person.

Household goods and personal effects, all second-hand, and may include:

Agricultural implements and farm vehicles, all second-hand (will not include automobiles).

Live stock, not exceeding a total of ten head, consisting of horses, mules, cows, helpers, calves, oxen, sheep, or hogs (from Eastern Canada not more than six head of horses and mules may be included in a car of farm settlers' effects).

Lumber and shingles (pine, hemlock, spruce, or basswood), which must not exceed 2,500 feet in all, or the equivalent thereof, or in lieu of (not in addition to) the lumber and shingles, a portable house, knocked down, may be shipped.

Seed grain, trees or shrubbery. The quantity of seed grain must not exceed the following weight: Wheat, 4,500 pounds; oats, 3,400 pounds; barley, 4,800 pounds; flax seed, 400 pounds. From points in Western States, 1,400 pounds of seed corn may be included.

Live poultry.—Small lots only.

Feed, sufficient for feeding the live stock while on the journey.

Live Stock.—Should a settler wish to ship more than ten head of live stock, as per Rule 1, in a car, the additional animals will be charged for at the less-than-carload live stock rate, at estimated weights as per Canadian Freight Classification, but the total charge for the car will not exceed the rate for a straight carload of live stock.

When live stock forms part of the shipment, the usual live stock form of contract must be signed. Shipper must show on the live stock contract the numbers of head of each kind of stock loaded in car. Agents will require attendants to affix their signatures in blank space provided for same on face of Live Stock Contract.

Passes.—One man will be passed free in charge of full carloads of settlers' effects containing live stock, to feed, water, and care for them in transit, subject to conditions specified in the Canadian Freight Classification. No reduced return transportation will be given.

Top Loads.—Agents do not permit, under any circumstances, any article to be loaded on the top of box or stock cars; such manner of loading is dangerous and absolutely forbidden.

Settlers' effects, to be entitled to the car load rates, cannot be stopped at any point short of destination for the purpose of unloading part. The entire carload must go through to the station to which originally consigned.

The carload rates on farm settlers' effects are based on minimum weight per car, of: From points north of St. Paul or Duluth, 24,000 pounds; north of Chicago, Kansas City or Omaha to Duluth or St. Paul, 20,000 pounds; south and east of Chicago, 12,000 pounds. Additional weight will be charged at proportionate rate.

From points south and east of Chicago, only five horses or head of live stock are allowed in any one carload. Any number over five will be charged extra.

Department of Railways and Telephones.

The portfolio of this Department is held by the Prime Minister of the Province who, at the present time, is the Honourable Charles Stewart. Reporting to the Minister and in charge of the entire Department is the Deputy Minister, Mr. Norman L. Harvey, while for administrative purposes the Department is again sub-divided into the Railways Branch and the Telephones Branch. The senior official of the Railways Branch is Mr. H. A. Warner, Provincial Railway Engineer, and of the Telephones Branch, Mr. W. R. Pearce, General Superintendent.

The work of the Railways Branch comprises the administration of the Provincial Railway Act in so far as this is not covered by the Provincial Board of Public Utilities and the administration of the various Railway Guarantee Acts of the Province. Such guarantees have been executed to the present date to the extent of 2,657 miles in connection with the Canadian National Railways, Grand Trunk Pacific Branch Lines Railways, Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway, Central Canada Railway, Alberta and Great Waterways Railway and the Lacombe and North-Western Railway. Under these guarantees there were built to the end of 1919, 1,060 miles of railway, the total length of all railways in Alberta being at that date 4,650 miles. The Lacombe and North-Western Railway was formerly known as the Lacombe and Blindman Valley Electric Railway and is now owned and operated by the Government. It extends at the present time for a distance of 85 miles west of Lacombe, serving the towns of Bentley and Rimbey.

The Telephones Branch is charged with the construction and operation of the publicly owned telephone system of this Province which comprises all long distance lines and the great majority of rural lines and municipal systems. At the end of 1919 there were 449 exchanges and toll stations, 13,409 miles of pole line and 106,529 miles of wire owned and operated by the Telephones Branch and affording direct service to 35,420 subscribers of the Government system, while long distance service was given to a further 12,145 subscribers of other systems. A valuation made by an eminent consulting engineer during the past year gave the sum of $12,986,268.00 as representing the present value of the Alberta Government Telephone System.

NORMAN L. HARVEY,
Deputy Minister.

THE ALBERTA INSURANCE ACT

The administration of any Act requires a certain standard and must have some well defined policy. When the Alberta Insurance Act was placed upon the Statute books of the Province, R. L. Nicolson, as Deputy Superintendent, established the precedent that such an Act should be so administered as to afford ample protection both to the Assured and the Company duly registered to transact the business of insurance. Mr. Nicolson resigned from this position on the 31st day of December, 1919, and his successor, W. M. Seller, is carrying on the work as outlined by his predecessor during his six years in office.

Every company undertaking insurance within the province must be registered under the Alberta Insurance Act and is required to file with the Superintendent certain documents (as set forth in Section 9 of the said Act) in addition to the payment of the statutory tax.

Sections 18 to 31 of the Act set forth the requirements of companies in regard to the deposit of securities which must be lodged with the Treasurer before any issue of receipt or Certificate of Registration can be made.

The books and records of every insurance Corporation, stock or mutual, registered by the province and having its Head Office in Alberta, is subject to the inspection of the department at any time, and must be audited annually by an official Auditor or Chartered Accountant.

Each company is further required to complete the statement form supplied by the department and file same on or before the 1st of April each year. These statements are then checked, duly verified and form part of the annual report.

THE ALBERTA CO-OPERATIVE CREDIT ACT.

The organization of the members of a farming community into Societies under this Act is initiated by at least fifteen persons signing a petition addressed to the Provincial Government.

This petition sets forth their desire to form themselves into a Society and upon receipt of same, the Government issues a certificate of registration which gives them the necessary authority to complete their organization.

Loans are approved of and payment to a Lender guaranteed by the Directors on behalf of a Society. The Lender is further guaranteed against the loss by the province to an amount equal to one-half the capital stock of the Society and by the municipality (for an equal amount) to the same extent.

Extended terms of repayment are granted to allow ample time to reap the harvest, market the products and receive returns therefor.

The provisions, very briefly are as follows:

A Society must have thirty accredited members before starting operation, each member must subscribe at least $100.00 and makes a cash payment thereon of 20 per cent., giving his note for the balance.

The management of a Society is vested in a board of eight directors who exercise full control in the conduct of its affairs. Four members of the directorate are elected by the shareholders, two by the Government and two by the Municipality.

The administration of the Act is in charge of W. M. Seller, Supervisor Parliament Buildings, Edmonton, under the direction of Honourable C. R. Mitchell, Provincial Treasurer.

FIRE PREVENTION ACT

The Deputy Superintendent of Insurance of Alberta is also the Deputy Fire Commissioner for the province. On July 1st, 1919, the Fire Prevention Act was brought into active operation and as the year has just recently ended, statistics are not yet available showing the fire loss of the province.

The Department is starting this year a campaign of education by means of which they hope to reach every home in the province. They accepted and somewhat enlarged upon the suggestion of the Western Canada Mutual Fire Assurance Association to print and distribute a series of cards dealing with the prevention of fires, in short and pointed paragraphs. This propaganda is now available and ready for distribution.

In order to bring this question vividly to the attention of the public and secure their co-operation, the Deputy Fire Commissioner is making arrangements for a number of slides made from these cards to be thrown on the screen by operators of moving picture machines at every point in the province where such a business is carried on. It is the intention also to enlist the assistance of the press in the extension of this work by carrying, in print, the subject matter of these cards in their serial order.

The value of this educational work can only be measured in so far as we are able to impress its importance upon the coming generation, and with that object in view a competition is offered to the graded and ungraded schools to send essays on the subject of Fire Prevention to the office of the Deputy Fire Commissioner. An amount of $50.00 has been set aside for each grade to be expended in suitable awards and it is hoped the results will be gratifying to those interested in the elimination of the fire hazard and the better protection to the homes and business places in Alberta.

Department of Public Health

Prior to 1919 Public Health matters in Alberta were wholly under the Provincial Board of Health, but in 1919 a Department of Public Health was formed with a Minister of the Crown as Head of the Department.

The Provincial Board of Health, which is composed of the Provincial Medical Officer of Health, the Provincial Sanitary Engineer and the Provincial Bacteriologist, is included in the new Department of Public Health.

The Provincial Medical Officer of Health has the directing of the Provincial Medical Inspectors who are executive officers in respect to infectious diseases, etc.

The Sanitary Engineer has the directing of the Sanitary Inspectors. The appointment of these trained Sanitary Inspectors is a new departure, they having been appointed some two years ago. The nature of their work is implied in their designation.

The Provincial Laboratory examines water, blood, sputum, etc., free.

The Venereal Disease Branch has been initiated within the past year, the Superintendent being a man thoroughly trained for the work. Clinics have already been established in Edmonton and Calgary.

A Public Health Nursing Branch has also been recently established with a Superintendent and eight nurses. Among their duties is Child Welfare work, health inspection of schools etc. In the inspection of schools any cases requiring medical or dental attention are referred to Doctors or Dentists as the case may be. In addition to these Public Health Nurses, three District Nurses with Maternity training have been stationed at outlying points where there are no Doctors.

The Vital Statistics Branch is an important one, and recent changes in the Vital Statistics Act makes this Service much more efficient.

The Municipal Hospitals Branch is of recent formation and has as its object the forming of Hospital areas throughout the Province so as to give hospital service to the rural population to as large an extent as possible.

The Provincial Public Health Service in Alberta has thus undertaken in the last few years a very much enlarged and progressive program.

Deputy Minister of Health.

Population

The population of the Province in 1901 was 73,022; in 1911, 374,633; in 1916, 496,525 and in 1920, per wire to the publishers from R. H. Coats, Dominion Statistician, Ottawa, 580,000. This is very conservative as the estimate of the Alberta Government is 625,000.

From result of our survey of the Province in compilation of this directory we estimate the population as 615,000, embraced in six cities—Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Red Deer and Wetaskiwin, fifty-one towns, one hundred and eight villages and one hundred and sixty-eight municipal districts.

Motoring in Alberta.

By H. H. Newcomb, Secretary,

CALGARY AUTOMOBILE CLUB.

"See Alberta First" should be the slogan of every man who is a motorist. When he has seen Alberta, and knows something of his own province he is then prepared to travel into other parts. We say so because it is an unfortunate fact that so many people travel into other provinces, who are unable to say very much about the province from which they hail. We all know from experience, that a traveller from any other place is always asked about his town, city, or province. Be prepared with a first hand knowledge of what your province contains, one never knows how your little boost will help out. It is often the means of bringing in business that would otherwise never come, but for the information given at the time it is required.

Alberta is worth talking about, when we consider that it has an area of 255,285 square miles, and is larger than either France or Germany. Every motorist should travel into southern Alberta. It is an ideal ranching country. It used to be the winter home of the buffalo, and is now the region of large ranches. Around Calgary the rainfall is not sufficient for regular crops; it is an open, treeless prairie covered with wild grasses. At present, much of this ground is irrigated and bountiful crops are produced. The southeastern part of the province is valuable wheat land. The Alberta motorist should make some trips down through these portions of the province, and get acquainted with the activities in agriculture, ranching and the wonderful results obtained from the irrigated farms. He will find that in many cases horses and cattle run out all winter, unhoused and unfed. The prairie grass becomes self cured in the winds of the fall, and the country is ideal for ranching.

Away to the north of Calgary lies some wonderful country and some wonderful scenery. Not the bold charms of the mountain scenery to the west, but quiet pastoral scenes, where farm houses nestle in beautiful groves of trees, and the prairie rises and falls in gentle undulations, where every hill top reveals fresh beauties of nature.

The western trails out of Calgary are well known for their beauty. Here the happy traveller passes through one of the grandest panoramas of scenery to be found in the west; first through prairie; then on through the foothills; and on through the mountains to Banff, Alberta's own particular place of beauty. Being only 80 miles from Banff, it is within easy reach of the man with the car. In the mountains the visitor finds every sort of sport to his hand. Hunting, fishing, boating, climbing, riding and driving, to say nothing of the more strenuous exercise of mountain climbing. If he does not want to do any of these things, then he can just simply loaf, and at that can have a wonderful time. Every motorist should know Banff and its adjacent beauty spots; the visitor is not obliged to put up at hotel or boarding house, though there is accommodation there for every class, but can just pitch his own tent, revel in the novel glories of real camp life, and have the time of his life.

Alberta, too, is a paradise for fishermen. A run of an hour or two will bring him to fishing grounds that will yield, with any ordinary good luck, enough fish to last him for a week. Fishermen leave Calgary late in the afternoon in their cars and are back in the city before ten o'clock, laden down with Dolly Varden trout, Brook trout, or Cut-throat trout. Some go even farther afield for week-end trips, and spend a grand time in a couple of days camping.

The kodaker is never at a loss in Alberta for compiling an album of snapshots of all the many and varied scenes of beauty. One generally finds, in family cars, there is always one member of the party with a camera, and the collection of pictures so obtained adds to the pleasure, not only of the trip itself, but to the after years, when one looks over the album containing the pictured story of a happy family holiday.

With the aid of a map and a log book,

Automobile Roads of Central Alberta

Automobile Roads of Southern Alberta

Automobile Roads of Northern Alberta

there is plenty of pleasure in motoring in Alberta. We would urge every motorist, especially those who have not long had cars, to make enough trips throughout the province to give him some idea as to what we have here. See the beauties for yourself, enjoy them for yourself, and picture them for yourself. The poor pen of the writer can merely intimate something of the sweetness and joy that is to be found in the roads and by-paths of Alberta; it is for you to find them for yourself.

The accompanying maps convey an idea of the vast mileage that may be covered throughout the Province, while more definite information is to be obtained from the auto clubs in each city and from road maps at stationers.

This is a well-timbered country and the advantages far exceed that of the prairie as a farming land because all fuel, fence posts, etc., do not have to be hauled any distance and the trees serve as a wind break. Crop failures have never been known here and the wheat and oats are of the highest quality. It is a common thing for oats to average 100 bushels and wheat 60 bushels to the acre. A few shallow wells have been sunk here and gas has been found but not in commercial quantities. Evidences of crude oil are plentiful, such as oil seepages, oil taste, and oil scum on water. A British company of large capitalization has secured leases of large tracts of country around Athabaska, and is at present drilling for oil. Glass sands are found here in large quantities. Banff a P.O. in Rocky Mountain Prov. Elec. Div. Is the largest town in the Rocky Mountains. National Park of Canada and can be reached from Calgary by a first-class motor road—85 miles in length,—or by the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

It is famous as a summer and winter resort, and is visited during a season by from 60,000 to 80,000 tourists from all parts of the world. Its resident population is approximately 1,200.

ATTRACTIONS.—Among the varied and unequalled attractions at Banff are the famous Bow Falls, the Sulphur Cave, Sundance Canyon, the Bow and Spray Rivers, Mounts Cascade and Rundle, each over 9,000 feet in altitude, and the hot sulphur water springs flowing from the base of Sulphur Mountain. The sulphur water flow is utilized by two large Government bathing establishments with a combined capacity of over 1,200 bathers per day.

Among the other attractions at Banff maintained by the Federal Government are the Zoo and Museum, the animal enclosures where may be seen Buffalo, Rocky Mountain Goat and Sheep, Elk, Moose and Yak, and a beautifully located Golf Links open to the public for a nominal fee.

In addition to the main motor road running to Lake Louise—thirty-eight miles west,—Banff is the hub of over thirty miles of roads to points of interest. Among these are Johnston Canyon, Lake Minnewanka, Mount Edith Pass and Vermilion Lakes, Tunnel Mountain, the Hoodoos and the Loop Drive.

The Bow River and Lake Minnewanka afford excellent boating facilities, and boats can be hired or the regular water trips taken.

Good fishing can be enjoyed in season at the numerous lakes and streams in the vicinity of the town.

FACILITIES AND ACCOMMODATIONS.—Banff has an excellent and extensive water and sewerage system, paved streets, electric power and telephone service, and a well-equipped private hospital.

It is well supplied with first-class and up-to-date stores handling all commodities, several of which cater particularly to the visitor.

HOTELS.—Excellent accommodation at prices ranging from $2.50 per day up, can be obtained.

GARAGES.—Several first-class garages are available to the motorist.

BASSANO

a P.O. and junction point in Bow Valley Prov. Elec. Div., on the main line of the C.P.R., 87 miles east of Calgary and 93 miles northwest of Medicine Hat. The town at present has approximately 1,000 people.
It has a large public school, three churches, three benevolent societies, a very up-to-date agricultural society and a very modern hospital, fully equipped. The P.O. distributes to 44 sub-offices. The town is electric lighted, having a twenty-four-hour service and has all the conveniences of a city, such as water-works, sewerage, incinerator, disposal plant, telephones, etc. Bassano is headquarters of the supply department for the Dept. of Natural Resources of the C.P.R. for the eastern section of irrigation block. Bassano is a sub-judicial district and registration point with a resident deputy sheriff and deputy clerk. It is headquarters for the government school inspector, road inspector and veterinary. The city water supply is obtained from the Bow River, which is three miles southwest of town, where is situated one of the world's largest dams, 59 feet high and approximately 1 1/4 miles long. This dam was built by the C.P.R. to supply the irrigation block east with water. The prospects for great development in the near future are bright for Bassano.

Calgary

Founded in 1883. Incorporated a city in 1894. Population, 70,000.

The City of Calgary is the business centre of the Province, and the largest and most important city between Winnipeg and Vancouver. Its location on the C.P.R. main line, 860 miles west of Winnipeg, is picturesque, situated in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, and at the junction of the Bow and Elbow Rivers. This site is most commanding geologically, and by reason of its strategic and geographical situation, the abundant supply of pure water, the untold wealth of the surrounding country awaiting development, and above all by reason of its cheap power, both natural gas and electric, the city offers most desirable inducements for the establishment of manufacturing industries.

The business section and part of the residential district has spread over the valley which was the original townsite, and is rapidly expanding over the surrounding heights, from which views of the Rocky Mountains are obtainable. Calgary is approximately 840 miles west of Winnipeg, 620 miles east of Vancouver, 138 miles north of the boundary line between Canada and the United States of America, and 80 miles from Banff, "The Playground of Canada" and the "Canadian Alps."

SURROUNDING COUNTRY AND RESOURCES

Tributary to Calgary is one of the most prosperous agricultural, beef-raising and ranching districts in Canada, comprising an area of some thousands of square miles, and by virtue of the nutritious and abundant grasses growing throughout the surrounding territory, cattle raised, in this locality are in demand by purveyors of high-grade meats, and by reason of its favorable climate and the extraordinary fertility of the soil, grain and vegetables produced in the Calgary district are of the highest grade.

IRRIGATION AND FARMING

Calgary is the headquarters of the second largest irrigation project in the world, giving precedence only to the Nile undertaking. Water for irrigating the fertile irrigation belt stretching from Calgary north, east and south, is obtained from the Bow River. The head-gates of the main canal are located inside the city limits.

In the agricultural world, Calgary, being the centre of thousands of acres of both irrigated and non-irrigated lands famous for spring, fall and winter grains of all kinds, vegetables and wild and cultivated grasses, is highly attractive to prospective settlers and investors. As a direct result of this location and the productivity of the surrounding areas, a "Grain" or "Stock" Exchange was established some years ago and is rapidly assuming large proportions. Calgary's importance as a grain centre has been officially recognized by the Government of the Dominion of Canada and the said Government has built a terminal elevator in this city.

RAILWAYS AND MARKETS

With three transcontinental railways operating into the city and other branch lines projected, Calgary accords to the wholesaler and the retailer great facilities for trade throughout the whole of the Dominion. This, coupled with an ideal location in the heart of a rapidly and ever-growing market, in the centre of tributary lands containing bountiful supplies of raw materials, and enjoying the benefits of preferential freight rates, places Calgary conspicuously before the prospective manufacturer, and industries building in Calgary operate under the most favorable circumstances.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Calgary is essentially a city owned and operated for its citizens' benefit through their elected representatives, and owing to this fact its inhabitants enjoy a service from the various municipal undertakings seldom equalled. Having decided in the year 1900 that municipally-owned utilities were for their best interests, as a first venture the then waterworks system was purchased from the private company operating it and steps were instituted to remodel and modernize the system. Success attended this venture and demonstrated to all that municipal ownership could, when properly administered, be successful, and accordingly in due course electric light and power, street railway and asphalt paving plant systems and a public market were successfully instituted.

The Municipal Public Market furnishes an ideal medium of exchange as between the producer and the consumer and a most beneficial effect in lowering prices of foodstuffs has resulted from its successful operation.

MUNICIPALLY-OWNED INDUSTRIAL SITES

Among the inducements Calgary offers to manufacturers are the industrial sites owned by the corporation. These are located in various parts of the city and first were purchased in 1911 to provide for industrial development in Calgary. "Manchester," immediately within the southern limits of the city and situated on the Calgary-Lethbridge branch of the C.P.R., is offered manufacturers desirous of locating in Calgary, at $1,300 per acre.

METHOD OF CIVIC GOVERNMENT

The "Initiative, Referendum and Recall" is in operation in Calgary. By this means legislation may be initiated by the ratepayers, elected officials recalled or a referendum demanded on any public question or policy which may be an issue, not unanimously agreed upon by the electors. It is necessary to obtain the signature of a number of qualified voters equal to 25 per cent. and 10 per cent. respectively of the number of votes cast at the last election for mayor before these powers may be invoked.

The government of the city is carried on under powers granted by the Legislative Assembly of the North West Territories, and amendments thereto from said body, and later from the Provincial Legislature of Alberta. The Council is composed of a mayor and twelve aldermen. The mayor is elected annually by a vote of the electors of the city at large.

A BUSINESS AND RESIDENTIAL CENTRE

The public and large commercial buildings are of Calgary sandstone and are handsome and substantial. Among its important institutions are the Provincial Institute of Technology, the Provincial Normal School, a number of private schools and colleges and an excellent city school system. It is well equipped with churches, libraries, hospitals, and hotels. The city has developed an active social quality which finds expression in various clubs and societies for recreative and improving purposes and which makes it attractive to residents, visitors and tourists. The great national playground at Banff is within easy distance of Calgary.

Divisional point of C.P.R., G.T.P. and C.N.R., with C.P.R. car shops costing over $3,500,000, and payroll exceeding $3,400,000 annually. In the neighborhood are extensive coal beds (ignite, bituminous and anthracite), lime, brick, clay, building stone, zinc, copper, and iron deposits. The district promises to be an important oil field. Water power, 31,100 h.p. installed. At least 48,000 h.p. can be developed within 50 miles, dependable for 24-hour service. City piped with natural gas from Bow Island (100 m.), price 35c per M. cub. ft. for lighting, and 15c per power, the latter averaging from $10 to $14 per h.p. per annum. Altitude, 3,410.

Calgary is noted for its clean and well-paved thoroughfares, its beautiful residential districts, its remarkable evidence of substantial growth, its municipally-owned utilities—particulars of which may be found in this publication—its educational buildings, its school system, and above all, its healthy climate.

The largest and most modern reinforced concrete bridge in Western Canada spans the Bow River at Centre Street, Calgary, and another bridge of similar construction links the northern and southern banks of the Elbow River at Fourth Street West.

Largest commercial centre between Winnipeg and Vancouver. Centre of rich mixed farming country.

City offers to prospective industrial and manufacturing concerns, suitable sites at cost price to City on extended payment plan. Lowest rates to power users in any city west of Winnipeg. Natural gas supply at cheap rates.

Mixed Farming in Alberta

On the rich parklands of Central Alberta, mixed farming brings handsome returns. These lands, so-called because of the parklike appearance of the landscape, have been proved to be well suited for grain-growing, dairying and livestock raising generally. They consist largely of open stretches of fertile prairie land, often about forty to one hundred acres in extent interspersed with clumps of trees, which afford excellent shade and shelter for stock.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY has large areas of these fertile lands in various parts of Central Alberta for sale. West of Lloydminster, where the world's prize oats were grown, and also west of the railway that runs between Calgary and Edmonton, especially, considerable land is still available, and here are being established the homes of thousands of prosperous farmers.

These lands can be bought now at prices averaging about $18.00 an acre with twenty years to pay. Only ten per cent. cash and if land is purchased under settlement conditions, there is no further payment of principal until the end of fourth year, then sixteen annual payments. Interest six per cent. Further particulars gladly furnished by

Even from your most capable and loyal clerks you do not get really efficient work if your office systems are poorly organized. Their time—your money—is wasted in useless and unnecessary effort. When you stop to think of it, you can't help realizing the importance of having the work of your office force efficiently organized.

"Office Specialty" Filing Systems have been developed during 30 odd years' study of office systems and filing problems in every kind of business. They are designed to enable clerical workers to do more and better work in less time. Their keynote is efficiency with simplicity. All unnecessary work is eliminated and every system must supply the desired information with a minimum amount of effort.

It will be worth your while to call on our System Experts at the Calgary Service Store. They will gladly assist you in solving your office problems.

CARBON

a P.O. and village situated about 70 miles northeast of Calgary and about 20 miles west of the town of Drumheller. The nearest railway station at the present time is Grainger on the G.T.P., 11 miles west. A stage is operated from Grainger to Carbon. A new line of the C.P.R. is in the course of construction, and will be completed as far as Carbon, at least this summer. This line is a continuation of the Acme branch and will pass down the Knee Hill Valley through Carbon to Drumheller and location is surveyed to Empress. This line will give transportation facilities for the shipping of coal which is to be found in abundance all along the Knee Hill Valley. On account of its location, Carbon is bound to be the most important point on this new line. The village is situated in the centre of a rich farming district, especially adapted to raising wheat and also suitable for mixed farming. Carbon district is also favored with other natural resources such as deposits of clay tested suitable for fire-brick and face brick. The coal and brick industries have not been extensively developed, owing to the lack of transportation facilities, but great development along these lines is expected as soon as the railway is completed. Has R. C., Presbyterian and Plymouth Brethren Churches. The financial condition of the village is good, there being no debt on either the village or the school district of Carbon. The tax rate is low and fuel is cheap. There is also an abundance of good water. Population, 450.

a junction point on C.N.R., with Athabaska branch, 11 miles north of St. Albert and 2½ miles south of Cardiff, which see.

Cardston

Cardston is an incorporated town of some 1500 population located at the terminus of the Lethbridge-Cardston Branch of the C.P.R., 67 miles southwest of Lethbridge (56 miles by automobile), 13 miles north of the Montana boundary, and 25 miles east of Waterton Lakes Park in southwestern Alberta. It is on the crossroads for three National Parks, viz., Waterton Lakes on the west, Banff lies within 250 miles north, and Glacier National Park 25 miles south. It is strategically located so that all traffic from Glacier Park, directly north to Banff, and Waterton Lakes Park, passes through Cardston. From east to west all traffic from Waterton Lakes Park from the Canadian side to Glacier National Park in Montana, passes through Cardston because of good roads and shorter distances. The outstanding, special attraction is the $1,000,000.00 Latter Day Saint (Mormon) Temple, which has been visited, up to date, August 31st, 1920, by more than 5,300 tourists this summer. Cardston has a Dominion Customs House; C.P.R. Telegraph Station; Alberta Government Telephone with continuous service; Alberta Government Court House; Municipal Hospital, commodious School and High School; 8-acre Athletic Park in the heart of town; 40-acre Agricultural Park and Fair Grounds; the largest Co-operative Creamery in the Province; 150-barrel Flour Mill; 3 Elevators, 4 churches; $100,000.00 Municipal Gravity Water system, and electric light plant, and some 70 business houses; 23 school districts; 13 rural post offices are tributary to, and a surrounding population of 5,000 people trade into Cardston. The Dominion Soldiers' Settlement Board has chosen a settlement area near Castor because of the remarkable value and cheapness of the land.

The district around Castor is the sportsman's paradise, there being an abundance of wild geese, ducks, prairie chicken and partridge.

Castor has a real live up-to-date Board of Trade, live business men and an excellent class of citizens in the town and surrounding district.

Further and more specific particulars along any line will be given by the Secretary of the Board of Trade.

is on the G.T.P. Ry. gateway to Alberta, situated midway between Saskatoon and Edmonton, in a rich belt of fertile rolling prairie, well watered, admirably suited for mixed farming. The country is well stocked with horses, cattle, pigs and poultry, many farmers being already well established in raising pure bred varieties. The volume of grain, stock and dairy shipments is increasing each year. Last year one train of forty-three cars of live stock was dispatched direct to Winnipeg and Chicago stockyards. The Merchants and Union Banks have both new buildings. Other business being cared for by three grain elevators, stockyards, flour mill, oil warehouse, 3 lumber yards, hotel and 2 restaurants, 2 lawyers, 2 real estate offices, municipal offices, 2 stock buyers, 4 cream buyers, egg circle, 1 butcher, 3 general stores, 2 hardware, 2 garages, printer and publisher, 2 livery stables and other business activities. There are two churches, Roman Catholic and Presbyterian, with established rural points of regular services, high school and elementary schools organized throughout the entire district, and rural phones extending rapidly. Civic and community affairs are well maintained by the activities of villages and municipal councils, Board of Trade, Agricultural Society, U. F. A. and U. F. W. A., Women's Institute and other organizations. The Masonic, Oddfellows and Rebecca orders have good strong lodges.

Adjoining Chauvin is a 40-acre park, providing for sports, exhibitions and race track, this being joint property of the village and agricultural society. Six miles east of Chauvin is located Salt Lake, becoming very popular as a boating and pleasure resort, its saline waters possessing health-giving qualities. Manitou Lake, some ten miles long and four miles wide, also provides boating and hunting in season. The new Alberta government road from Saskatchewan to Edmonton passes through Chauvin.

The farming land in the vicinity is of a very fertile nature, and can be obtained from $20 to $40 per acre. Population 300.

Coronation has 4 general stores, 3 hardware stores, 3 implement warehouses, 2 drug stores, 2 garages, 2 rooming houses, 3 restaurants, and a first-class hotel, 2 lumber yards, 2 blacksmith and machine shops, 5 livery and feed barns, a baker, a jeweller, 2 banks and 3 churches. Coronation Public Utilities, consisting of electric light and power plant, waterworks and a twenty-bed general hospital, are giving good service and are self-supporting.

Coronation is a divisional point for both passenger and freight services, the C.P.R. maintaining a six-stall roundhouse with shops in connection; it is also a freight transfer point.

Four elevators of about 120,000 bushels gross capacity take care of the farmers' crops, and during 1919 over 14,000 head of beef cattle were shipped from this point, two solid trains being shipped one week to the Chicago market. Land in the Coronation district is cheaper for the quality and what it will produce than at any other point in the province, improved farms selling at from $30 to $50 per acre, and more. One was paid for last year out of the first crop. Coronation is not in the dry belt. Population 800.

an incorporated town, with a population of 400, is most advantageously situated near the centre of a large tract of choice agricultural land, which is steadily increasing in value as its worth becomes better known. The C.P.R. extended a line from Westskiwin to the townsite of Daysland in the fall of 1905 and this line has since become a portion of their main line from Winnipeg to Edmonton. The town is 51 miles east of Wetaskiwin, and about 80 miles southeast of Edmonton. Not only the town, but the entire surrounding district is served by the Alberta Govt. Telephones, there being twelve rural lines and continuous service. There are chartered banks, Union, Protestant and Roman Catholic churches, a large hospital under control of the Sisters of Charity, and a good four-roomed school. The district is favored with a larger average of rainfall than even some others in the Province, making it especially well adapted for mixed farming, including the production of wheat, oats, barley, rye, clover and grasses of all kinds, as well as root crops, while all kinds of live stock thrive remarkably well, and large shipments are made annually. A local creamery does a thriving business, while two cream buying stations ship to centralizing plants in Edmonton. The coal mines along the Battle River are within easy reach. Four grain elevators of full standard capacity are in full operation, one of them doing a large feed mill business. Population 400.

a station on A. & G. W. Ry., in Beaver River Prov. Elec. Div., 120 miles northeast of Edmonton, 34 miles northeast of Boyle, the nearest Alberta Govt. telephone point, and 7 miles southwest of Lac la Biche, the P. O. business and banking centre, and nearest telegraph and express office. Farming. Nearest P. O. is Venice.

DELIA

a P. O. and town on C. N. R., 115 miles northeast of Calgary, 22 miles southwest of Hanna, and 30 miles northeast of Drumheller. Has C. N. agent, G. N. W. telegraph, Govt.
telephones, G. N. express. The town serves a district 35 miles south, 25 miles north, and is located in the midst of a variety of soil formation.
In the northwest we have heavy gumbo, which has stood so well the dry seasons of the past years; in the northwest the land runs from Chocolate Loam to quite light formation; in the south we have a light formation more suitable to growing oats and rye. We have not known a crop failure for the past eight years, and the shipment of over 800,000 bushels of wheat at this point last year will show the nature of the yield. Land values, especially in the northwest gumbo land, have taken a sharp advance the past year, improved farms selling for as high as $75 per acre. We have shipped out the past year, 125 cars of cattle. One of the future prospects of Delia is the large deposits of coal that are found in every well that has been sunk in the village, and a company has now a coal lease on the village and intend sinking a shaft at once to open up the seam which they claim is the same strata as the Drumheller variety. Population, 350.

DIDSBURY

is on the C. & E. branch of the C. P. R., being about 50 miles north of Calgary and 146 south of Edmonton. C. P. R. Agent, Dominion Express, C. P. R. Telegraph and Alberta Govt. Telephones. Electric light plant is municipally owned and operated. Fine 6-room brick public school, including library, assembly hall and laboratory—worth $45,000.
Four-room brick High School, including office, gymnasium room worth $20,000. The schools just mentioned are admitted to be among the best equipped schools in the Province.
Hospital—run by adjoining country and town municipalities. Six churches of different denominations. The town is included in the Rosebud Y.M.C.A. district, which is very beneficial for the young people of the town and district. A fine 50-room brick hotel, modern in every way. Flour mill, very large creamery—manufacturing butter, cheese and condensed milk. Besides this there are two large cream stations buying milk for Calgary dairies. Three garages

—one being the best and finest brick garage between Calgary and Edmonton. Both the Union and Royal Banks have large branches in the town. It is also the home of the Western Mutual Fire Insurance Company, writing a tremendous volume of farm business. It is also the home of the 50-50 Mutual Hall Insurance Society.

Farming District—among the very best mixed farming in Alberta, especially dairy. Value of dairy and poultry products amounting in 1919 to $325,000. Stock as follows: 7,000 beef cattle; 1,500 horses; 6,000 hogs;
1,000 sheep, valued at $867,000.

Over 100 cars of hay and green feed and thousands of bushels of grain, handled by 4 large grain elevators. 1919 was the driest season in the history of the district. An evidence of the reduction of exports from this cause may be cited that while only 100 cars of hay and green feed were shipped last year, there would be shipped 800 cars in an average year.

The Fall Fair was considered one of the best county fairs in the Province, having an exceptional exhibit of heavy, draft and light horses and short-horn cattle. It is one of the most thickly settled districts of the Province and all English-speaking,
Population, 900.

Drumheller

Drumheller up to the present has been the fastest growing town without exception in Western Canada. In 1911 it was occupied only as a homestead, but prospectors coming in discovered that the valley in which Drumheller is located was surrounded by hills that had coal seam after coal seam in them. In the fall of 1911, prospect holes were dug and the first car of coal was shipped from Drumheller in 1912. At the beginning of 1913 the town population was less than 150 with only about 8 or 10 buildings. There are now 22 mines in the valley around the town of Drumheller, and the town population is well over 2,500 in the town limits, with about 5,000 people immediately surrounding the town and working at the various mines. There are also four more mines in the course of development.

The town is at present fed by the C. N. Ry. only, but the C. P. Ry are building in, and will have the line completed in the present year.

The surrounding farm country has not known a crop failure in 7 years, and during that time the farmers have had an average of over thirty bushels to the acre of wheat. In the last year the town has installed waterworks and this year plans are being made to have sewers through the principal streets so that by the end of 1920 the town will be fully modern in every respect

Edmonton

Edmonton was established as a trading post by the Hudson's Bay Company in 1795 and was known for many years as "Edmonton House" or "Fort Edmonton". It was the central point of an extensive trading territory, being the seat of a chief factor, and preserved its importance in the Hudson's Bay scheme until the end of that interesting chapter in the history of Western Canada.

In 1880-81 with the influx of settlers drawn by the lure of the free homestead and the projected construction of the railway, Edmonton passed from its trading post stage and assumed the status of a town. Progress, however, was slow and the advent of the C.P.R. in 1891 started a fresh wave of immigration which, with the Klondyke rush of 1898-99, brought it into considerable prominence not only throughout Canada but in the United States and Great Britain as well and really laid the foundation of the present modern and progressive city.

In 1905 when the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were created out of the North-West Territories, Edmonton was selected as the capital of the former and time has fully justified the wisdom of the choice.

SOME FACTS ABOUT EDMONTON

Edmonton occupies a unique position as a public-ownership city. All the public utilities, such as the street railway, light and power, telephones, water and sewer are municipally owned and managed. Hospitals, schools, parks and market, fire, police and library departments are also controlled by council, commissioners and appointed boards, with one of the finest exhibition grounds in Canada a part of the civic assets in property.

Value of buildings in the city estimated at $50,909,000.00.

Population in 1920 conservatively placed at 68,000.

Assessment for 1920 $79,191,550 in lands and improvements, with $71,066,400 for public and $8,535,630 for separate school supporters.

Total value of assets of the city approximately $32,000,000, not including value of assets of the public and separate school boards.

Mileage in paved streets 48.7; graded streets and roads 111.5, with 50.5 miles concrete, 187 miles plank, and 2 miles cinder sidewalks.

Boulevards extend 29 miles; water mains amount to 165 miles with 11,294 users, and 803 fire hydrants.

Looking east on 102nd Ave. in Edmonton's wholesale section.

The surplus for 1919 in the water-works department was $48,475.17.

Sewers reach 152 miles with 9,986 connections.

Electric light and power patrons number 14,348, the surplus in this utility amounting to $118,351.90 in 1919.

The automatic telephone system is one of the most modern on the continent. Approximately 11,900 are in use, served by four offices. A new steel and cement main office building now under construction will provide another 5,000 phones. The system was capitalized at $1,898,509.20 January 1st, 1920, the net surplus for 1919 being $50,000. The rates are considerably below those of other cities of similar size.

The street railway, consisting of 54.12 miles of track, was opened in 1908. The 1919 car mileage was 2,108,824 with 11,779,466 passengers carried and a revenue of $682,713.19, a surplus over operation costs of $194,985.95.

AN INDUSTRIAL CENTRE

Growing up in the midst of an unexcelled farming and dairying region, situated directly in the centre of the province, on the line of transcontinental traffic, and the gateway city to the mineral, agricultural and fur resources of the great north, Edmonton could not help but become an important industrial point some years ago.

Unlimited coal resources have also played a prominent part in encouraging the upbuilding of industrial Edmonton. Among these established industries at the present time are saw mills, lumber yards, sash, door and joinery factories, iron works, iron foundries, boat building, clothing factories, biscuit factory, candy factories, brewery and bottling works, box factory, fur manufacturing, tanneries, flour mills, oatmeal mill, nurseries, saddle and harness makers, tent and mattress factories, packing plants, dairies, with a host of other similar enterprises.

Lumbering has been one of the important industries of the past, there being at one time four big mills along the river flats in the city.

TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES

Two hundred years ago the frontier trading post of Fort Edmonton, to-day the capital city of Alberta, was a bustling little business centre on the "transcontinental highway" of that time, a highway traversed by trappers, traders and voyageurs. By means of pack ponies and canoes these travellers reached into the north and to the Pacific coast via Edmonton from Fort Garry on the east, to-day known as Winnipeg.

The natural route followed by these pioneers for overland traffic is now permanently marked and perpetuated by modern railway steel. Edmonton has become the centre of a veritable spider's web of railways, two transcontinental lines adding to the overland stretches of the Canadian Pacific. These two through systems are the G. T. P. and C. N. R., both linking up the Pacific coast with the east, via Edmonton.

The Edmonton, Dunvegan and B.C. Railway taps the great region to the northwest, the famous districts of Peace River, Spirit River and Grande Prairie, with over 400 miles of track. The Alberta and Great Waterways enters the hinterland in a similar manner to the northeast, the steel now connecting with Fort McMurray, 290 miles from Edmonton, both of these systems being built after the outbreak of the great war.

AN EDUCATIONAL CENTRE

By reason of its selection as the university as well as capital city of the province, Edmonton possesses unusual advantages as an educational centre. The University of Alberta was established in Strathcona in 1908, being brought into the greater city with amalgamation of Edmonton and Strathcona in 1912. To-day a magnificent pile of buildings grace the 300 acres of land belonging to the university in the west end of Strathcona and over 1,000 students were enrolled for the 1919-20 term.

Naturally the location of the university in Edmonton brought about the establishment of a large number of independent and affiliated colleges. Working partly in conjunction with the university are the theological colleges of the Methodists and Presbyterians, Alberta and Robertson colleges, both on the south side. Another is the Westminster girls' college, while still another on the south side is the Roman Catholic St. John's college. The Jesuit college on the north side is another R. C. training institution, while Alberta College North is one of the largest business colleges in Canada. There are a number of other colleges of this character.

Edmonton's showing of schools is something to be proud of. With three high schools, three junior high schools, thirty-five public schools, one fine technical school and seven separate (R.C.) schools, the city carries on a progressive policy of education. The technical school has 250 day and 450 night pupils, the total 41 schools having 375 instructors and 13,400 pupils, with 41 instructors and 1,673 pupils in the separate schools. The department of education for the province also conducts a training school for teachers in the city.

Two free public libraries with 47,000 volumes are provided by the city, managed by an appointed board.

The banks follow the plough! Where a great area of arable land has been steadily developing for twenty-five years without a shadow of failure as a mixed farming district, it is obvious that the market and financial centre of such a district would be a business place of outstanding importance. That accounts for Edmonton.

It is over 25 years since the first bank, the Imperial Bank of Canada, followed the plough and the traders to Edmonton.

Other financial institutions kept coming as the city grew until to-day fourteen banking concerns are represented with great and small buildings and offices, practically all the main branch offices of these organizations being established with one or more costly buildings in the heart of the city, with sub-offices in other parts of town. The records of the banks show a constantly increasing turnover of business in the city, the bank clearings for 1918 being $171,015,066.82 while the totals for 1919 reached $233,060,784.02. Still more rapid was the increase for the first four months of 1920, wherein the clearings amounted to $102,710,024.

With between seventy-five and eighty wholesale firms in business in Edmonton, besides channels for marketing grain and live stock and the extensive fur catches from the north, the financial laterals of the city through the central and northern parts of the province are of an extent to be appreciated.

IMMENSE DAIRY INDUSTRY

Alberta creameries and dairies produced 12,000,000 pounds of butter in 1919. Fully 72 per cent. of this "make" was north of Red Deer. Over 7,000,000 pounds were produced directly in Edmonton and the district.

This is sufficient to show that Edmonton is the real centre of the dairy industry. The nature of the land and the diversified nature of the farming assures almost certain success in dairying and the creameries and dairies of Edmonton reach out for milk and cream to almost every railway station in the northern half of the province. It is worth noting also that Calgary creameries invade the north as far as possible for the supply of milk and cream.

Six creameries are established in Edmonton, four of these having buying stations at hundreds of towns and villages in the north. Not only do these firms buy milk and cream from the district surrounding each station but a huge business is transacted in poultry and eggs. In some of the most productive districts over $1,000 a day is distributed in mid-summer to the farmers who supply products to the creamery stations.

Alberta butter has won signal honors at more than one American and Canadian show during the last few years. Almost invariably the winning entry was the output of Edmonton creameries.

AGRICULTURE AND LIVE STOCK

Central and northern Alberta is essentially an area of mixed farming. Its deep black land, timber, and top dressing of luxuriant pasturage is naturally attractive to a class of settlers and homemakers of an industrious and permanent character. Edmonton, as the geographical, administrative and educational centre of this region, and the whole province for that matter, has been decidedly lucky in its location. Mixed farming means unbroken prosperity and development, and mainly upon the foundation of mixed farming the future growth of Edmonton depends, as it has in the past.

Those agricultural areas directly in the Edmonton district have become famous in the last decade. Further afield the great farming and stock-raising regions in the Northland have also become known almost the world over, the mecca of thousands during the last five years. Edmonton is the gateway through which all the trade and traffic of the empire of the north must and does pass. Through this gateway over 50,000 sturdy settlers have gone into the real north, and the main channel of soldier and civilian settlement in the west is moving constantly in that direction at the present time.

As a live stock centre Edmonton has shown amazing development. The records of the Edmonton stockyards, established only three full years, testify to this growth. In 1917 the yards handled 31,710 cattle, 5,140 calves, 25,643 hogs, 3,783 sheep and 380 horses. In 1919 the records were 72,221 cattle, 8,594 calves, 27,481 hogs, 21,431 sheep and 8,685 horses, with a total valuation in three years of $13,335,421.

The statistics of the packing plants are even more startling. The Swift Canadian Co. of Edmonton is one of the largest packing concerns in the Dominion, with a new plant of the P. Burns Co. a good second. The third plant is that of the Gainer Co. The weekly capacity of these three plants is something like 3,500 cattle, about the same number of sheep and considerably over this figure in hogs. During the last three years the packing plants and stockyards paid out over $45,000,000 for live stock, principally to the farmers and stockmen of central and northern Alberta.

OIL DEVELOPMENT AND PROSPECTS

Will northern Alberta provide the new oil field of the world?

This question is causing serious comment in many parts of Europe and America, as well as in the home province, with a world scarcity of oil, and gasoline already in progress. For years official reports and government experts have dwelt upon the immense fields of bituminous sands and oil prospects in the regions far north of Edmonton. One geologist in his report to the Alberta government says, speaking of the tar sands along the Athabaska river towards Fort McMurray: "The extent of the bituminous sands has not yet been accurately determined but the outcrop shows that at least sixteen hundred square miles are underlain by this formation—varying in thickness from 125 to 225 feet. It is known that the tar sands are much more extensive than the outcrop would indicate. Possibly 15,000 square miles are underlain by this McMurray formation."

"COAL BIN OF CANADA"

The province of Alberta contains 14 per cent. of all the coal reserves of the world, and about 87 per cent. of the coal deposits of Canada. In official estimates the total reserve is placed at 1,059,910,000,000 tons, which is a fairly extensive quantity of coal to have on hand in one province. Alberta has very appropriately been termed "The coal bin of Canada."

The City of Edmonton sits on the very top of the bin, so to speak. When the place was a tiny village thirty years ago, coal seams were exposed at numerous places along the river bank directly below the town, and these "drifts" were the source of supply for many years. The city is at present almost surrounded by big mines, with a couple of these mines in the heart of the city, the shaft at the federal penitentiary now being closed, producing sufficient coal for the rest of the penitentiaries in the west. Edmonton is virtually underlain with immense coal beds.

Within the coal producing area of which Edmonton is the centre, some thirty mines are operating. In 1919 the output from the Edmonton, Clover Bar, Zosfeld, Namao and Cardiff collieries was about 700,000 tons. The big mines of the Pembina district at Evansburg added a large quota to this total. Of domestic quality coal Edmonton supplies a great territory on the eastern prairies going as far as Winnipeg.

It is evident that, by reason of the immense coal reserves surrounding Edmonton, the favorable conditions under which it is produced, and the wide and growing market available on the prairies, the coal mining industry centering on the city will ultimately reach vast proportions and attract many other branches of manufacture. Of the extent of these reserves hear what the authority Dowling has to say:

"The actual total area containing available coal in the whole Edmonton formation is 25,235 square miles, which will produce 333,697 million metric tons. To this may be added a probable reserve in this formation covering 27,170 square miles, which would produce 517,261 million metric tons." This ought to be sufficient to tide over a few hard winters. It shows why Edmonton has never suffered from a fuel shortage and why high grade domestic coal has been available in unlimited quantities at from $3 a ton, six years ago, to $7 a ton, the "highest yet" price, paid last winter.

CITY OF OPPORTUNITY

It has been said of the west that it is the greatest "next year" country on earth. Those who live in Alberta and realize its vast native resources and foresee what these advantages mean to the future of the province are not averse to being included in this class of optimists. For 25 years it has been practically all flow and very little ebb in the tide of immigration to this province.

Edmonton upwards of 200 years ago was celebrated amongst traders for its strategic location. Fifty years ago the pioneer settlers who travelled west in Red River carts became optimists over the great future which their vision pictured for the trading post and its vast and fertile territory. Since the railway came over a quarter of a century ago the development has been steady and substantial, broken by war and other untoward causes and conditions, it is true, but withal strong and promising.

To-day the capital city of the province possesses all the essentials of a leading agricultural, financial, industrial and educational centre. It is not overboastful to say that Edmonton must eventually become one of the greatest cities of the continent. Possibly a half million people will pass through its portals into the great regions of the north in another ten or twelve years, and what these people produce and what they require must continue to come and go through Edmonton.

Great industries have built themselves up within ten years in the city; the largest creamery and the largest garment factory in the west and one of the largest packing plants in Canada have grown from the ground up in the last decade or less time. Northern Alberta has no crop failures and it offers the last chance to the land-hungry classes of overcrowded Europe and America. Therefore Edmonton has a right to be optimistic and somewhat boastful about it.

OFFICE @ SPECIALTY FILING SYSTEMS

Even from your most capable and loyal clerks you do not get really efficient work if your office systems are poorly organized. Their time—your money—is wasted in useless and unnecessary effort. When you stop to think of it, you can't help realizing the importance of having the work of your office force efficiently organized.

"Office Specialty" Filing Systems have been developed during 30 odd years' study of office systems and filing problems in every kind of business. They are designed to enable clerical workers to do more and better work in less time. Their keynote is efficiency with simplicity. All unnecessary work is eliminated and every system must supply the desired information with a minimum amount of effort.

It will be worth your while to call on our System Experts at the Edmonton Service Store. They will gladly assist you in solving your office problems.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN

a P.O. and town on the main line of the C.N.R., 24 miles northeast of Edmonton in Victoria Prov. Elec. Div. Has C.N. express, G.N.W. telegraph and Alta. Govt. telephones. The Fort is one of the oldest towns in Alberta, in the early days having been a post of the R.N.W.M.P., at a time in the history of the West when Hudson's Bay posts with their traders, the Indians and the fur traders, were the only inhabitants. The town still retains something of its ancient official character through the location there of the provincial jail, one of the most up-to-date and progressive institutions of the kind in the Dominion. The town has a good public and high school with an efficient staff and both Protestant and Catholic churches. The country surrounding here has, for a radius of twelve to twenty miles, been under cultivation for many years and has long since proven itself to be first-class agricultural land. As a consequence not only are the farmers of the district now in independent circumstances, having first-rate dwellings and barns with up-to-date equipment, but the land values, which are not too high, are as high or higher than anywhere in the province. $125 has recently been paid for land within a few minutes' motor drive out of town, while from $50 to $100 an acre is the ruling price. The land is all practically under cultivation, the district is free from hail, frost and drought, so that town and country as time goes on are bound to be most substantial financially, and from the nature of the residents, who are Canadian-English and French, with some Germans, will continue to be progressive and up-to-date. Population about 1,100.

Grande Prairie

a P.O. and town 250 miles northwest of Edmonton, at the terminus of the E.D. & B.C. Ry. and on the projected Grande Prairie branch of the C.N.R., in Peace River Prov. Elec. Div. Has Dom. Govt. telegraph, C. C. Express, and local telephone service. It is the distributing centre of the great agricultural district, bearing the same name, containing over 25,000 inhabitants and 20,000 square miles of what is for the most part, beautiful rolling prairie land. The monotony of the prairie is, however, relieved by parklike clumps of poplar, birch, balsam poplar and spruce, which combined with crystal spring-fed lakes located at frequent intervals, and clear winding rivers, require only the lordly snow-capped Rockies towering in the background to complete an immense panorama, the grandeur of which cannot be surpassed.

Grande Prairie City is the largest town north of Edmonton, and is experiencing a more rapid growth than any place in Western Canada. In the year 1915 it had a population of approximately 100, from which figure it has jumped to well over 2,000 at the present time. It is provided with educational facilities second to none; it has a modern electric light and power plant, publicly owned and financed by local capital, an adequate system of water works, and a hospital with up-to-date equipment including the only X-Ray outfit north of Edmonton. In the year 1919 there were over a hundred building permits issued representing a building expenditure of approximately $300,000.

In the year 1919 the agricultural production of the tributary territory reached a total of 2,400,000 bushels of oats and 800,000 bushels of wheat, as well as a considerable amount of barley, rye, flax and vegetables. The grain was very much in demand throughout the south for seed. Live stock-raising and dairying are also extensively engaged in.

Although Grande Prairie is pre-eminently a prairie and agricultural country, immense tracts of merchantable timber are situated along its many rivers, and more particularly to the south of the Wapiti. Lumbering is being engaged in on an ever increasing scale, and this industry is bound to become one of the greatest producers of wealth in the Peace River country, and a great contributor to the development of Grande Prairie City. Other resources in the form of unlimited water power, coal and mineral, await development, as do vast deposits of splendid brick clay situated just on the outskirts of the city. There are also immense quantities of the finest limestone available.

During the past calendar year there were 856 homestead entries and 587 Soldiers' grants filed in the Dominion Land Office at Grande Prairie City, and by latest reports there still remain 5,000 surveyed quarter sections available for entry, besides many thousands of acres of agricultural land still unsurveyed, including vast stretches of grazing lands and timber berths, etc. Full particulars as to lands available for entry, together with maps, may be had on application to F. L. Christie, Agent of Dominion Lands, Grande Prairie City, Alberta.

Grande Prairie is justly proud of its splendid roads which radiate in every direction from what might be termed the "Hub of the wheel" Grande Prairie City. Auto, or mail stage may be utilized to reach any part of the far flung area of the district from that point. It is the home of Grande Prairie Lodge No. 105, A.F. and A.M., Grande Prairie Lodge No. 135, I.O.O.F., a branch of the G.W.V.A., the Canadian Club, Bar Assn. and several other social, musical and entertainment organizations, as well as a large Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce incorporated by the Dominion Government in the year 1918 as representative of the Grande Prairie Land District. It has splendid hotels, churches, and places of public amusement, among the latter being worthy of mention, a large skating and curling arena. Grande Prairie is now but on the threshold of a great period of development and prosperity which makes it one of the most attractive fields for new enterprises and investment to be found in Canada to-day. A booklet giving detailed information may be had by writing J. Fitzallen, Secretary Grande Prairie Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce, Box 48, Grande Prairie City, Alberta.

HIGH RIVER

a P.O. and incorporated town on C.P.R. Calgary-Macleod line, 40 miles south of Calgary, and 68 miles northwest of Macleod. On Banff-Grand Canyon automobile highway. Has rural mail route, municipally owned electric light, waterworks and sewerage systems. Has C.P.R. agent and telegraphs, Dom. Express, Alberta Govt. telephones. A creamery is wanted.

The farming district of High River might be said to be Townships 18 and 19, Range 2 West of the 5th Meridian, and extending east to Range 28, West of the 4th Meridian. This is 8 townships—288 square miles—184,320 acres of good land. This approximately represents an investment in land alone of $5,529,000. The land investment of Hiram Sibley and others, of Rochester, N.Y., in the Round, T Ranch (the old Eckford ranch) is included in Townships 18 and 19. If the investments of H.R.H. Prince of Wales, The Rt. Hon. The Earl of Minto, Mr. George Lane in the Bar U, Mr. Roderick R. Macleay in the Rocker P, Messrs. Mayer and Lage in the Rialto, and Mr. D. P. McDaniel in the Shield Ranch, be included, the investment would total considerably more than $7,000,000. The district pays annual dividends on a capitalization considerably higher than that.

Improved farm lands can be purchased $35 to $50 per acre. Farming and stock-raising. Population, 1,200.

a prosperous village situated 61 miles east of Edmonton on the main line of the G.T.P. with a population of 250 inhabitants. Good schools, telephone exchange, Royal Bank and Herald newspaper, good market facilities and satisfactory train service are convenient to all. The religious needs of the community are served by the Methodist and Norwegian Lutheran denominations who have each a good large church building in which are held regular services.

Three elevators of a combined capacity of 120,000 bushels handle upwards of 300,000 bushels annually. A large volume of cream, butter, eggs and poultry are marketed, there being five cream-buying stations who ship these products to the city. In addition there are about 3,000 head of cattle and about 2,000 head of hogs shipped annually, for which there are good and convenient markets in the city of Edmonton. The business of the village is supported by more than 500 farmers residing in the surrounding district, who for the most part are prosperous and own good, comfortable homes. The land is slightly rolling, with a rich, sandy loam soil and clay subsoil, partially covered with a growth of poplar trees, which furnish the settlers with fire-wood, fencing and some building material. This land, however, is easily cleared, when the soil is very productive, being well adapted to the growing of grains, hay and vegetables, with yield seldom surpassed. Coal may be had from mines in the vicinity, from which many secure their winter supply of fuel. Land prices range from $18 to $50 per acre for wild land, up to $50 for choice improved farms.

is an incorporated village, with a population of about 400 people. It is situated on the Wetaskiwin branch of the C.P.R., 70 miles east of Wetaskiwin, in Sedgewick Prov. Elec. Division. It is in the centre of the best wheat growing district in northern Alberta, having exported more spring wheat for several years than any other town in Alberta.

The land is of a slightly rolling nature, and has produced as high as 50 bushels of wheat to the acre. A trip through this district would impress any travellers with the prosperity of the farmers. Large barns and commodious houses, many lighted by electricity and heated by steam, are to be met with, while practically every farmer has his automobile, and after his day's work is over, gets the family in and comes to town where he is entertained by one of the best bands in Alberta. It consists of some 30 pieces under the able management of one of its own citizens. There is also a junior band of about 20 pieces that some other towns would be proud to boast of as a senior band. There are three good churches with up-to-date ministers, and a four-room school, steam-heated and capable of preparing pupils for teacher's certificates right at home. There are three general stores and two hardware stores, a drug store, two pool rooms and barber shop, a tin shop, two real estate offices, lawyer's office, dentist's office, a bakery and a blacksmith shop. There are four implement houses and a good doctor. One of the latest additions to the town is the Killam Mfg. Co., where large brush cutters are made, and sent to all parts of the province. There are three garages and repair shops in town where autos may be repaired or new parts furnished.

In short, Killam is a flourishing village of enterprising people, in a progressive community.

CALGARY

is situated in Lacombe Prov. Elec. Div., in the central part of the province on the main line of the C.P.R., which runs between Calgary and Edmonton, and also the terminus for the line running east to Winnipeg which gives splendid service both in passenger and freight. It is 113 miles north of Calgary, 81 miles south of Edmonton, and 50 miles west of Stettler. Has C.P.R. telegraph, Alberta Govt. telephone, both rural and city, Dom. express and good postoffice. Also a Government Experimental farm adjoining the town containing 550 acres, where experiments are made for all classes of hay and grain, milk, beef cattle, sheep and hogs. It is the centre of a very rich farming district, over 1,264,000 received in export from this district during 1919, and this does not tell the story of production, as a big portion of what is raised in the district is fed and shipped to the market on the hoof—hogs, beef, milk cattle, sheep, horses. Wheat, oats, barley, rye, timothy and wild hay is the program that the farmers here have to work with and a failure has never been known among the old-timers in 20 years. "It is not generally known that the best producing beef stock in the Dominion of Canada is raised in the Lacombe District," said Duncan Anderson, pioneer expert for the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Raw land is selling in this district from $20 to $25 per acre and improved land from $35 to $100 per acre. Population 1,809.

a P.O. and town in Victoria Prov. Elec. Div., 40 miles east of Edmonton, on the main line of the C.N.R. Has C.N. Express and G.N.W. telegraph office and is at the south edge of a settlement of Austrians and Russians, who were brought into the country in 1896 and the following ten years. In the immediate vicinity of Lamont there is a small population of English-speaking farmers, though the business of the town appears to be gradually falling into the hands of the foreigners. The people of Eastern European extraction who first settled here were the poorest of the poor and it has taken them until within the last five years to get on their feet. They are now, however, achieving prosperity and the town and district are bound within the next five or ten years to become a wealthy and influential part of Northern Alberta.

In Lamont is located the Lamont Public Hospital, an institution which for several years has been doing splendid work. There is also a four-roomed school in which public and high school subjects are taught. There is a Union Church which serves the needs of the English-speaking population, while throughout the rural districts are found Greek Catholic, Orthodox Catholic and Roman Catholic Churches, which meet the requirements of the foreign-born population. There are banks, general stores and a drug store in town, and the fact that there are five grain elevators indicates the confidence of the grain-buying companies in Lamont's future. Population, 450.

Farm Scene Near Lethbridge

Lethbridge

The commercial activities of Lethbridge are based upon agriculture and coal. The population is 14,000, and apart from those living in the city directly concerned with coal mining, the rest of the population is concerned with the collection and marketing of agricultural produce, and in the wholesale and retail distribution of the needs of the rich country surrounding the city up to a radius of 100 miles or more, and in financing the business of that part of Southern Alberta. For instance, the largest wholesale agricultural implement warehouse in the province is in Lethbridge and there is no other city in Western Canada that has a greater business with coal mining centres; for, in addition, to mines within a seven-mile radius of the city, which produce themselves 4,000 tons or more daily in the busy season, the geographical position of Lethbridge makes it the distributing centre for the great steam coal mines in the Grow's Nest Pass, which have a production of over a million tons a year.

The agricultural activities of the surrounding country are varied; the finest quality of wheat is grown, as well as oats, rye and barley on the grain farms. The irrigated farms, covering about 120,000 acres, produce alfalfa hay giving 4 to 5 tons per acre annually with unfailing regularity, while timothy hay makes 1½ tons to the acre; and a variety of other produce is also grown under irrigation, including potatoes.

The climate in the city and district is very liveable, lying towards the southwestern edge of the great plains area of Canada, and in the lee of the Rocky Mountains; there are no fierce heats in the summer months, and even the warmest day is followed by a cool night. The most delicate garden crops are hardly ever touched by an unseasonably late or early frost. It is seldom that a cold spell of longer than a week, or ten days comes at one time during the winter, and the temperature rarely falls below 20 degrees below zero; and such cold spells are always followed by mild weather around or above freezing point, owing to the action of the warm chinook winds. The only drawback to the climate appears when these winds blow hard in the early winter or late spring.

Production of wheat has run as high as 70 bushels to the acre, while in 1915 with favorable rainfalls the average yield over the whole 100 miles surrounding Lethbridge was around 50 bushels per acre. Occasional really dry seasons have to be contended with, and for this reason "summer fallowing" every alternate year is being recognized as desirable; by this means the moisture of two seasons is made available for one crop.

Besides the cattle and sheep raised on the cultivated lands, large numbers are carried on prairie pastures, with light feeding during the winter months. Much to the astonishment of people living on the prairies at lower elevations where the cold is more intense, and of farmers accustomed to climates that have sleet and rain during the winter, livestock in the Lethbridge district can remain out of doors the winter through, and horses, cattle and sheep rarely seek such shelter as is provided. A climate such as this has proved to be the most useful in Western Canada for the growth of crops under irrigation, and in consequence of the splendid results achieved in an experience of nearly 20 years on the lands irrigated, there is a widespread demand for further supplies of irrigation water.

Fortunately this is available from the streams rising in the Rocky Mountains and flowing in volume at such altitudes as to render easy the diverting of these waters, and making it readily possible to convey these waters in the canals along the higher ridges, so that they may be spread over the great and fertile plains at lower elevations.

The Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District, formed by the farmers to be benefited, is now in position to proceed with the construction of irrigation works which will bring 100,000 acres of their lands under irrigation. The cost of the works will be about $5,000,000, and the farmers will find the investment very profitable for the lands now irrigated actually produced crops in 1919 that brought gross returns for that one year of $54.71 per acre. Other irrigation works will be constructed later; there is water available for roundly 500,000 acres over and above the 120,000 now irrigated, and the 100,000 acres in the Lethbridge Northern. Bank clearings give a good general index to the volume of business in Lethbridge, and these are the figures for six years:

1915	...	19,740,223
1916	...	31,638,549
1917	...	45,021,074
1918	...	41,901,114
1919	...	38,179,636

The principal exports of the district show annual averages over six years, 1915-1920, as follows:

Coal	...	$12,000,000
Wheat and other grains	...	48,000,000
Alfalfa and hay	...	950,000
Livestock	...	4,500,000
Wool	...	750,000

Yearly average, 1915-1920 66,200,000

There is plenty of amusement for the city population of Lethbridge, and for the visitors from the country, both in summer and winter. The Galt Gardens, occupying the area of about four city blocks, are right in the centre of the business part of the town. During the spring, summer, and autumn they are ablaze with color. The spacious lawns are attractive, and the whole park is encircled with trees that provide shady and cool retreats. The Henderson lake can be reached by a ride of about a mile in the street cars, and swimming, boating and sailing and other amusements can be indulged in. There are other parks and bowling greens as well as attractive spots down in the valley of the river which flows past the city. There are several "movie" and vaudeville theatres, as well as a fully equipped playhouse, the Majestic Theatre; facilities are provided for all indoor sports at the Y.M.C.A., a swimming pool, open summer and winter, being available there.

Automobilists are interested in the fact that Lethbridge is on the King's International Highway, which passes through the city on the way from Winnipeg; it takes from Lethbridge the picturesque route through the Rockies by the Crow's Nest Pass on easy grades with good roads to Cranbrook, B.C., thence southward to Spokane, Wash., and thence to Vancouver, in British Columbia. Side trips may be made from Lethbridge to the Canadian National Park at Waterton Lakes, a run of 94 miles; and also to the U.S. Glacier National Park on a 102-mile run.

For commercial traffic and other tourist routes, the railway services east, west, north and south are convenient with three alternative routes to the United States. The railway position of Lethbridge causes a great grain and coal traffic to flow through the railway yards; and, correspondingly, the wholesale and retail supply distribution area, over which the mileages into and out from Lethbridge provide the most economical distribution, is very large.

N.W. telegraph and Alta. Govt. Telephone offices. The town is divided by the Meridian Road between the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The post office and major portion of the business firms are on the Saskatchewan side of the Meridian Line Road while the station, telephone exchange and Alberta Hall are on the Alberta side. The town has several brick buildings and presents quite a prosperous business appearance. The principal part of its 1,500 population are English-speaking people. The town has a creamery, the output of which is some two hundred and seventy thousand pounds annually. Five elevators (capacity 125,000 bushels), a flour mill, 125 barrels. The Canadian Bank of Commerce and Royal Bank of Canada both have their own buildings. A free municipal hospital, collegiate, high and public schools, churches of all denominations are represented. A continuous telephone and electric light service is in operation, and in fact Lloydminster is well represented in all lines of business that a prosperous town requires for the convenience of its residents. The town and district is well taken care of from a news point of view by the Lloydminster Times.

FARMING

The district is one of the finest mixed farming districts in Western Canada. The country is gently undulating, varying from parkland to open sections, suitable for tractor farming, and is freely interspersed with creek springs and lakes, which in season are besieged by sporting birds which make them a veritable hunter's paradise.

The soil is black loam from 8 to 16 inches deep, on a brown clay subsoil. There is no hardpan or alkali.

There is practically no stone.

The uncultivated land is covered with a rich growth of grass, vetch and peavine.

There is abundance of moisture.

Good well water is easily secured.

The district is free from hail.

The Lloydminster farmers hold 65 Provincial and International prizes for grain.

The Lloydminster farmers won the Shield for the best wheat, oats and barley grown in the Province of Saskatchewan during 1918.

The Lloydminster farmers will ship out over 1,000,000 bushels of grain in 1920.

Seed grain is shipped from Lloydminster to all parts of America.

One-third of the cultivated land is sown to wheat. The wheat yield in 1920 averages 30 bushels. Many fields have yielded 45 bushels of wheat per acre.

Fall rye is grown very successfully here.

Barley of all varieties yields very heavy crops here.

Flax grows here, and is a very profitable crop.

Prize for oats. The yield of oats in 1920 averages 70 bushels per acre. Many fields of oats have threshed as high as 120 bushels per acre.

WORLD'S PRIZE FOR OATS.

The Colorado Silver Trophy, valued at $4,000, awarded by the State of Colorado, U.S.A., was won at the Corn Show in 1911, and also in 1913 at Columbus, Ohio, U.S.A., by Messrs. J. C. Hill and Sons, Lloydminster farmers. It was won for the third and final time by Messrs. J. C. Hill & Sons from 1,300 competitors drawn from all parts of Canada and the United States in 1914, at Dallas, Texas, U.S.A. It thus became the permanent property of Messrs. J. C. Hill & Sons, of Lloydminster. This is the World's Prize for oats!

THE CANADIAN PRIZE FOR OATS

The Brackman-Ker Silver Trophy, presented by the Brackman-Ker Milling Company, for the best milling oats grown in Canada, was won three successive times by Mr. C. H. Barrett, a Lloydminster farmer, at the Alberta Provincial Seed Grain Fair at Calgary, and this Trophy now remains permanently in Lloydminster. —This is the Canadian prize for oats!

Alfalfa, timothy, brome and western rye grass grow plentifully here. Sunflowers grown here for silage yielded upwards of 20 tons to the acre in 1920.

Five carloads of live stock are shipped from here each week.

The district is producing splendid live stock.

Cattle, sheep and horses live outside all winter.

Three-year-old grass-fed steers weigh 1,600 pounds.

DAIRYING

The Lloydminster Co-operative Creamery manufactures 276,000 pounds of butter per year.

The average price paid for butter fat during 1920 was 65c per pound.

Milk and cream are also shipped to the cities in large quantities.

LAND VALUES

Improved and unimproved land can be purchased here, either direct from the owners or through any of the local land brokers.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Hudson's Bay Company have several thousands of acres of unimproved land for sale, ranging in price from $17.00 to $25.00 per acre. Well improved farms can be purchased at from $25.00 to $40.00 per acre.

We need more settlers for our farm lands. The district is large and offers an unequalled opportunity.

The Secretary of the Board of Trade will be pleased to furnish you with further information regarding this district. For further information write—

It is about 109 miles south of Calgary, to which there is an excellent motor trail. It is about 32 miles west of Lethbridge. There is an excellent motor route to Lethbridge. It is 50 miles from the Montana border. Macleod is on the main line of the projected Motor road from Montana to Banff. About 50 miles to the southwest is Waterton Park, now being developed by the Government for a summer resort and which is one of the most beautiful summer resorts in Canada. At present the Government has launched an irrigation scheme to include the lands north and south of Macleod. The projected line of the C.N.R. is graded from Macleod south about 30 miles. The Town's fuel consists of natural gas piped from the gas wells at Bow Island. It has an up-to-date filtration plant, splendid electric light and water system, municipally owned. MECHECHE MUNICIPAL DIST.

No. 277. 600 resident farmers, W. S. Turner sec.-treas., Munson.

Medicine Hat

situated on the banks of the South Saskatchewan River, midway between Winnipeg and Vancouver, and 176 miles southeast of Calgary. A divisional point on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway and shortly to be served from the north by the Canadian National Railway.

The city that Kipling called "The town that was born lucky," for in the city of Medicine Hat and around it lie the greatest fields of natural gas known to the world. The twenty-two wells drilled to date amply supply the demands of the present day, the rock pressure of 480 lbs. having been maintained for over a period of fifteen years, proving beyond any question of a doubt the immensity and stability of the field. On the coldest day of winter the average pressure on all wells has not fallen below 350 lbs. The city, therefore, has the distinct advantage of being in the enviable position of having cheap fuel to offer.

The public utilities, consisting of gas, water, light and electric power, are all municipally owned and are on a paying basis. The administration of the civic departments for these utilities is in the hands of competent officials who have constantly before them the best interests of the consumer, in keeping with the conservation and use of the utilities, to the satisfaction of all concerned. An efficient service is thereby assured.

Natural gas for domestic purposes and generating power at a very low cost, places the city in possession of a valuable and desirable gift of nature, which is the principal factor in making possible the establishment of Western Canada's most important manufacturing centre in the city of Medicine Hat, where there are already over twenty industries, with a monthly payroll of slightly over $145,000, producing a variety of marketable articles. Six miles of industrial railway spurs afford good loading facilities.

Gas is furnished to residents for fuel and lighting at twenty cents per thousand cubic feet and to manufacturers for industrial purposes at five cents. No other fuel is used in Medicine Hat; the smoke nuisance, caused by the use of coal and wood, is unknown. The city streets are exclusively lighted with gas and many householders also use it for lighting purposes, though both gas and electricity are frequently installed. The amount of gas consumed for the year 1918-19 is as follows:—

	Cu. Ft.
Industrial consumption	685,012,000
Domestic consumption	1,874,646,000
Total	2,559,658,000

Medicine Hat has a never-ending supply of good water. The South Saskatchewan River is tapped at a point three miles above the city where the power plant is situated. The plant, in which the New York

Jewell Filtration System is used, is thoroughly up to date, has a capacity of 8,000,000 gals. per 24 hours and is capable of supplying a population of from 30,000 to 40,000 people. Water for domestic purposes is sold on the basis of number of rooms in dwelling, the cost of supplying a six-roomed house being $1.81 per month, which includes lawn and garden service. The rate to manufacturers is 11c per thousand gallons.

In addition to natural gas for lighting and power purposes the city is in a position to supply electricity to the private consumer at 8c per k.w. hr. and electric power to manufacturers at from $18.00 per h.p. up, figuring on a fifteen-minute peak load basis, according to the size of the load and when required.

There are several fine parks within the residential section and many of the streets and dwelling lots are well treed, as an evidence of the interest that has been taken by the citizens in the beautification of the city. Visitors invariably express surprise and pleasure at the large number of shade trees they find here. Some years ago a policy was adopted by the city for tree planting which has been consistently carried out during the past number of years. The city owns its own nurseries and gives being ten splendidly-equipped schools in the city.

The banking institutions are well represented by six banks.

There are ten wholesale houses located in the city, representing the following lines:—Groceries, fruit and produce, hardware, farm implements, and tobaccos, with a trade territory of over 1,500,000 people.

Medicine Hat is the greatest milling centre in Western Canada; 5,000,000 bushels of grain being annually milled by our three mills.

The following tabulated form sets forth the amount of capital actually invested in plants located in this city, also their monthly tonnage, monthly payrolls, and number of employees. All of these plants use natural gas.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to visit our industries.
Population 13,000.

several thousand trees away each year to the citizens for the beautification of their homes.

Generally speaking the winters are mild and the growing season is actually longer than in any other section of the prairie provinces. As to climate, we are situated geographically two hundred and fifty miles south of the city of Calgary. Thus germination sets in earlier and growth of vegetation is more advanced than in other portions of this Western country.

The educational welfare of the children is well provided for, there

a P.O. and station on C.N.R. Edmonton-Winnipeg line, in Vegreville Prov.
Elec. Div., 59 miles east of Edmonton, and 14 miles west of Vegreville, in the centre of a very rich mixed farming district. It is conceded to be one of the best business towns east of the City of Edmonton on this line. It has five elevators capable of holding 325,000 bushels of grain. Notwithstanding this fact, these elevators are taxed to their utmost capacity. There is a splendid crop this year, and the elevators expect to ship over a million and a-half bushels of grain.

The farmers, with a keen eye to business, prefer to market their grain where they will get the best value for their money, hence Mundare's reputation for bargains attracts the farmers from the vast hinterland to the north.
There is a splendid flour mill which is kept busy all the year. Mundare boasts two banks, the Merchants and the Standard, with large staffs to handle the business. Mundare is par-particularly proud of its hotel accommodation; the hotel under new management, has been recently renovated, and is now one of the most up-to-date hostels in the Province of Alberta.

The educational requirements are amply provided for by two large schools and a very efficient staff of public and high school teachers. There is a splendid hall which caters to the social wants of the community. There are three big churches. The town keeps long stretches of sidewalks, both concrete and wooden, in good repair. It has also ample fire protection.

The soil around the town is a rich black loam, and gives a magnificent yield. The main crops grown are wheat, oats and barley, but the district lends itself particularly to mixed farming. The district around Mundare is famous for its big yields of grain; wheat yielding as high as 58 bushels per acre, and oats often over 100 bushels per acre.

A few farms of wild land can yet be had for about $20 per acre, but cultivated farms with good buildings are selling as high as $75 per acre. The cheques paid for cattle and hogs shipped during the year, average over $10,000 per week.

Mundare has numerous stores, two lumber yards, two garages and three blacksmith shops, all of which are doing a good business. The majority of the people are of Ukrainian descent. They are industrious, hard-working people who appreciate the opportunities afforded them of becoming independent in Alberta. Population 375.

NANTON

a P.O. and incorporated town on C.P. R. Calgary-Macleod line, and on the Calgary-Edmonton-Macleod-Banff automobile road, 58 miles south of Calgary, 51 miles north of Macleod and 27 miles west of Vulcan. Has C.P.R. agent and telegraph, Dom. Express and Alberta Govt. telephone, municipally owned electric light plant, natural gas for cooking and heating at 35 cents per thousand.

Nanton is one of the old and well-established towns of Southern Alberta, and is surrounded by one of the best grain-growing, mixed farming and stock-raising districts in the Province. As high as 65 bushels of wheat, and 125 bushels of oats to the acre have been threshed in the district, while a conservative yearly average of wheat is from 30 to 40 bushels to the acre, and oats will average from 60 to 70 bushels. In 1916 over 1,500,000 bushels of grain was shipped from Nanton.

Nanton has five churches, a consolidated school with seven teachers, District Court, City hall and fire department, a moving picture theatre and six grain elevators. The Imperial Oil Ltd. is prospecting for oil about 35 miles west of Nanton and are drilling two wells at this time.

Nanton as a town, is in exceptionally fine condition, no debentures or interest being overdue, and the city has a nice balance to its credit in the bank. There is an exceptional opening for a flour mill. Improved farmland can be purchased at from $10 to $75 per acre. Population between 100 and 800.

tion, not the transient residents of pioneer days. The growth of the town is gradual and stable and the people are progressive. Owing to its geographical position, its transportation facilities and its natural wealth, Peace River is bound to be the centre of the great development to take place in the Great Peace River District.

The Public School is a four-roomed one and High School work is taught up to Grade Eleven.

The Central Dominion Lands Office for the P.R. district is located here and the business is increasing so that the staff has been increased to eight this past year. During the month of June, 1919, the number of homestead entries was 115 while 72 applications for soldiers' settlement were accepted. In a period of twelve months the number of applications for oil leases was 905, totalling approximately $45,000 in revenue.

The Peace River Board of Trade is an energetic body of business men and is assisting in every possible way to aid the prospective settler and to build up the country tributary to the town.

Excellent farming land extends from the west side of the river right through to Dunvegan, the Sixth Meridian being located midway. The chief centres of settlement in this part are: West Peace River, Shaftesbury, Bear Lake, Paul's Corners, and Griffin Creek. North of West Peace River and Bear Lake there is good land open for settlement as far as Whitemud river. A wagon road extends farther north to Battle or Notikewin river. There is excellent prairie land here, surrounded by fairly heavy timber. Practically no land has been taken up yet in this part. During the season of navigation the Battle prairies can be easily reached by steamer. A wagon road leads from the steamboat landing near the mouth of the river into the heart of the prairie, a distance of 25 to 30 miles. Supplies are available at the trading post at the landing. The land surrounding the town of Peace River, on the same side of the river, is rough and broken by the junction of the Smoky and the Hart rivers with the Peace. There is, however, much good grazing land in numerous valleys and ravines. On the plateau above the valleys the soil is good but mostly wooded, and has some muskeg and marsh.

The Peace River oil field has become known and looked to by prospectors in every part of North America. The pioneer drillers have had an uphill fight to finance and support operations during the past financial crisis but the future is very bright and the prospects of proving the field are looking brighter every day. The men engaged in the drilling operations have implicit faith in the wealth of the field and the time is not far distant when the Peace River oil field will be the mecca of oil men all over America.

The Peace River valley is very rich in natural mineral deposits awaiting development and are attracting capitalists from all parts of Canada and the United States.

The Peace River Development Corporation boasts one of the finest river steamers in Canada, the "D. A. Thomas." The amount of river traffic and river tourist travel is increasing yearly and is adequately handled by the above named Company. The river is navigated for about 300 miles each way from Peace River, the centre of navigation and the railway terminus. Many ranchers are going up stream into the rich grazing land in the Peace River Block and are adequately served during the navigation season by the excellent river service. Down stream the settlements of Battle River and Fort Vermilion have a natural outlet by the river and hundreds of tons of freight are transported each year to supply the pioneer explorers and traders who go even beyond the Arctic circle and penetrate the land of the midnight sun.

Besides this larger steamer two smaller steamers, the "Northland Call" and the "Pine Pass," ply regularly up and down stream during the navigation season.

The building of the large steel railway bridge over the Peace River at the town has opened the gate to the development of vast areas to the north and west. In the course of a year or two the railway will undoubtedly be extended to serve the already thickly settled districts from Peace River to Dunvegan, while the vast unsettled area on the west side of the river from Peace River to the Battle River settlement will soon be invaded by the homeseekers and pioneers and the town will be the chief distributing point of a territory larger than that to-day served by either of the larger centres, Edmonton or Calgary.

PINCHER CREEK

ALBERTA

The town has a large four-room public school, also separate school, and the high school taking up grades nine to twelve, in the upper storey of the Municipal Building. The electric light plant is owned and operated by the town, night service being supplied to the residents at cost. There is a gravity water system in the town owned by a private company which gives an abundant supply of first-class water for domestic use, and a fair pressure for fire protection. This system has been in operation since 1906.

All classes of business are represented in the town. There are two large garages fully equipped, and a first-class machine shop that can handle almost any class of repair work. There is a large concert and dance hall, and an opera house with a seating capacity of 350, in which moving pictures are shown four nights a week, while traveling troupes pay frequent visits.

The park, consisting of twenty acres, is owned by the town, and is used for all classes of athletics, also horse racing; there is a curling rink with two curling sheets, and a large open air hockey rink; the golf links also adjoin the town on the west.

The Imperial Oil Ltd. are drilling for oil 17 miles south of Pincher Creek with every prospect of being successful.

The town boasts two first-class hotels which cater to the wants and wishes of the traveler, tourist and prospective settler, as well as to the ever-increasing flow of hunters and fishermen. Buses from the hotels meet all trains.

The municipal sec-treas. will gladly furnish any desired information to prospective tourists or settlers.

The Provincial Hospital for the In-sane is situated about two miles from the town, and employs a staff of about 150 men and women. An idea of the potential wealth of the town and district can be obtained from statistics which have been taken from a reliable source. During the year 1919, there were about 260,000 bushels of wheat; 300,000 bushels of oats; 100,000 bushels of barley, and a small amount of rye shipped from this district. In addition to these, there was considerable grain kept by the farmers and used for feeding hogs and cattle. During the same year there was in the neighborhood of $300,000.00 worth of hogs; $250,000.00 worth of cattle, and $25,000.00 worth of sheep marketed. The soil in this neighborhood is chocolate loam with a clay sub-soil and mod-erately wooded with poplar and balm. Unimproved land may be purchased as low as $15 per acre, and improved land as high as $75 per acre.

the Midway City, has an area of 1,000 acres and a population of 3,000 in and adjoining the corporate limits. It is on the Calgary and Edmonton branch of the C.P.R. about half way between these two cities. It is also the terminus of the Alberta Central branch of the C.P.R. and Red Deer is also connected with the Brazeau branch of the C.N.R. Has C.P.R. Agt., C.P.R. Telegraph, Alberta Govt. Telephones and Dominion Express offices.

Being the largest town between Calgary and Edmonton, with three railway lines serving the district, it is the natural wholesale distributing point for Central Alberta. Two wholesale grocers have warehouses here and there are good openings for other wholesale lines such as hardware, boots and shoes, etc. The Imperial Oil Co. have recently erected two 100,000-gallon oil tanks and it is likely that the Provincial Govt. Telephone Dept. will establish their main storage yards for Central Alberta here. A brick manufacturing plant and a tent and mattress factory are in operation, and there is a large lumber mill located here, which is not at present operating.

Red Deer is the centre of the mixed farming and dairying part of Alberta, many creameries and cheese factories operating in the district, and some of the best dairy herds in Canada are owned near here. This district being wooded and with a deep clay sub-soil produces good crops of hay and grain year after year without failure, even when other parts of the West suffer from drought. Wild lands sell for $10. to $25. per acre, and improved farms from $25. to $75. per acre.

Red Deer is admitted to be the most beautiful residential town in Alberta, having all modern conveniences, electric light and power, waterworks, sewers, cement walks, boulevards, a 40-bed municipal hospital, Roman Catholic Convent with about 100 pupils, three public and one high school, the Soldiers' Mental Hospital with over 100 patients, and the principal training farm for returned soldiers who wish to take up land under the soldiers' settlement plan. Large exhibition grounds and buildings are owned by the city and 80 acres of natural parks. Within a short distance are two fine summer resorts—Sylvan Lake, 14 miles west, and Pine Lake, 25 miles east. Good shooting and fishing is obtainable close to town and all branches of sport are represented—golf, tennis, football and baseball in summer, and curling, hockey and skating in winter. Red Deer has commission government and with all its modern conveniences, its debenture debt is comparatively low, and the taxes are lower than in any town of similar size in Western Canada, having the same conveniences. It is a desirable place to live in, with its natural beauties, improvements and fine educational facilities and attracts many families as residents. It will make steady growth and remain the best town in Alberta.

a divisional point on the E.D. & B.C. Ry., 357 miles northwest of Edmonton and 44 miles north of Grande Prairie, in Peace River Prov. Elec. Div. Has Govt. telegraph and C.C. Express. It is the geographical and business centre of the whole of the territory which is usually referred to as the Peace River Country. The town has hotels, banks, churches, curling rink, dramatic hall, two fraternal societies, a real live Board of Trade, splendid business houses which would do credit to towns of much larger population. The town is the trading centre of the entire Peace River District, which lies to the west to a distance of 100 miles, and which includes that splendid portion of British Columbia known as the Pouce Coupe District, and to the north a distance of 50 miles, which includes the Waterhole, Friedensdal, Vanren and Bluesky districts. The above named districts are the great grain growing districts of the Peace River country and the grain from these districts is marketed at Spirit River, being hauled to that point during the sleighing season. The town is picturesquely situated, overlooking a vast parky valley with its open stretches of grain fields intermixed with bluffs of poplar. The new-comer is surprised to find the extraordinary development which has occurred in the short period that has elapsed since the advent of the railway in the year 1916. This point is the end of steel of the Edmonton, Dunvegan & B.C. Railway, and the transfer point for the branch line of railway to the Grande Prairie district, and in due time will no doubt be a railway junction point of importance.

The soil, which is uniform over the whole district, is a chocolate vegetable loam, ten inches deep with a clay subsoil, and the usual crops are oats, wheat, barley and some flax. The district is most suitable to mixed farming as there is a luxuriant growth of grasses and the peavine and wild vetch are a revelation to the uninformed. The district is noted, however, for its excellent quality of seed oats, and the wheat generally shows an excellent grade. Some extraordinary heavy yields of grain are recorded. Oats yield generally from 70 to 100 bushels per acre, and a test of one field of oats in 1918 showed 130 bushels to the measured acre. The demand for seed oats from the Prairie Provinces is more than the supply and the result is that the Spirit River farmer gets a high price for his produce. The pioneer settlers were of a very high quality and the result may be seen in the splendid farms, due to a considerable extent to the fine example of husbandry set by the early settlers. Several sawmills are in operation in the district, and a very fine quality of lumber is produced, most of which is taken by the settlers of the district. Numerous seams of coal are known to exist within a reasonable distance, but this industry has not yet been opened up as capital has not investigated the possibilities. The supply of wood for fuel, however, is quite sufficient to meet the requirements of the district for some time, and coal is shipped in from Edmonton. Population of Spirit River 350, and of the vicinity, 1,000.

Stettler

a P.O. and railroad centre on the C.P.R. and C.N.R., 153 miles north-east of Calgary, 112 miles south-east of Edmonton, 50 miles east of Lacombe and 60 miles west of Coronation. C.P.R. and G.N.W. telegraph, Govt. telephones, Dom. and C.N. Express.

Stettler is a town of about 2,000 population, situated on the Lacombe-Coronation branch of the C.P.R., and on the Calgary-Edmonton branch of the C.N.R. Also the Brézau branch of the C.N.R. branches out from here, and the Hanna-Stettler branch of the C.N.R. is an assured line that will be built within the next year or two.

It is situated in one of the best districts for mixed farming in the province, having the distinction of never having had a crop failure, nor has it ever been short of feed for cattle. To the east is the bald prairie, while in all other directions the land is more or less scrubby. To the north is the famous Buffalo District. Near the lake it becomes hilly, making splendid protection for the stock, while the hills raise splendid crops. This district never has serious hail storms, and is not subject to frosts. During the past few years the farmers and ranchers have made fortunes, and have erected splendid homes with all modern conveniences.

The sheep industry is in its infancy, but has proved a success, and will increase. Cattle run out all winter without shelter and do well. The Edmonton City Dairy has a branch here, and takes care of all the cream, while the Alberta Produce Co. have a branch that handles all available eggs. The Stettler Meat Co. has a packing plant in connection, thereby taking care of all meat so that farmers have a ready market for all of their products.

With the two railways running in here on whose tracks there are three elevators, and two loading platforms, there is never a scarcity of cars, which is an important item to the farmer.

The business men of the town are recognized for their progressiveness. The town has passed through the past strenuous years in a very creditable manner, steadily growing and yearly making substantial improvements. It has municipal electric lights, waterworks, and sewage is being provided for. It has a splendid fire system, and a good fire brigade.

Owing to its being the largest town within a radius of 50 miles, and also that it has so many branches of railways, it is an established centre for the district, and will consequently continue to grow, and maintain its position, as the recognized business centre for this district.

Has 5 churches, high school, town hall, fire hall, hospital, agricultural fair grounds and race track. Town owns electric light and water systems. There are several coal mines in vicinity, also good brick clay, sand and gravel. Mixed farming and stock-raising. Summer resort at Buffalo and 4 churches. One of its greatest assets is its plentiful and cheap fuel supply. There are three coal mines operating, two being within one mile of the G.T.P. Depot, which line has spur tracks to each of the mines. In the winter of 1919-20, from 25 to 30 cars of coal were shipped daily. In the year 1917 the Tofield Mines ranked fifth in production in the Province. Mining operations continue the year round. Agriculturally, Tofield takes second place to none. Tofield draws business from an area extending about 12 miles north, 8 miles east, 8 miles south and 10 miles west. In this area there are probably 400 farmers, farming anywhere from a quarter to 2 sections. Land values range from $25 to $50 per acre. Practically all are engaged in mixed farming.

town, population 1,700; seventy-three miles east of Edmonton on the main line of the Canadian National Railway. Vegreville is the northern terminus of the Vegreville-Calgary branch of the Canadian National and is an important distributing centre for the Vermillion Valley district, the Vermillion River being at the eastern outskirts of the town. A branch line of the Canadian Pacific Railway is eventually to be built to the town and will run in a northwesterly direction therefrom.

The town has the usual complement of stores and supply houses of various kinds; branches of the Merchants Bank of Canada and the Canadian Bank of Commerce; public, high and separate schools; convent, boarding school, two hospitals, four churches, two hotels, creamery, seven elevators, four stock yards, four lumber yards, sash and door factory, machine shops, garages, newspaper, etc.

The electric light and power system is municipally owned and there is a complete water and sewage system. Cement walks are to be constructed on the principal business streets during the current year. The town is a live centre doing business for a very extensive district.

Among the public and semi-public work to be undertaken during the near future is a roundhouse for the Canadian National Railways, a new high school building, an additional grain elevator which will make the elevator capacity of the town approximately 300,000 bushels, a new electric light and power house.

The district adjacent to and for a radius of 50 miles from the town is considered to be one of the best in Central Alberta, being particularly adapted for mixed farming.

It was first settled in the early nineties by a number of French-Canadian farmers from Quebec and Kansas. These formed the nucleus of a community which centered on the town known as "Old Vegreville." In 1905 the construction of the Canadian Northern Railway within four miles of the old town caused its abandonment and the business places removed to the site on the railway. From 1905 until the present the progress of the town and district has been uninterrupted. The original settlers have been followed by farmers from Eastern Canada, the United States and Great Britain, while to the north and west of the town there is an extensive settlement of Ukrainians. The land is of a rolling nature, and is well watered. Bluffs of popular, willow and spruce lend a pleasing diversity to the appearance of the district. Irrigation is not necessary as the rainfall is ample from year to year, to insure good crops. Farming and ranching are the main industries of the district.

Vermilion

The town of Vermilion is the first divisional point on the main transcontinental line of the Canadian National Railway east of Edmonton.
It is 698 miles west of Winnipeg and 120 east of Edmonton. It has a population of about 1,300 and is beautifully situated on the banks of the Vermilion River, a pretty little stream winding through the Ver-million valley. The progress of the town has been rapid yet substantial, and its future is unquestioned. It is acknowledged to be one of the prettiest towns in Western Canada, and has conditions which make it an ideal town in which to live. It provides a splendid local market for the country districts tributary to it, and is a distributing centre for a number of the leading wholesale houses in the West, including many of the larger implement companies. As the mercantile and business centre of a large populous and progressive farming district, the town of Vermilion unquestionably has splendid prospects.

Vermilion has a municipally-owned electric light and power plant (24-hour service), sidewalks, local and rural telephone systems, fire hall and fire apparatus, $40,000 public school building, Government Demonstration Farm and School of Agriculture; a site has been purchased for the erection of a Court House and also for a Dominion public building to be erected at an estimated cost of $50,000;

it has departmental stores, several general stores, hardware stores, implement dealers; furniture stores, harness and tinsmith's shops, drug stores, fruit and confectionery stores, bakeries, blacksmith and machine shops, meat markets, garages, picture theatre, flour and grist mills, creamery, grain elevators, general wholesale, doctors, dentists, lawyers, lumber yards, livery barns, hotels, restaurants, five churches (Anglican, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian and Roman Catholic), two banks (the Canadian Bank of Commerce and Royal Bank of Canada), Dominion Land Office, customs house and immigration hall; it is the judicial seat for the district, has two newspapers, a detachment of the Provincial Police, a three-thousand dollar skating and curling rink; football, cricket, hockey, tennis, baseball and rifle clubs. The leading secret orders are represented.
The town also has a Soldiers' Memorial Hall and a large and well-equipped Municipal Hospital.

The district of Vermilion has a splendid reputation for stock-raising and dairy farming; the increase in dairying the past few years has been most marked, and the industry is rapidly developing into a strong and highly profitable farm pursuit. The crop returns are most satisfactory, the yield per acre being exceptionally good. The district is essentially best adapted to mixed farming. The Secretary of the Board of Trade will be pleased to give any information about the town or district.

a city on the Calgary and Edmonton line of the C.P.R., 42 miles south of the city of Edmonton, and 152 miles north of Calgary. The Winnipeg to Edmonton main line of the C.P.R. also runs through the city. C.P.R. agt., C.P.R. tels., Govt. tels., Dom. express. It is the judicial centre of the Wetaskiwin Judicial District, and has a very fine court house. It has two large public schools and one of the most up-to-date high schools in the province. It has a Customs Office and a Dominion Lands Office. The city owns its electric light and water system, both of which are giving very efficient service. Power is generated by natural gas from wells on city property, adjoining the plant. It is the centre of a prosperous agricultural district, the soil, which is very fertile, being of a rich black loam from two to three feet deep with clay subsoil. All the smaller grains yield abundantly, and a crop failure is unknown. Mixed farming is carried on extensively in all parts of the district. Raw land can be purchased for $25 per acre and improved land from $35 to $75 per acre. Free homesteads are still available in the western portion of the district. Population, 2,500.

AREA OF ALBERTA

Some interesting figures, compiled by J. H. Lamb, deputy minister of municipal affairs for the province, show that the province has an area of 255,288 square miles, or an acreage of 163,382,400 acres, or about 300 acres for every man, woman and child in the province. Of this 85,147,816 acres were surveyed up to 1920. That part of the province is analysed by the Dominion authorities into the following parts: Timber license area, 1,353,100 acres; grazing leases, 2,902,400 acres; forest reserve and parks, 16,754,700 acres; reserve for forestry purposes, 1,677,500 acres; road allowances, 1,276,500 acres; water-covered lands, 2,285,000 acres, or a total of 26,249,250 acres taken up in this manner and leaving a net total of 58,898,566 acres for settlement.

Of the 58,898,566 acres that are left for settlement, the Hudsons Bay Co., the Irrigation Companies and railway companies control 16,192,864 acres. There are 27,610,416 acres included in the municipal districts and taxed by them; while 8,950,048 acres are taxed by the department of municipal affairs, being in the unorganized districts. This makes a total of 36,560,464 acres, and the Dominion government accounts for 15,000,000 acres held for homesteading. So when it can be estimated just what acreage is included in the cities, towns and village sites, a fair deduction can be made as to just what amount is actually held by the Hudsons Bay Co., the irrigation companies and the railway companies in the entire province.
